MOTHER, TWO TOTS DIE IN FIRE

INAUGURAL VISITORS POURING INTO CAPITAL

50,000 WILL WITNESS QUADRENNIAL DRAMA OF GOVERNMENTAL CHANGES

Note of Concern is Struck by Weather Bureau's Latest Forecast, "Cloudy and Cold," When Calvin Coolidge and Gen. Charles G. Dawes Pass Down Pennsylvania Avenue.

RAINY FORENOON WOULD PUT SEVERE DAMPER ON WASHINGTON PROGRAM

White House Party is Complete With Arrival of Col. John C. Coolidge Who Will Have Been One of Few Americans to Have Witnessed His Son's Formal Inauguration.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Thousands of inaugural visitors poured into the national capital today to witness the quadrennial drama of a change in administrations tomorrow.

Led by nearly a score of state governors and executives, the visitors came in by train and by auto, filling the hotels to capacity. By tomorrow, when Calvin Coolidge and General Charles G. Dawes pass down Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the capitol, there will be upward of 50,000 people thronging the plaza and the wooden stands along the line of march, according to estimates made today by inaugural officials.

Save for the transactions of routine business by clerks and secretaries, little government activity was carried on in the various departments today. Party leaders from all parts of the country made the rounds, calling on cabinet officers. There were impromptu receptions everywhere. At the capitol itself, the visitors were treated to the spectacle of congress in its death throes with all the traditional confusion and chaos that go with a dying session.

Woman Governor Arrives.

Today's milling throng differed somewhat from inaugural crowds in other years in that the hordes of jobseekers that descend on the capital every four years in search of berths, were absent, for President Coolidge is carrying on with largely the same personnel that has served him in recent months and what vacancies there have been have been filled.

The White House inaugural party was completed today with the arrival of Col. John C. Coolidge, the President's father, who will have been one of the few Americans to have witnessed his son's being formally inaugurated. Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Lamira Goodhue, of Northampton, Mass., already is at the mansion, and John Coolidge, the president's son, arrived from college today to complete the family gathering.

The in-coming governors were headed this morning by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, governor of Wyoming. Others scheduled to arrive during the day and early tomorrow morning were the governors of New Hampshire, Con-

RADIO PLANS FOR INAUGURAL

President's Address Will be Heard by 20,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Twenty million Americans will hear ceremonies attending the inaguration of Calvin Coolidge as thirtieth president of the United States tomorrow.

By means of the greatest radio hookup ever attempted, the words of President Coolidge, as he sounds the keynote of his administration in his inaugural address, will be carried to the farthest corners of the land.

Details of the gigantic station inter-connection project were completed today by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. And the radio corporation of America.

Hook-Up From "WEAF"

The Telephone Corporation, with "WEAF" of New York, as the key station, will span the United States, making possible re-broadcast of the inauguration so that the occasion be-

Situation Slips Beyond Control of Leaders as Conflicting Factions Ignore All Appeals for Unity of Action.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—With adjournment 24 hours away, the dying sixty-eighth congress staggered through a legislative mire today, hopelessly deadlocked by warring factions.

A free-for-all battle was staged in the senate where administration leaders abandoned their program and stood aside while a dozen factions fought to force enactment of their pet measures. The house meanwhile assumed the role of a spectator, patiently marking time in the faint hope that some legislation might emerge from the senatorial jam.

The situation slipped beyond control of both Republican and Democratic leaders and the conflicting factions ignored all appeals for unity of action. A dozen filibusters were threatened by groups which refused to yield a legislative inch to any of the opposing cliques. As a result, the jam was such that a single senator held the power to block all legislation by merely holding the floor to the exclusion of all business.

Appropriation Bill At Stake.

Administration leaders centered on a single task, that of finally enacting the second deficiency appropriation bill, which was sent back to conference because the house eliminated $7,980,000 appropriation for new federal buildings. If this measure can be passed over the jam, the administration will have removed the last possible obstacle to prompt adjournment of Congress tomorrow noon. If it fails, the loss of this appropriation may force the calling of a special session although the president might meet the deficiency by the transfer of other government funds.

The legislative jam hit farmers, bankers, business men, government

Plan Discussed at Meeting of County Sportsmen.

The proposed Guilford dam state park project for Columbiana county, already approved by the house finance committee, probably will come up for a vote in the house of representatives this week, State Representative Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester told a committee of the Columbiana County and Game Protective association during a week-end visit, it was announced today.

A report of this committee, consisting of C. W. Zimmerman and John L. King of Salem, was given at a meeting of the county association in the court house at Lisbon last evening. Emmons, with the two Salem men, visited the site of the proposed park last Saturday, when the representative gave assurance that the bill would be approved at this session of the legislature.

Frightened Mother Throws Boy From Third Floor Window.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Mrs. Elsie Carroll, 33, her daughter, Ruth, 6, and her son, John, 8, were burned to death and a dozen persons injured, two of them seriously, in a fire which destroyed a five-story brick tenement in Brooklyn today.

A six-year-old boy, Louis Labruyere, was thrown from a third floor window by his mother who became panic-stricken. The child sustained a broken arm and leg.

Six firemen and a policeman were overcome by smoke.

Men, women and children in the burning building were carried down fire escapes and across adjoining roofs to safety. Families in nearby buildings were forced into the wintry cold by the rapid spread of the flames, which were confined to the tenement, however.

BOOST REWARD IN GLENN CASE

Stepfather Offers $100 for Recovery of Missing Girl.

Ralph Branson, step-father of 17-year-old Margaret Glenn, who mysteriously disappeared last Tuesday evening, today, increased the $50 reward, offered for information leading to the recovery of the girl, dead or alive, to $100.

Police, who conducted a search for the girl, express the belief that, if she is alive, she is not in East Liverpool. Members of the missing girl's family refuse to accept the suicide or murder theory, but believe that the girl-bride was kidnaped and is being held a prisoner.

Members and friends of the Second Baptist church, with which the missing girl and her parents are affiliated adopted the following resolution at the Sunday night service as an expression of sympathy:

"Be it resolved that we, the officers members and friends of the Second Baptist church do most sincerely deplore the disappearance and mystery surrounding the absence or loss of Margaret Glenn.

"Be it further resolved in case the parents decide to make an investigation by legal process, that we do hereby pledge our honor to their support, both financially and otherwise, as far as it be within our power to do so. A prayer in petition to the Almighty in their behalf is also offered as our panacea in their hour of inexpressible agony and suspense."

ROBBER FLEES FROM OHIO PRISON; LIBERTY LASTS ONLY FEW MINUTES

Burton Carter, Greenville, Captured by Columbus Carpenter After he Smashes Through Gates With Truck.

COLUMBUS, March 3. — Smashing through the Spring street gates with a motor truck, Burton Carter, Greenville, serving a 25-year sentence for robbery, escaped from the penitentiary this morning. His liberty lasted only a few minutes. He was captured by C. F. Bittac, a local carpenter, who took him back into the big prison. Bittac received a $50 reward for his services.

Carter was working in the woolen mills inside the prison walls. Noting a truck nearby, he jumped into it and ran it through the closed gates while prison guards fired at him. None of the bullets hit Carter.

Leaping out of the truck, Carter made a dash for freedom, with prison officials giving chase. Attracted by the cries of the pursuers, Bittac, who was paassing the penitentiary, joined the chase and unarmed caught Carter near the railroad tracks, a short distance from the big prison.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT DENIES U. S. LOSSES IN BOGUS LIBERTY BONDS

Mellon's Statement, to be Given to President, Flatly Contradicts Charges Made by Congressional Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Vigorous denial that the government has lost any appreciable sum by the cashing of Liberty and other bonds, fraudulently issued in duplicate, was made at the Treasury department today. The Treasury's denial was in flat contradiction to sensational charges contained in the official report of a congressional investigating committee, which late yesterday declared there had been widespread duplication of government bonds, and falsification of records in the Treasury to conceal the speculations.

While the congressional report did not estimate the sum supposed to have been lost by the government, committee members said it might range from $5,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon prepared a formal letter to President Coolidge today, refuting the charges of the investigating committee of congress. It will be made public later.

Report is Sensation.

Instead of losses aggregating millions of dollars, as charged by the congressional committee, the treasury said that there had been only minor duplicates and loss in the handling of Liberty loan issues, which approximated $20,000,000 and total loss to the government would be slightly in

Fir Wreaths, Draped in Black, Decorate Berlin.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY

Body Will be Taken to Heidelberg on Wednesday.

BERLIN, Mar. 3—Germany prepared today to bid a dignified farewell to her first President at the formal funeral ceremonies here tomorrow.

The streets through which the cortege of Friedrich Ebert will pass enroute from the palace were decorated with fir wreaths draped in black. Half a dozen 50-foot flagpoles, flying the Republican colors, have been erected in front of the station from which the body will be taken to Heidelberg, the famous old university town, where President Ebert will be laid to rest among the scenes of his boyhood.

A school holiday has been ordered in Berlin for Thursday morning. German trade unions have issued a manifesto, arranging for a 15-minute pause in all work at the hour of the interment ceremony in Heidelberg tomorrow.

Wreaths From Dignitaries.

Among the innumerable wreaths from Monarchs, presidents and dignitaries of foreign countries was a big fir wreath entwined with lilacs from the American embassy. The office of S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, sent a lilac wreath with roses.

Enemies of the dead president continued their attacks as the funeral plans went forward.

Rote Fahne, "The Red Flag" organ of the German Communists, under the headline, "Workers and Presidential Elections," assailed Ebert as "The Agent of Monarchists and the White Generals Who Saved Capitalist Germany From Bolshevism.

space has been secured in one of the local potteries.

Plans for rebuilding have not been completed by the owners of the three sites pending a settlement from the insurance companies. Work of clearing the ground, however, is progressing under the direction of Peter Milliron, local contractor. Six weeks or more will be required to remove the debris. As a precautionary move to protect pedestrians, owners of the Wasbutzky building have fenced off the sidewalk in front of the ruins of their structure.

Volunteer Firemen Paid

D. J. Connor and T. Hayes White, state fire marshals, were in the city today, resuming their probe of the blaze. Insurance adjusters expect to complete their work within the next few days.

Volunteers, who assisted East Liverpool fire fighters and the Chester volunteer department in combating the blaze, have been paid for their services, Fire Chief Bryan declared today. Approximately 25 volunteers, who aided in manning the hose while the fire was at its height and worked throughout a greater part of Sunday, have been paid $10 each from an emergency fire department fund, it was stated.

The speaker discussed the need of preserving American forests. He declared that millions of acres of waste lands in the United States are idle, whereas they might be used for growing trees to meet the country's future lumber needs.

While Ohio is generally regarded as an agricultural state, the speaker asserted lumber is being used five times faster than it is being grown, and that if all imports of lumber into this state halted there would be sufficient supply to last but six years.

The situation might well be remedied by planting acres upon acres of hillside and waste lands in forests and limiting the lumber production to the trees which reach maturity each year, he declared. Lumber in Europe, he said, is a luxury while in America it is being used for fuel purposes and wasted in other ways.

Various Receptions.

Various receptions and entertainments are being held, a governors ball at the Congressional Country club tonight and an unofficial inaugural ball tomorrow night. President Coolidge will take part in none of these social diversions.

A note of concern was struck today by the weather bureau. On Saturday, the forcaster predicted a fair, sunshiny day, but this morning he was not so sure. The latest forecast is for cloudy, cold weather, with a possibility of rain. A rainy forenoon would put a severe damper on the festivities and decimate the crowds.

mous approval of the house finance committee, appropriates $32,500 with which to purchase 500 acres for the proposed state park site.

Plan Fish Hatchery

As soon as the legislation is enacted it is the plan of the county sportsmen to establish a fish hatchery upon the site. The gap in the dam, which was made many years ago after the proposed Sandy and Beaver canal failed to materialize, will be closed this spring. Approximately one year will be required for the dam to fill and permit its stocking with fish.

The association is arranging for the publication of a descriptive folder, containing views and a history of the proposed canal and the future of the site. This folder is being completed by Lisbon members.

The county association also discussed plans for the annual picnic and appointed a committee consisting of J. S. Lambing, Wellsville, chairman; C. S. Chisolm, Salem, secretary; H. S. Switzer, East Palestine; H. R. Randall, Lisbon; L. H. Whinnery, Guilford, and J. C. Miller, East Liverpool, to set a date and make other plans for the affair.

The East Liverpool-Wellsville contingent will give a smoker, to be followed by refreshments, at their regular meeting in the Fowler building Thursday evening. Sportsmen interested in the proposed state park and fish hatchery are invited to attend.

workers, old soldiers and the common citizen alike.

This lack of favoritism was demonstrated in the death of such legislation as all farm relief measures, the McFadden National Banking act, the omnibus public building bill, the government reorganization and federal retirements acts, the Bursum omnibus pension bill and such sectional measures as the Underwood Muscle Shoals and Cape Cod ship canal bills.

May Enact Two Bills.

There was a possibility that the $43,000,000 Rivers and Harbors bill and the mutilated Crampton Prohibition bill would slip through the jam to final enactment. This concession was made possible because both measures have passed the house and senate and the approval of conference reports will be the last legislative step.

The end will come late tonight when a recess will be taken until 11 o'clock tomorrow when the sixty-eighth congress will die amid the traditional ceremonies in the senate chamber. Shortly thereafter the sixty-ninth congress will come into existence when the senate reconvenes in special session to confirm presidential appointments.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 3.—Vigorous forward movements in prices took place in the early trading today in the railroad, motor and oil stocks. With the market plunged forward as soon these three major groups as leaders as trading was resumed today, many of the active stocks establishing higher price records at the opening.

High priced industrial stocks took their place in the forefront of the advance, American Can selling above 183 and cast iron pipe up 10 points to 241, was only 9 points below its record high.

The major influence behind the buoyant move in the stock market was general relief felt in Wall Street and elsewhere at the approaching close of the short session of congress and the prospect of a long period free from political bickering and the consideration of legislative attacks on business. Buying orders for the principal railroad, motor and oil stocks surged into the market and tranactions in the first hour were very heavy. Uneasiness in the St. Paul situation, as evidenced by the heavy selling of its stocks and bonds at steadily declining prices was the most pronounced unsettling factor in the market.

Buying of the oils was discriminating and only a few stocks were strong enough to show any advance. The list included Simms, Sinclair, Barnsdale, and Central Petroleum, while Cosden, Shell Union and other leaders in last week's rally, hung around the old level.

Both the French Franc and the Italian lire dropped to new low quotations for the current year; sterling exchange also was irregular. May wheat opened nearly 2 cents a bushel higher in the Chicago market and other grains were up fractionally; cotton irregular. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent. Business reports were unchanged but Wall Street rumors linked up a number of prominent industrial corporations with dividend increases or special disbursements to stock holders in the near future.

Advances of 2 to 10 points were recorded in a number of the high priced industrial leaders in this period. General Electric moved up 3 points; cast iron pipe was up 10; American Can touched new high ground above 183. Mack Trucks was up 3; Baldwin up 1½; American Locomotive 1¾.

A movement in the northwest railroads, which have been inactive of late, sent prices up 1 to 2 points. Northern Pacific gained 2 at 71½; Great Northern preferred 1¾ at 70¾; Chicago and Northwestern 1 at 70¾.

excess of $13,000. A few bonds were stolen from the treasury and re-sold to the government, it was admitted, but were in small denominations and represented petty thievery instead of a gigantic robbery as charged by the committee.

The report of the congressional committee caused a genuine sensation at the treasury and throughout government departments. Among other things the majority report alleged:

1—That there has been widespread bond duplication.

2—That the treasury has been evasive and contradictory in attempting to explain the matter.

3—That treasury records have been falsified.

4—That questionable methods have been followed in paying bonds and keeping books.

5—That "substantial losses" to the government have been incurred.

6—That the treasury has been "indifferent" to bond duplication.

7—That the treasury's own records are so conflicting that it is impossible to determine just how much has been lost.

Fire Damages Garage.

A garage belonging to Howard Thomas of Bank street was damaged by fire, starting from a gas stove about 9:40 o'clock last night. The firemen used a line of hose to extinguish the blaze. The loss is estimated at about $100, said to be covered by insurance.

fore the national Capitol virtually will be within earshot of the nation.

Particular attention has been given to the inter-connections in the inauguration marks the beginning of more frequent hook-ups that will place the wide agricultural and industrial regions between the Appalachians and the Rockies within hearing distance of affairs at the national capital and other eastern cities.

The hook-up from "WEAF" follows:

Eastern States: WEEI, Boston; WJAR, Providence; WTIC, Hartford; Conn; WOO, Philadelphia; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WJR, Buffalo; WFBL, Syracuse; WSD., Atlanta, and WCTS, Worcester, Mass.

Middle West: WEAR, Cleveland; WLW, Cincinnati; WWJ, Detroit; WMAQ, Chicago; WDAF, Kansas City; WHO, Des Moines; WCCO, Minneapolis and KLZ, Denver.

Pacific Coast: KSI, Los Angeles; KPO, San Francisco; and KLX, Oakland, Cal.

Broadcasting Starts at Noon.

Broadcasting will start about 12 mid day Wednesday. Six miscrophones will be placed on the speakers' stand from which the address will be made. Two miscrophones will be used by WEAF, two by WRC, and two for the loud speaker connections which will carry the words to the crowds assembled at the capitol.

Graham McNamee, who broadcast the last world series for the Chesapeake and Potomac company, will open the radio inaugural program by a description of the events within the senate chamber when Charles G. Dawes is innaugurated as vice-president.

Over the radio will go a visulization of the scenes about the capital, a description of the crowd, a birdseye view of Washington's inaugural ceremonies and the concert of the United States marine band climaxed by "Hail to the Chief," as President Coolidge approaches the inaugural stand.

After the cheers, of the crowd die away, the radio listeners will hear the words of Chief Justice William Taft as he administers the oath of office to the president.

President Coolidge's address probably will be heard by ten times as many persons as every listened to the voice of a speaker. Other extensive radio inter-connections have not been on the wide scope as that arranged for tomorrow.

BORGLUM SAYS CHARGES ARE 'SMOKE SCREEN'

"Opponents Clouding Their Own Deficiencies," Claim.

WILL FACE COURT

Confederate Memorial Discussed When he Visits Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Mar. 3—"The charges against me are merely a smoke screen created by my opponents to cloud their own dificiencies," Gutzon Borglum, noted New York sculptor, declared upon his arrival here today to fill a speaking date.

"I will appear in Greensboro, N. C., Saturday to answer the charge made against me there," Borglum continued.

Borglum was in high good humor upon his arrival.

Upon reaching the hall in a Cleveland suburb, where he was to make a luncheon address, he was immediately called to the telephone and talked to friends in Boston for about 15 minutes. He said that this had reference to his defense which will be fully shown when the hearing is held in Greensboro next Saturday.

"The smoke screen," Borglum continued, "was created very quickly to prevent execution of my threat that I would have the affairs of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association fully investigated at the next meeting of the board. I was removed before that threat could be carried into effect.

"The fight has just begun, and I am sure that before the last shot is fired, the South will have its memorial, the wastage of the funds subscribed by friends from all parts of the United States will have stopped and the right of an artist to his own ideas will have been judiciously established."

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 3—Hollings N. Randolph, President of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, today caustically replied to Gutzon Borglum's statement in New York that he was dismissed because he had "served notice on the executive committee of the association of his intention to demand an accounting of the committee's stewardship of the memorial's funds."

Randolph asserted that Borglum had created $220,000 in debts during the seven years he was engaged as sculptor in charge of building the memorial at Stone Mountain.

W. D. FULTON, 61, DIES SUDDENLY

COLUMBUS, Mar. 3.—Funeral arrangements were being perfected here today for the late William D. Fulton, Sr., 61, former secretary of state and member of the Ohio legislature, whose sudden death, due to heart disease, occurred at Mt. Clemens, Mich., yesterday.

Fulton, a former resident of Newark, where he served as city solicitor and president of city council, resided during the past several years in Columbus, where he had extensive realty holdings.

At the same time of his death he was on a visit with his wife who had gone to Mt. Clemens because of ill health.

POLICE SEEK MISSING BOY

Wellsville police today had enlisted the aid of authorities throughout the valley in their search for Robert West, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert West, of Main street, near Seventh, who is reported to have disappeared yesterday morning.

Young West, police announced, left a note on the table at his home early yesterday morning prior to his departure, in which he said he was going to leave home.

The note declared that West would probably land first in Steubenville.

Found shortly after West had left the house by his parents, the note was turned over to police. Steubenville authorities failed to locate the lad. As a result local authorities express the opinion that the youth may have used the Steubenville suggestion merely as a ruse.

When he left home young West was attired in a dark cap, grey suit and light shoes.

GET DOG TAGS, COUNTY WARNING

County authorities will be lenient with owners of dogs who have not yet filed applications for tags.

This is the announcement today of Officer J. L. McDevitt, who has been appointed by the auditor's office to assist Wellsville citizens in procuring the tags.

Business this year, Mr. McDevitt asserts, is away below that of last year at this time. It is not reasonable to presume, county authorities say, that the number of dogs has decreased so greatly.

But every opportunity will be extended owners of dogs here to get their tags, despite the fact that they should have been obtained the first of the year. Mr. McDevitt will attend to the tag business in police headquarters in the city hall building.

SERIES OF EARTHQUAKES DUE IN U. S., SCIENTISTS SAY

The earthquake that gave a large part of the United States such a scare is only the first of a series of subterranean disturbances that are gradually pushing up the northeastern section of the country, scientists declare. One of whose who subscribes to this theory is the Rev. F. L. Odenbach, of John Carroll University, Cleveland, who is seen at work in his laborary, where his seismograph recorded the "earthquake chart" shown above. The seismograph, one of the most delicate instruments ever devised, is seen at right. The upper series of waves in the chart was made by the needle which records disturbances of the earth's crust along a north and south line; the lower series shows the record of the east and west action.

DESMO HELD AS MURDER WITNESS

The arrest of Mike Desmo as a material witness in the slaying of Rocco Venzetto here on Sunday, February 22, the imprisonment of Dominick Strathers and Fred Longo in the county jail at Lisbon, on first degree murder charges, and the release of Tony Scarbino, of this city, who was held following the death of Mrs. Mike Desmo, were developments announced today by police in the Venzetto-Desmo double shooting.

Strathers and Longo were taken to the county jail yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter. They are held in connection with the death of Mrs. Mike Desmo, who died in the East Liverpool City hospital as a result of bullet wounds. Mrs. Desmo was shot several times as she opened the door of her home in Broadway. Strathers and Longo were arrested in Lisbon by Officer Roy Lewton, upon information from local authorities.

Mike Desmo, the slain woman's husband, who is said to be a material witness in the slaying of Rocco Venzento, is at liberty under bond of $5,000. James Gagliaggi is held as Venzento's slayer.

Tony Scarbino, first to be arrested following the shooting of Mrs. Desmo, has been released from jail, authorities being convinced of his innocence. Scarbino was one of two men taken before Mrs. Desmo in the hospital prior to her death. She identified Scarbino first as the man who shot her. Later, police assert, she blamed another man. Physicians, it is said, declared the woman's mind was not in a normal condition.

PASSED SPURIOUS CHECK, IS CHARGE

E. E. McCauley, of Washington avenue, was arrested last night by local police on a charge of having passed a spurious check.

The charge against McCauley was filed in the court of Justice of the Peace P. V. Mackall, in East Liverpool, by a Ceramic City resident.

McCauley this morning was turned over to Constable Smith, of East Liverpool.

WON'T RELEASE HIS PRISONERS

Sixty-nine prisoners, ordered released from the Jefferson county jail in Steubenville by Auditor Edward Lockwood as an economy measure still were behind the bars today and according to Sheriff William Allison, "will remain there until I am satisfied the auditor has the authority to order them out."

The sheriff charges the order is not only a political move against him but an attack on law and order in Jefferson county.

Auditor Lockwood declared the jail was being filled with "bums and drunks" and that the county was footing the bill.

City Management Makes Gain

The city manager plan of government, a subject of discussion in East Liverpool a few years ago, but forgotten as election day neared, appears to be gaining in the number of its supporters.

Kansas City is the latest recruit in the long list of cities that prefer to have their municipal affairs run on a business rather than a political basis. The voters adopted the plan by a vote of four to one.

The size of Kansas City makes this a notable triumph for the new method of administration. It is the third-largest city accepting the plan, the first and second being Cleveland and Cincinnati. Altogether there are now about 350 municipalities, with populations ranging from a few hundred to near a million, possessing this system.

The Kansas plan differs a little from most others, in having a mayor elected by the people and possessing a moderate amount of appointive power, and having four district councilmen and four chosen at large. The manager, of course, will look after the great mass of business administration. The smallness of the council should be an advantage, attracting good men, centering attention upon them, eliminating partisan politics and promoting eficiency.

Whether East Liverpool looks with favor upon the city management idea is problematical, but if it is as good as its adherents claim it would not be amiss to investigate it. And the number of cities approving it indicates it has some merit.

The Fortunate Class

The "middle classes" have been much pitied in late years, by themselves and others. They have seemed, during war times and war prices, to be ground between the millstones of capital and labor. The people who are neither rich nor poor have been compared unfavorably with the wage-earning classes, because so often they have more expensive tastes with less money to gratify them.

All this, says B. C. Forbes, financial writer, is wrong. He knows what it is to be poor, and he has seen much of the rich, and he testifies that, speaking broadly, the people who are moderately well-to-do "enjoy a larger measure of happiness than either those who have to struggle to make both ends meet or those who possess fortunes running into seven or eight or nine figures."

Thoughtful and observing people will probably agree with him. The very successful man usually loses something—health or time or zest—in the quest for wealth which leaves him incapable of really enjoying its benefits. The rich person who has not earned his money seldom gets his full share of joy from spending it. The poor man finds it hard to be happy, amid all the material inconveniences and limitations of his position, unless he is very much of a philosopher.

The man who has made his own way, and won to modest comfort and self-respect and the family developing with him, appreciating opportunities and enjoyments because they are fresh and unspoiled, and lacking the burdens and responsibilities of great wealth—these are the lucky ones.

"Give me neither poverty nor riches," said Solomon.

No Sex in Politics

Asked "what women have accomplished in the political field," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, replies:

"It is distasteful for me to differentiate between men and women in politics. Men and women should think of their responsibilities at the polls not as men and not as women, but as human beings and citizens. Those who think alike, be they men or women, should combine their forces to make their ideals successful."

It is sound, sane doctrine, worth far more than the frothy "feminist" stuff that is still heard, occasionally. If there is any natural conflict between the sexes, it is not in the political field, for the aim of politics, or government, is the good of all. There is no sex in citizenship. The state is the common father and mother of all, and individual mothers and fathers ought to be as united in handling its work as they are in seeking the good of their own children.

EDUCATIONAL RANKING OF STATES

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By two distinct processes for determining the educational standing of the states of the union it has been found that practically the same states head the list for the year 1922. By the method of index numbers they are, ranking in the order named, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Washington, Indiana, New York, Nevada, Michigan, Arizona and Montana.

Similarly, by the method of ranks they have been found to be: Washington, California, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, District of Columbia, New York, Iowa, Nevada and New Jersey.

Two states, including the District of Columbia as a state, appear in one list of the first ten and are not found in the other. Arizona, ranked ninth by the index method, and Montana, ranked tenth, are, respectively, twenty-sixth and sixteenth by the ranks method. The District of Columbia, which comes sixth under the latter system of ranking, and Iowa, which is plased eighth, are respectively, seventeenth and eleventeenth by the index number method.

Five years ago Leonard P. Ayres used the index method in preparing a monograph for the Russell Sage Foundation that aroused much discussion at the time of its appearance. Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of George Washington university, has now created a similar furore with a study in which he uses the method of ranks and compares his results with those of Colonel Ayres.

Although Dr. Phillips is also identified with the United States bureau of education he did not undertake this work as a government official and his monograph is not issued as a government publication, but has been published by the Bruce Publishing company, of Milwaukee, under the title, "Educational Ranking of States by Two Methods."

In ranking states educationally or otherwise, Dr. Phillips explains, there are always a large number of items to be considered as possible units upon which bases of comparison might be made. Some of these can be measured statistically and some cannot. It is rather difficult, for examaple, to measure the teaching efficiency or the teacher preparation of a large body of teachers scattered over a whole state and express that in a mathematical coefficient.

CAN'T MEASURE SCHOOL RESULTS

"It is practically impossible to measure the mental level of the graduates turned out by the various public high schools," says the doctor. "It is impossible to measure the general good a given school system does for the community or for the state as a whole. It is necessary, then, in devising a system of ranking states educationally, to use only such items as can be measured in mathematical terms and use only those for which information is available. If the ranking system is to cover several years of time the number of items will be still further reduced because some items are vailable for one period and not for another.

"It is also impossible to select points upon which educational authorities in the various states will agree, nor is it possible to weigh these items in a way satisfactory to those concerned. Some states are sparsely settled, making education costs necessarily high; other states are densely settled, making it possible to run an educational system more economically.

"Some states have practically one-fourth of the school population in private and parochial schools, and some states have no such schools whatever. Some states are troubled with a large illiterate population, which may be due to a large number of foreign born groups, colored groups, or other groups which the public schools have not been able to reach. Ranking systems must therefore be arbitrarily made and the results used with a great deal of caution."

Data covering ten points which are purely nonpersonal and which have to do chiefly with school attendance and costs were tabulated by Colonel Ayres in applying his method of index numbers. These points are: Per cent of school population attending school daily; average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days school were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expenditure per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries, and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED

The sum of the ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the states were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1918, and Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out his method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterates ten years of age and over; ration of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance, and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

"The results are pretty much the same," says Dr. Phillips. "In 1910, five states have the same rank by both methods; in 1922, six states rank alike. In 1910, 35 states do not differ by more than four points in ranks; in 1918 there are 30 states, in 1920, 31, and in 1922, 35 within four points by both methods. This means that three-fourths of the states are shifted in rank less than five places by a change from one method to another. There are, however, some manifest changes in the ranking of some states, especially in those that had ranked high in matters of cost. Illiteracy, average daily attendance, per cent of school census in attendance and per cent of high school graduates continuing in school all seem to be factors in making a change in rank."

The states in addition to the 10 named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

By the Phillips method the additional states are ranked: Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Idaho, Utah, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Missouri, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Delaware, Maryland, Texas, New Mexico, West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Admiring George's nifty little car, one asked: "That's a fast looking car you have there. What's the most you ever got out of it?" "Five times in a mile," replied George—Columbus Dispatch.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 3.—I have always read in novels of strange adventures on shipboard. In five crossings my only adventures have been trivial—such as lurching into old ladies' laps, getting my hand caught trying to close portholes or falling down stairs.

Today I seemed to be on the heels of adventure. There was a smart rap on my door. A gold braided flunkey touched his tambourine cap, clicked his heels and presented an embossed envelope with a crest. Perhaps a lady in distress or something.

It was from the purser who presented his compliments and implored me at the earliest opportunity to see him privately in his quarters. I donned my best attire, including a flaming purple tie and presented myself forthwith. The adventure was tawdry.

I was merely told there was $1.20 excess charge on my luggage. Yet for more intrepid souls there must be adventure. You sense it. There is on every boat one of those cool, glacial and beautiful ladies who causes tongues to wag. You think of priceless smuggled pearls and matching wits against the pick of Scotland Yard.

One of the type is aboard. I heard one old lady say to her companion as the lady passed by on the promenade deck: "A scarlet woman." I would not go that far, but perhaps there is a dash of pink. She dines in her stateroom, shuns everybody and strolls the deck when the moon is out.

Unattached gentlemen give her covetous glances, whoever she is, she gives the ship a cosmopolitan tang. And no doubt she will prove to be the buyer for a middle west millinery house who is known in her town as "one of the Schwartz girls."

My bed seems to be the repository for refuse. So far the roll of the ship has dosed it with a splotch of ink, two loosely fried eggs and a pot of coffee.

There is an extremely precocious youngster on board. He is 12 years old and has crossed the Atlantic alone 22 times. He is fearfully British—fearfully—although born in Boston. He is attending an English school and runs home for each vacation. Last year he made four trips. He is entirely too worldly wise for one of his years and I think he needs some plentiful doses of what grandmother called "birch tea." He joins groups of men in the smoking lounge and drinking rooms as nonchalantly as a fresh suspender salesman in a Pullman smoker. Several times he has spoken disdainfully of what he calls "Awmeer-ika."

At 12 as I remember my marine experience consisted of one ferry ride across the Ohio river on the steamer Champion. I do not believe this precocious child will ever have the thrill I had then. I went as the guest of Captain Rafe Hamilton and was absent 15 minutes, but for many weeks I would mention casually I had been over in West Virginia recently.

The best giggle of the trip so far was in the ballroom last night. All had been seated when she came in—an extremely pompous lady in flaming red silk. She had timed her approach. Her small daughter was waiting and she was the kind who said loudly: "Daughter, don't you stand up for mother?" You recognize her no doubt. She used an enormous fan in one hand and a pearl handled lorgnette in the other. The ship suddenly struck high seas. And with the momentum of a roller coaster car, her chair suddenly shot across the ballroom floor and she landed kerplunk amidship of an amazed and portly gentleman who was innocently and gently nodding. No one has seen the lady since.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By MICHAEL F. DACEY.

DENVER, March 3.—The mystery surrounding "Jack" Taylor, eccentric ranch hand, who burrowed into a huge strawstack on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, Col., 25 miles east of here, and remained buried for 48 days before being rescued, half dead, remains unsolved.

Taylor is believed to have been without food or water for fully five weeks. When found he was semi-conscious; one foot was frozen; he was terribly emaciated and had lost 100 pounds in weight. His clothing was in tatters as the result of constant knawing by a horde of field mice.

The story of Taylor's experience came to light the same day rescue workers in Cave City, Ky., discovered the body of Floyd Collins in his cavern tomb.

When an International News Service reporter sought out Taylor he was still in a precarious physical and mental condition. He could only speak in whispers; he hobbled about with the aid of a cane, and the big frame of his six feet two inches was noticeably stooped. Taylor was unable to talk of the agony he underwent during his weeks in the strawstack prison. He could give little inteligent information about himself or his antecedents.

M. C. James, who employed Taylor and who has tenderly cared for him since he found the ranch hand while taking straw from the stack to a barn, gave International News Service a clear version of the almost incredible story.

Dr. F. B. Cornell, village physician, told of the wasted condition Taylor was in when he treated him after the rescue.

"Taylor came here in June," said James, formerly in vocational education work for the government in Kentucky. "He was a big, strapping fellow, about 28 years of age, weighed close to 180 pounds, and was a splendid ranch hand. Something seemed to be preying on his mind, however, and he kept to himself for the most part.

"One day he confided to me that he was afraid officers were searching for him, and, with some urging, related how he had been employed in Texas where he believed a man had forged his name to some checks. 'Jack' explained that the man was an expert penman and that one day officers came to his place of employment in search of someone wanted for forgery."

James declared he believed Taylor was absolutely honest, and that the men had perpetrated a practical joke upon him.

"But Taylor ran away from his Texas employment and came here," James continued. "For several months he worked steadily, but always remained by himself, appearing inordinately shy at the approach of strangers.

"Early in the evening of November 2 some friends of ours called at the ranch. Taylor disappeared the moment he noticed them. We looked for some trace of Taylor over the 500-acre ranch, but found none and concluded he had left the country.

"On December 20, 48 days after his disappearance, while pitching straw from the stack my fork hit something hard. Pulling away the straw I found Taylor. He was in a pitiable condition from exposure and starvation. I later learned from him that the first eight or ten days of his self-imposed imprisonment he ventured out at night to secure a few scraps of food and water. But after the first ten days he became so weak he was unable to leave the strawstack and remained there without food or water for 37 or 38 days.

"We called Dr. Cornell and started the fight to restore him to health. For several weeks only liquid foods were given him—hot water and hot milk with a little sugar at first, then broths and soups. He is now able to take some solid foods and is gradually recovering his strength. But it will be many weeks yet before he will be vigorous."

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

SUPER SUNSHINE. THE BABY

Yesterday in southern California, was the finest day you ever saw, or imagined, in California, or anywhere. The long Santa Fe train, bringing "more converts" rolled noiselessly down the grade, from the high plateau on the west, into such beauty of sunshine, warmth and flowers, as made the whole thing seem unreal.

What was the most interesting, pleasing thing you saw in wonderful California on the day of arrival?

It was not the golden orange groves, or the pleasant square miles of grape vines, pruned and ready for next summer's production.

It was not the mighty Pacific in which you could drown, bury and lose the United States, with only one big wave to tell the story. And it was not the high range of mountains with their snowy heads looking down, so near, reminding the traveler that in some parts of the world it really is cold winter.

The most pleasing sight in California was a young couple on the station platform at San Bernardino, the sunny ante-room to Pasadena and Los Angeles.

The young man, tall and nervous, was on the platform of his Pullman car, 20 minutes before the station came in sight. No one ever left a burning house more eagerly than he left that train.

The young woman, waiting, was dressed in her best. Pink silk stockings, new dress and hat, and such a smile of welcome, for that fortunate young traveler.

Her first words before he reached her were: "I knew you couldn't wait to see her, so I brought her down."

And sure enough "her" was there, in her mother's arms, a little baby, about six weeks old, with a sunbonnet, scalloped around the edges, white kid shoes, a fancy dress and a far-away look.

There is beautiful sunshine in California, but it is not as beautiful as the light in that young mother's face as she looked up from the face of her child to the child's father. That is the sunshine that makes life worth while for human beings everywhere, if they are worth while.

Here, where the sky says, all year round, "come and forget your troubles," or in the coldest north, there is happiness, warmth and eternal sunshine, wherever there is true devotion.

Come to California if you can and see a part of Eden that escaped fatal curse.

But thank the Lord that, inspite of the serpent, the apple and the fall, there is real heaven here below, wherever you find the blessed earthly trinity, a perfectly united mother, child and father.

That heaven was in the young mother's face, when the father said, "I think she smiled."

THAT EASTERN EARTHQUAKE

California is interested in the earthquake "back east" that shook New York, reaching up and down the Atlantic coast, and as far west as Michigan, this time the slip of the earth's crust is in the Atlantic instead of the Pacific.

Despite eastern exaggeration of western earthquakes, natives out here do not laugh when they meet, they just say, "too bad," and look as serious as they possibly can.

EBERT, HONOR HIM

The death of President Ebert will establish more firmly the German republic. Germans know than an earnest, intelligent workman, with his fellow workers back of him can manage the nation.

They know that a saber waving all highest, in partnership with God, is not necessary to national business.

Thanks to Ebert, to the highly intelligent and scientifically trained German specialists, and the lions of German workers, educated for 40 years in the social Democratic party, the Germans have the power of self-government.

Their administration has stood firm ever since the war under most horribly trying conditions. That is the greatest possible tribute to the self-governing power of the Germans. And Ebert will be honored in history as the loyal servant of German democracy.

GET YOUR MONOPLANE

Young men with courage and ambition TURN YOUR MINDS TOWARD FLYING. Ex-service men that flew in the war, cheer up.

Henry Ford and his son are building all metal monoplanes, and small dirigibles, with all metal gas containers.

That means opportunity.

Be among the first to get one of the monoplanes that will "fly 140 miles an hour, and carry a useful load of 2,000 pounds."

Such a machine, once he knows how to run it, should enable a young man of the right kind to earn $100 a day. And that sum, $600 a week, would be a "useful load" to carry home each Saturday.

For information, write to Henry Ford, or better still to Edsel Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

Secretary Weeks tells the congressional committee that he holds no grudge against Brigadier General Mitchell for telling the truth, and that he has no thought of disciplining General Mitchell. That is welcome. The people would like to think that the truth is not kept from them by official threats.

Mr. Weeks adds "the question of the reappointment of General Mitchell as assistant chief of the service is in the hands of the president."

If that is so, the people may be sure that General Mitchell will not be demoted, or humiliated. The president, like the people, is glad to know the truth.

No act of his, and no failure on his part to act, will cause General Mitchell to lose rank. Of that, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

A tall, dark person with the earmarks of a plain-clothes man stepped into the thick stuffiness of the subway train. His face was severely stern, his jaw indicative of a grim determination, and his shrewd gray eyes stared seachingly at the young man who sat opposite. The latter squirmed uneasily in his seat, shifted his gaze, and readjusted his newspaper. The gray eyes never faltered. The young man glanced furtively towards the door. Feverishly he rose to start for the exit. A hand fell on his shoulder. A quiet voice said:

"Pardon me, but your left shoe is untied."

She was very pretty, he was very ardent. And they both were young.

"Ethel," he murmured, and the very intonation of his voice was a caress. "You've your father's fine, frank blue eyes."

"Go on," she laughed. Don't be silly!" She was a modern maid.

"But you have, dear," he insisted. "And you have your mother's beautiful golden hair."

She glanced about her in fear as she laid her fair little hand upon his lips.

City Management Makes Gain

The city manager plan of government, a subject of discussion in East Liverpool a few years ago, but forgotten as election day neared, appears to be gaining in the number of its supporters.

Kansas City is the latest recruit in the long list of cities that prefer to have their municipal affairs run on a business rather than a political basis. The voters adopted the plan by a vote of four to one.

The size of Kansas City makes this a notable triumph for the new method of administration. It is the third-largest city accepting the plan, the first and second being Cleveland and Cincinnati. Altogether there are now about 350 municipalities, with populations ranging from a few hundred to near a million, possessing this system.

The Kansas plan differs a little from most others, in having a mayor elected by the people and possessing a moderate amount of appointive power, and having four district councilmen and four chosen at large. The manager, of course, will look after the great mass of business administration. The smallness of the council should be an advantage, attracting good men, centering attention upon them, eliminating partisan politics and promoting eficiency.

Whether East Liverpool looks with favor upon the city management idea is problematical, but if it is as good as its adherents claim it would not be amiss to investigate it. And the number of cities approving it indicates it has some merit.

The Fortunate Class

The "middle classes" have been much pitied in late years, by themselves and others. They have seemed, during war times and war prices, to be ground between the millstones of capital and labor. The people who are neither rich nor poor have been compared unfavorably with the wage-earning classes, because so often they have more expensive tastes with less money to gratify them.

All this, says B. C. Forbes, financial writer, is wrong. He knows what it is to be poor, and he has seen much of the rich, and he testifies that, speaking broadly, the people who are moderately well-to-do "enjoy a larger measure of happiness than either those who have to struggle to make both ends meet or those who possess fortunes running into seven or eight or nine figures."

Thoughtful and observing people will probably agree with him. The very successful man usually loses something—health or time or zest—in the quest for wealth which leaves him incapable of really enjoying its benefits. The rich person who has not earned his money seldom gets his full share of joy from spending it. The poor man finds it hard to be happy, amid all the material inconveniences and limitations of his position, unless he is very much of a philosopher.

The man who has made his own way, and won to modest comfort and self-respect and the family developing with him, appreciating opportunities and enjoyments because they are fresh and unspoiled, and lacking the burdens and responsibilities of great wealth—these are the lucky ones.

"Give me neither poverty nor riches," said Solomon.

No Sex in Politics

Asked "what women have accomplished in the political field," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, replies:

"It is distasteful for me to differentiate between men and women in politics. Men and women should think of their responsibilities at the polls not as men and not as women, but as human beings and citizens. Those who think alike, be they men or women, should combine their forces to make their ideals successful."

It is sound, sane doctrine, worth far more than the frothy "feminist" stuff that is still heard, occasionally. If there is any natural conflict between the sexes, it is not in the political field, for the aim of politics, or government, is the good of all. There is no sex in citizenship. The state is the common father and mother of all, and individual mothers and fathers ought to be as united in handling its work as they are in seeking the good of their own children.

EDUCATIONAL RANKING OF STATES

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By two distinct processes for determining the educational standing of the states of the union it has been found that practically the same states head the list for the year 1922. By the method of index numbers they are, ranking in the order named, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Washington, Indiana, New York, Nevada, Michigan, Arizona and Montana.

Similarly, by the method of ranks they have been found to be: Washington, California, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, District of Columbia, New York, Iowa, Nevada and New Jersey.

Two states, including the District of Columbia as a state, appear in one list of the first ten and are not found in the other. Arizona, ranked ninth by the index method, and Montana, ranked tenth, are, respectively, twenty-sixth and sixteenth by the ranks method. The District of Columbia, which comes sixth under the latter system of ranking, and Iowa, which is plased eighth, are respectively, seventeenth and eleventeenth by the index number method.

Five years ago Leonard P. Ayres used the index method in preparing a monograph for the Russell Sage Foundation that aroused much discussion at the time of its appearance. Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of George Washington university, has now created a similar furore with a study in which he uses the method of ranks and compares his results with those of Colonel Ayres.

Although Dr. Phillips is also identified with the United States bureau of education he did not undertake this work as a government official and his monograph is not issued as a government publication, but has been published by the Bruce Publishing company, of Milwaukee, under the title, "Educational Ranking of States by Two Methods."

In ranking states educationally or otherwise, Dr. Phillips explains, there are always a large number of items to be considered as possible units upon which bases of comparison might be made. Some of these can be measured statistically and some cannot. It is rather difficult, for examaple, to measure the teaching efficiency or the teacher preparation of a large body of teachers scattered over a whole state and express that in a mathematical coefficient.

CAN'T MEASURE SCHOOL RESULTS

"It is practically impossible to measure the mental level of the graduates turned out by the various public high schools," says the doctor. "It is impossible to measure the general good a given school system does for the community or for the state as a whole. It is necessary, then, in devising a system of ranking states educationally, to use only such items as can be measured in mathematical terms and use only those for which information is available. If the ranking system is to cover several years of time the number of items will be still further reduced because some items are vailable for one period and not for another.

"It is also impossible to select points upon which educational authorities in the various states will agree, nor is it possible to weigh these items in a way satisfactory to those concerned. Some states are sparsely settled, making education costs necessarily high; other states are densely settled, making it possible to run an educational system more economically.

"Some states have practically one-fourth of the school population in private and parochial schools, and some states have no such schools whatever. Some states are troubled with a large illiterate population, which may be due to a large number of foreign born groups, colored groups, or other groups which the public schools have not been able to reach. Ranking systems must therefore be arbitrarily made and the results used with a great deal of caution."

Data covering ten points which are purely nonpersonal and which have to do chiefly with school attendance and costs were tabulated by Colonel Ayres in applying his method of index numbers. These points are: Per cent of school population attending school daily; average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days school were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expediture per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries, and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED

The sum of the ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the states were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1918, and Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out his method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterates ten years of age and over; ration of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance, and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

"The results are pretty much the same," says Dr. Phillips. "In 1910, five states have the same rank by both methods; in 1922, six states rank alike. In 1910, 35 states do not differ by more than four points in ranks; in 1918 there are 30 states, in 1920, 31, and in 1922, 35 within four points by both methods. This means that three-fourths of the states are shifted in rank less than five places by a change from one method to another. There are, however, some manifest changes in the ranking of some states, especially in those that had ranked high in matters of cost. Illiteracy, average daily attendance, per cent of school census in attendance and per cent of high school graduates continuing in school all seem to be factors in making a change in rank."

The states in addition to the 10 named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

By the Phillips method the additional states are ranked: Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Idaho, Utah, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Missouri, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Delaware, Maryland, Texas, New Mexico, West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 3.—I have always read in novels of strange adventures on shipboard. In five crossings my only adventures have been trivial—such as lurching into old ladies' laps, getting my hand caught trying to close portholes or falling down stairs.

Today I seemed to be on the heels of adventure. There was a smart rap on my door. A gold braided flunkey touched his tambourine cap, clicked his heels and presented an embossed envelope with a crest. Perhaps a lady in distress or something.

It was from the purser who presented his compliments and implored me at the earliest opportunity to see him privately in his quarters. I donned my best attire, including a flaming purple tie and presented myself forthwith. The adventure was tawdry.

I was merely told there was $1.20 excess charge on my luggage. Yet for more intrepid souls there must be adventure. You sense it. There is on every boat one of those cool, glacial and beautiful ladies who causes tongues to wag. You think of priceless smuggled pearls and matching wits against the pick of Scotland Yard.

One of the type is aboard. I heard one old lady say to her companion as the lady passed by on the promenade deck: "A scarlet woman." I would not go that far, but perhaps there is a dash of pink. She dines in her stateroom, shuns everybody and strolls the deck when the moon is out.

Unattached gentlemen give her covetous glances, whoever she is, she gives the ship a cosmopolitan tang. And no doubt she will prove to be the buyer for a middle west millinery house who is known in her town as "one of the Schwartz girls."

My bed seems to be the repository for refuse. So far the roll of the ship has dosed it with a splotch of ink, two loosely fried eggs and a pot of coffee.

There is an extremely precocious youngster on board. He is 12 years old and has crossed the Atlantic alone 22 times. He is fearfully British—fearfully—although born in Boston. He is attending an English school and runs home for each vacation. Last year he made four trips. He is entirely too worldly wise for one of his years and I think he needs some plentiful doses of what grandmother called "birch tea." He joins groups of men in the smoking lounge and drinking rooms as nonchalantly as a fresh suspender salesman in a Pullman smoker. Several times he has spoken disdainfully of what he calls "Awmeer-ika."

At 12 as I remember my marine experience consisted of one ferry ride across the Ohio river on the steamer Champion. I do not believe this precocious child will ever have the thrill I had then. I went as the guest of, Captain Rafe Hamilton and was absent 15 minutes, but for many weeks I would mention casually I had been over in West Virginia recently.

The best giggle of the trip so far was in the ballroom last night. All had been seated when she came in—an extremely pompous lady in flaming red silk. She had timed her approach. Her small daughter was waiting and she was the kind who said loudly: "Daughter, don't you stand up for mother?" You recognize her no doubt. She used an enormous fan in one hand and a pearl handled lorgnette in the other. The ship suddenly struck high seas. And with the momentum of a roller coaster car, her chair suddenly shot across the ballroom floor and she landed kerplunk amidship of an amazed and portly gentleman who was innocently and gently nodding. No one has seen the lady since.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By MICHAEL F. DACEY.

DENVER, March 3.—The mystery surrounding "Jack" Taylor, eccentric ranch hand, who burrowed into a huge strawstack on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, Col., 25 miles east of here, and remained buried for 48 days before being rescued, half dead, remains unsolved.

Taylor is believed to have been without food or water for fully five weeks. When found he was semi-conscious; one foot was frozen; he was terribly emaciated and had lost 100 pounds in weight. His clothing was in tatters as the result of constant knawing by a horde of field mice.

The story of Taylor's experience came to light the same day rescue workers in Cave City, Ky., discovered the body of Floyd Collins in his cavern tomb.

When an International News Service reporter sought out Taylor he was still in a precarious physical and mental condition. He could only speak in whispers; he hobbled about with the aid of a cane, and the big frame of his six feet two inches was noticeably stooped. Taylor was unable to talk of the agony he underwent during his weeks in the strawstack prison. He could give little inteligent information about himself or his antecedents.

M. C. James, who employed Taylor and who has tenderly cared for him since he found the ranch hand while taking straw from the stack to a barn, gave International News Service a clear version of the almost incredible story.

Dr. F. B. Cornell, village physician, told of the wasted condition Taylor was in when he treated him after the rescue.

"Taylor came here in June," said James, formerly in vocational education work for the government in Kentucky. "He was a big, strapping fellow, about 28 years of age, weighed close to 180 pounds, and was a splendid ranch hand. Something seemed to be preying on his mind, however, and he kept to himself for the most part.

"One day he confided to me that he was afraid officers were searching for him, and, with some urging, related how he had been employed in Texas where he believed a man had forged his name to some checks. 'Jack' explained that the man was an expert penman and that one day officers came to his place of employment in search of someone wanted for forgery."

James declared he believed Taylor was absolutely honest, and that the men had perpetrated a practical joke upon him.

"But Taylor ran away from his Texas employment and came here," James continued. "For several months he worked steadily, but always remained by himself, appearing inordinately shy at the approach of strangers.

"Early in the evening of November 2 some friends of ours called at the ranch. Taylor disappeared the moment he noticed them. We looked for some trace of Taylor over the 500-acre ranch, but found none and concluded he had left the country.

"On December 20, 48 days after his disappearance, while pitching straw from the stack my fork hit something hard. Pulling away the straw I found Taylor. He was in a pitiable condition from exposure and starvation. I later learned from him that the first eight or ten days of his self-imposed imprisonment he ventured out at night to secure a few scraps of food and water. But after the first ten days he became so weak he was unable to leave the strawstack and remained there without food or water for 37 or 38 days.

"We called Dr. Cornell and started the fight to restore him to health. For several weeks only liquid foods were given him—hot water and hot milk with a little sugar at first, then broths and soups. He is now able to take some solid foods and is gradually recovering his strength. But it will be many weeks yet before he will be vigorous."

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

SUPER SUNSHINE. THE BABY

Yesterday in southern California, was the finest day you ever saw, or imagined, in California, or anywhere. The long Santa Fe train, bringing "more converts" rolled noiselessly down the grade, from the high plateau on the west, into such beauty of sunshine, warmth and flowers, as made the whole thing seem unreal.

What was the most interesting, pleasing thing you saw in wonderful California on the day of arrival?

It was not the golden orange groves, or the pleasant square miles of grape vines, pruned and ready for next summer's production.

It was not the mighty Pacific in which you could drown, bury and lose the United States, with only one big wave to tell the story. And it was not the high range of mountains with their snowy heads looking down, so near, reminding the traveler that in some parts of the world it really is cold winter.

The most pleasing sight in California was a young couple on the station platform at San Bernardino, the sunny ante-room to Pasadena and Los Angeles.

The young man, tall and nervous, was on the platform of his Pullman car, 20 minutes before the station came in sight. No one ever left a burning house more eagerly than he left that train.

The young woman, waiting, was dressed in her best. Pink silk stockings, new dress and hat, and such a smile of welcome, for that fortunate young traveler.

Her first words before he reached her were: "I knew you couldn't wait to see her, so I brought her down."

And sure enough "her" was there, in her mother's arms, a little baby, about six weeks old, with a sunbonnet, scalloped around the edges, white kid shoes, a fancy dress and a far-away look.

There is beautiful sunshine in California, but it is not as beautiful as the light in that young mother's face as she looked up from the face of her child to the child's father. That is the sunshine that makes life worth while for human beings everywhere, if they are worth while.

Here, where the sky says, all year round, "come and forget your troubles," or in the coldest north, there is happiness, warmth and eternal sunshine, wherever there is true devotion.

Come to California if you can and see a part of Eden that escaped fatal curse.

But thank the Lord that, inspite of the serpent, the apple and the fall, there is real heaven here below, wherever you find the blessed earthly trinity, a perfectly united mother, child and father.

That heaven was in the young mother's face, when the father said, "I think she smiled."

THAT EASTERN EARTHQUAKE

California is interested in the earthquake "back east" that shook New York, reaching up and down the Atlantic coast, and as far west as Michigan, this time the slip of the earth's crust is in the Atlantic instead of the Pacific.

Despite eastern exaggeration of western earthquakes, natives out here do not laugh when they meet, they just say, "too bad," and look as serious as they possibly can.

EBERT, HONOR HIM

The death of President Ebert will establish more firmly the German republic. Germans know than an earnest, intelligent workman, with his fellow workers back of him can manage the nation.

They know that a saber waving all highest, in partnership with God, is not necessary to national business.

Thanks to Ebert, to the highly intelligent and scientifically trained German specialists, and the lions of German workers, educated for 40 years in the social Democratic party, the Germans have the power of self-government.

Their administration has stood firm ever since the war under most horribly trying conditions. That is the greatest possible tribute to the self-governing power of the Germans. And Ebert will be honored in history as the loyal servant of German democracy.

GET YOUR MONOPLANE

Young men with courage and ambition TURN YOUR MINDS TOWARD FLYING. Ex-service men that flew in the war, cheer up.

Henry Ford and his son are building all metal monoplanes, and small dirigibles, with all metal gas containers.

That means opportunity.

Be among the first to get one of the monoplanes that will "fly 140 miles an hour, and carry a useful load of 2,000 pounds."

Such a machine, once he knows how to run it, should enable a young man of the right kind to earn $100 a day. And that sum, $600 a week, would be a "useful load" to carry home each Saturday.

For information, write to Henry Ford, or better still to Edsel Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

Secretary Weeks tells the congressional committee that he holds no grundge against Brigadier General Mitchell for telling the truth, and that he has no thought of disciplining General Mitchell. That is welcome. The people would like to think that the truth is not kept from them by official threats.

Mr. Weeks adds "the question of the reappointment of General Mitchell as assistant chief of the service is in the hands of the president."

If that is so, the people may be sure that General Mitchell will not be demoted, or humiliated. The president, like the people, is glad to know the truth.

No act of his, and no failure on his part to act, will cause General Mitchell to lose rank. Of that, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

A tall, dark person with the earmarks of a plain-clothes man stepped into the thick stuffiness of the subway train. His face was severely stern, his jaw indicative of a grim determination, and his shrewd gray eyes stared seachingly at the young man who sat opposite. The latter squirmed uneasily in his seat, shifted his gaze, and readjusted his newspaper. The gray eyes never faltered. The young man glanced furtively towards the door. Feverishly he rose to start for the exit. A hand fell on his shoulder. A quiet voice said:

"Pardon me, but your left shoe is untied."

She was very pretty, he was very ardent. And they both were young.

"Ethel," he murmured, and the very intonation of his voice was a caress. "You've your father's fine, frank blue eyes."

"Go on," she laughed. Don't be silly!" She was a modern maid.

"But you have, dear," he insisted. "And you have your mother's beautiful golden hair."

She glanced about her in fear as she laid her fair little hand upon his lips.

"S-sh!" she whispered. "Don't speak so loud, Jack; she doesn't know I'm wearing it!"

COMMISSIONERS HOLD MEETING

Road Matters Discussed at Regular Session Monday.

With the approach of spring, much attention is being given new road construction at every meeting of the county commissioners, and unlike a situation that prevailed in former years, township trustees and farmers show more willingness to co-operate with the commissioners than ever before. By this plan new road work is advanced at least 50 per cent.

It is due mainly to the trustees and farmers of Middleton township that this situation prevails, as the Middleton road boosters blazed the trail to get new highways at a low cost, and now others are falling in line rapidly.

Salem township trustees and farmers residing on the road from Badgers Corners east to Franklin Square are going to follow the plan of the Middleton trustees, and the only difference in the program is that in lieu of allowing the county steam shovel to work on this road, it having been graded, the commissioners agreeing to donate 50 cars of run of mine slag for this road and the property owners along this road and the trustees will spread the slag, thereby eliminating another mud road from the list of hundreds in the county.

This cross-country road will connect with Lisbon-Salem road with the paved road at Franklin Square which extends into Leetonia. The order for the slag will be placed within the next few days, and the spreading will begin within the next month.

The widening of the Lisbon-Salem road from the north corporate limits of Salem to the top of the grade, 1,000 feet south of the Erie railroad crossing is on the program for completion this year. The commissioners have agreed to appropriate $4,300 as the county share for the widening of section H of this road, which is that part paved with brick just north of the concrete road in the village of Lisbon. Section G of this road is the macadam section just north of the narrow brick road, and this is a state proposition.

The state highway department, following a traffic survey on this road, declared that the narrow brick and macadam sections should be widened as a matter of public safety. Because of this situation, the improvement of this road this summer is assured.

Trustees of Hanover township and the county commissioners propose to go before L. A. Boulay, director of the state highway department, at an early date and request that the state join with Columbiana county and the Hanover trustees in grading the Hanover-Salem road this year.

Two estimates have been prepared for this job, the estimate for the road, known as the present traveled highway costing $45,590 for the 4.44 miles, to the Hanover-Butler township line, and another estimate for $48 600 for a second route, which has been suggested over new ground by Division Engineer W. C. Fawcett.

The commissioners and the Hanover trustees are favorable to the grading of the present traveled road.

"You can rest assured that two members of the board, Mr. Bye and myself are in favor of the present road, and I do not know how Mr. Kelly feels about it," suggested Chairman Conrad Berg to the Hanover trustees.

"Well, I'll say this," interjected Mr. Kelly, "if Mr. Berg and Mr. Bye are in favor of this road, I am also, but, if the state highway department is in favor of another route and will not give us anything on the road we want, then I think it best to take what the state highway department will give."

"Sure a half loaf is better than none at all," came from Chairman Frank Cox, of the Hnavore trustees.

The commissioners and the Hanover trustees will go as one man before the state highway department favoring one route, but if the joint board cannot get what they want they will take the next best offer, so that the township will get some action on one route that will connect the Lincoln highway with the Cox highway at Salem.

Trustees of Unity township want the Fairfield-Simpson Corners road improved sooner or later, and with this end in view the Unitey trustees and a delegation of residents interested in the project went before the commissioners Monday and presented their proposition.

This request resulted in the commissioners issuing an order to County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk to make a survey and estimate of the cost of grading this road. The job will be put over at the earliest time possible by the field men from the surveyor's office.

SPELLING CONTEST PRIZES OFFERED

The People's State bank and the Firestone bank, both of Lisbon, have contributed $5 each as first prize money to the winners in the county spelling contest, which will be held in the David Anderson High school, Lisbon, Saturday, April 25.

Another friend of the school children has contributed $5 also, but this money will be divided into $2.50 as second prizes.

The preliminary spelling contests will be held in all fifth and sixth and seventh and eighth grade schools under the control of County Superintendent of Schools H. G. Leonard Friday, April 10.

All rural schools in this county will close their terms May 8, Superintendent Leonard announced today.

SPECIAL VENIRE MAY BE DRAWN

A special venire of 75 jurors will have to be drawn from the jury wheel should the special grand jury which convenes at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning return any first degree murder indictments.

This is under a new section of law, and means that the office of Sheriff Wright will be active in the field serving subpoenas for several days.

Under the old law a smaller number of jurors were drawn in first degree murder cases, and then when a return was made that one or more names drawn could not be found, then two other names were withdrawn from the wheel for every one "missing."

Should any first degree indictments be returned by the special grand jury the cases cannot be called for trial until after 15 days elapse.

DANGER SIGNS WILL BE PLACED

The Kiwanis club of Salineville has been granted a request by the county commissioners and three danger reflector signs will be placed in Washington township. Two of these danger reflector signs will be placed at danger points on the Wellsville-Salineville road and another will be placed on the Salineville-Lisbon road.

"Defacing or breaking these signs will go hard with any one caught committing such acts," declared Sheriff George Wright. "These danger signals are placed on the highways for the protection of the public, and you can rest assured that we'll protect the signs as far as we are able," Wright told the commissioners.

MEXICAN FINED, LODGED IN JAIL

Jesus Lara, Mexican, was picked up at the Pennsylvania passenger station by railroad detectives and lodged in the county jail Sunday night.

Lara was arrested a few days before in Salem, and after he was released he immediately "parked" himself again at the railroad station, the railroad police explained to Sheriff George Wright.

The Mexican was charged with being a vagrant in a Lisbon court and fined $25 and costs, and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Guardian Appointed.

In the case of Mary Fitzpatrick against Mary Strickler and others, which is an action in partition, Attorney George Lafferty, of Lisbon, has been appointed guardian for the suit for the minors concerned in this cause. A decree in partition has been granted as prayed for by Judge James G. Moore, the commissioners being J. V. Stewart, Jerry Shontz and E. P. Frinkhouser.

By consent of counsel, the case of the Paramount Publicity corporation against Ferris Morris, doing business as The Fair store, Salem, has been continued. Ferris won a verdict in the lower court at Salem and the plaintiff then took an appeal to common pleas.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Roy B. Workman, a potter, residing at Sebring, and Miss Betty Adams, also employed as a pottery worker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, of Salem. They were married by the Rev. Rutzky, pastor of the Lutheran church at Salem.

STREET SURVEY IS ORDERED HERE

In anticipation of free mail delivery in Lisbon, the Lisbon council at its meeting Monday night appointed the council as a whole to make a survey of all streets in the Village for the purpose of charting those properties minus sidewalks.

A proper resolution is to be placed upon the minutes of council and the resolution certified to all property owners to construct proper sidewalks, otherwise the Village will order the improvement, and the cost taxed against the property.

The council also took advantage of the new tax law, and asked Village Clerk Lloyd Binsley to certify to council at once the amount of the loating debt of the corporation, so that petitions could be circulated under the provisions of the new law, giving council the right to place a special levy on the duplicate outside of all existing limitations for the purpose of liquidating this debt.

Whether or not the proposal of Mayor Frank E. Albrecht to place a motor cycle officer on duty in the corporation will become a reality, will not be determined until the next meeting of council.

Mayor Albrecht reported to council that $573.30 was collected in fines during February, of which $146.80 remained in the village treasury and $107.50 went to the state and $20 to the county.

BISHOP TO SPEAK AT COUNTY MEET

Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, of the Methodist Episcopal church, will address the county conference of the Columbiana county Methodist Episcopal churches during the morning and afternoon Friday, March 27. In the evening Bishop Henderson will speak in the First Methodist Episcopal church at East Liverpool.

During the week of March 22-28 a special series of evangelistic services will be held in the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church, all services being in charge of the Rev. W. E. Tilton. Preparatory to these services, considerable work is now being done by the members of this congregation.

MINSTREL SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

Firemen Score Heavily at Opening Performance Last Night.

Greeted by a capacity house the first performance of the minstrel under the auspices of the Chester fire department last night in the Chester theatre was acclaimed as one of the best home talent shows ever given in this city. Costumes and stage settings were in keeping with the high standard of the show.

There was not a dull moment in the entire performance and every member of the cast appeared in good advantage both in the minstrel and specialty numbers. Encores were numerous. Songs, dances and musical numbers injected into the program proved popular and fitted in nicely with the high calibre of the minstrel entertainment.

William "Peck" McKinney, capably filled the important role of interlocator, while William "Buck" Stevenson stood out prominent as director. Mrs. Dever Dewell was the pianist. John Davis, Andy Blair, Lon Allison, George Morris, George Kimble, Dever Dewell, William Haney and Percy Willison, scored heavily as end men and kept the large crowd in an uproar. Lawrence Smith rendered a xylophone solo while a vocal selection by J. C. Cunningham was well received. John Davis scored one of the biggest hits of the evening in a skit entitled, "Alabama Hawaiians and Loko Motor A Taxi." He was also a feature in a monologue being assisted by a quartette taken from the cast. Mary McKenna was seen in a Spanish dance which brought her several encores.

The final performance will be given this evening and there is every indication that the crowd will tax the capacity of the theatre.

PIMPLES ITCHED ALL THE TIME

Face Disfigured. Lost Rest. Healed by Cuticura.

"I was troubled with pimples for a long time. They were large, hard and red and some of them festered. The pimples were very annoying as they not only disfigured my face but burned and itched all the time, causing me to scratch. The scratching caused eruptions and I lost my rest at night because of the irritation.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Mildred Leveen, 1516 Seventh St., Rock Island, Ill., July 14, 1924.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful; substitute for calomel there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

What to Do For A Persistent Cough

Everybody knows how foolish and dangerous it is to let a cough hang on and on. The proper thing to do is to stop it—quick—and for this purpose there is nothing better than that great old home remedy that our parents and grandparents used so successfully—Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. It often relieves a severe cough overnight. Doctors say there is really nothing like pine tar to quickly loosen and remove the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste but helps soothe the soreness and irritation.

But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey and not some substitute. Dr. Bell's is the original, and has been known for many years as the best. It is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting ingredients, which the best doctors have found to aid in bringing quick relief. Contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, so can be given even to young children—fine for spasmodic croup. If you want the best home remedy in the drug store, get Dr. Bell's. 30c at all good druggists.

JAIL CONDITIONS SCORED BY JUDGE

Conditions in the Brooke county jail were characterized by Judge J. B. Sommerville as a "disgrace to the community" in his charge to the grand jury as the opening of the March term of court in Wellsburg yesterday. He then named a committee of prominent citizens to make an investigation and report its findings to the court Saturday, March 7.

Judge Sommerville said he recently made a personal inspection of the county jail upon request and found conditions there "shocking to him." Prisoners are confined in cells that are altogether inadequate and dangerous to the health. The original capacity of the jail was less than 20, but for two years or more the prison population has increased to 40, and in some instances even higher.

Judge Sommerville instructed the committee to make a thorough examination of the entire county building, reporting necessary improvements in every department. "The jail," he added, "was the primary factor, as the health of the inmates must be preserved above all.

The order was read to the committee and court then proceeded with its regular work.

ARCH DALRYMPLE NAMED OFFICER

Arch Dalrymple, son of former Mayor W. B. Dalrymple, was named police officer last night at the regular meeting of council. He won out over A. W. Myers and Granville Reed who were also candidates for the position which was authorized by council at the previous meeting.

Dalrymple was sworn in after the meeting by Mayor Frank Riley and began his duties at midnight.

GORE RESIGNS CABINET POST

President Coolidge yesterday formally accepted the resignation of Howard M. Gore as secretary of agriculture. Mr. Gore will be inaugurated as governor of West Virginia tomorrow.

Accepting the resignation, President Coolidge said he "should be very much pleased if your commitment to the service of your people in West Virginia had not made it impractical for you to remain as secretary of agriculture."

The president expressed "great satisfaction" in Mr. Gore's services and declared West Virginia "is most fortunate" in its selection of its chief executive.

Mr. Gore, in tendering his resignation, expressed gratitude for the opportunity to "serve my country" and said he departed with an "abiding faith in the sturdy citizenry and the institutions" of the country.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri.—"After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. I was in a weak and run-down condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonials it contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first bottle and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. N. R. Layton, 2726A University St., St. Louis, Missouri.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand.

Thomas Meighan Has Great Cast of 400 In "Coming Through"

Some four-hundred odd persons appear in support of Thomas Meighan in his new Paramount picture, "Coming Through," which will be the feature three days starting Thursday at the Ceramic theatre.

Here's the answer, folks. The four hundred are real honest-to-goodness miners who appear in the coal mine scenes of the story. The others all have prominent roles in the cast.

Lila Lee, who returns to the screen after a year's absence in "Coming Through," adapted to the screen from Jack Bethea's novel, "Bed Rock," is featured in the leading woman's role opposite Tom. It's like old times to have Lila back with Meighan. Miss Lee appeared with the star in many of his earlier successes.

Wallace Beery, whom the fans will remember for his excellent work in "Robin Hood" and in "The Sea Hawk" is the villain in this picture. He is cast in the role of a roughneck mine foreman who does his best to put Tom out of the way for keeps. As Joe Lawler, Beery is claimed to have the greatest opportunity of his career.

John Miltern plays Lila Lee's father in the production. He is John Rand, president of the steel corporation in which Meighan is an employe. Frank Campeau, another screen favorite, portrays his living by the sale of bootleg liquor in the mining camp at Colton where Meighan is sent as superintendent.

Laurance Wheat, seen with Tom in "The Confidence Man" and many others, is also well cast as are Gus Weinburg and Alice Knowland.

Here's Tom with one of finest casts ever—in a story of the Alabama mining camps that might have been written to order for him.

Edward Sutherland, until recently assistant to Charles Chaplin, directed "Coming Through," as his first work for the screen. Paul Schofield is credited with the screen play.

Ore Unloaded by Magnet.

A new Norwegian steamship carrying a cargo of ore to the United States, on its arrival unloaded the product of the mine with huge magnets which operated as part of the crane. The magnet, a huge saucershaped disc, is highly magnetized, and when it is lowered into the hold of the vessel, large chunks of ore, weighing 50 or 100 pounds each, leap to it. The mass thus collected almost instantly weighs as much as a ton and a half. It is then hoisted and swung to the dock where the ore is released by an electric switch.

Japan's trade with the outside world last year was 162 times greater than in 1868, when the country began doing business with the rest of the world.

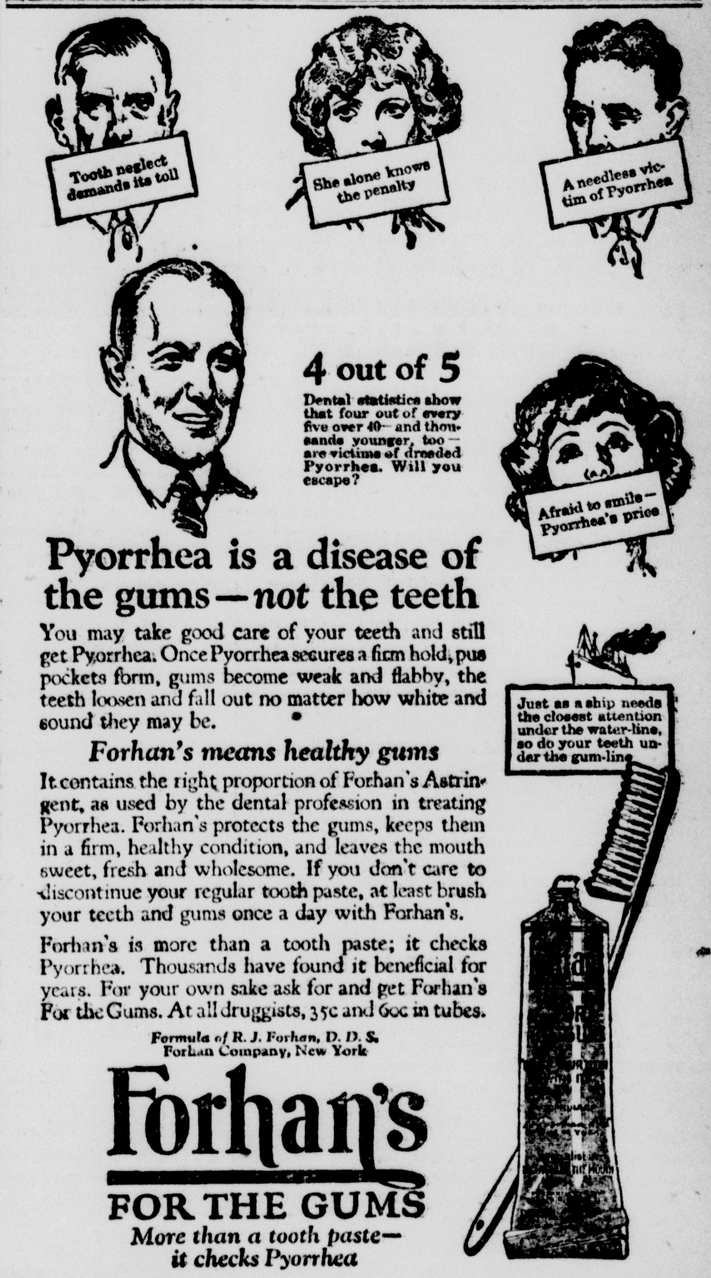

HOW TO END BLADDER TROUBLE

Remarkable results in quickly clearing up long-standing cases of bladder trouble and weak kidneys are being obtained with a remarkable remedy originally compounded many years ago by a famous Holland chemist. It goes direct to the overworked and congested kidneys and bladder, and tones them up and restores them to normal working order often in 24 hours. Physicians have known its value for years, but it is only recently that the genuine imported oil has been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsule form, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. Costs only 50c, and sold under an absolute money-back guarantee. Ask these druggists: Herche's Drug Store, C. G. Anderson, J. C. Carnahan, Gambl's Drug Store.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums—not the teeth

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

From the volume of her own mail, Karesia had some conception of how Dascome was being bombarded with sympathy, sentimentality—curiosity, too. No need for her to have felt hurt over the first accounts in the papers; they had been couched in official newspaper language; now the public was taking a hand.

Karesia learned much of the nature of her father's people. The papers stated that a room at the hospital was stacked with floral offerings sent to Mrs. Dascome by sympathetic women. Also that several motion-picture companies were bidding for Clarice, eager to avail themselves of a nation-wide publicity that had a wholesome heart appeal. The papers called Clarice "the most beautiful girl in America," and they did not forget to add, "and an heiress, too." There was a brief notice about Aimee Ormsby. She was in Paris. For several years she had been in poor health, and now she was seriously ill, prostrated by the distressing cabled accounts of her sister's disfigurement and mental condition.

Karesia had many callers, among them Nadine Navarre. She spoke of Clarice: "All this popularity will not disturb her beautiful head at all. Our little Clarice has but one object in life, and she has gained much wisdom in the last few weeks." Her topaz eyes twinkled. "I can predict the producer who will capture her. He will undertake the difficult, the creation of both a star and a wife. You are not jealous? No?"

"Karesia smiled.

"Oh! I know all about it, my charming friend. I have known quite from the beginning. With you and our handsome friend, it would be like bestowing a violin upon an otherwise talented but unmusical person—painful discords would be the result. It is true of marriage, is it not? So often the unmusical person possesses the violin. John Dascome and I, between us we would have produced excruciating discords had we been so foolish as to marry. But, as unsentimental friends, it has been perfect. Sometimes Nature arranges a very perfect thing, then there comes an obstacle." She shrugged an impatient shoulder. "Bah! all this talk by sentimental women about a happy future for him! I feel sick in my heart—I wished you for him."

"I love you for having been loyal to him always," Karesia said impulsively. "But, Nadine, I am so afraid that he will break down! It's my great fear!"

Nadine nooded. "He has struggled so long for the one thing, and now it is all over. However, we are not the good God, so we can do nothing. I received from John Dascome a little note asking me to become friends with you and, because I wished it, too, so I am here." She kissed Karesia on either cheek. "You must come and watch me make my picture—it will interest you."

So, though she did not hear from him and he could not come, he thought and planned for her welfare. It helped Karesia to live through the days.

Another caller who interested Karesia was Sarah Whitsey. The vivacious little author looked very grave. "The Judge hasn't been as well as usual," she told Karesia, "that's the reason I haven't asked you to dine with us. Poor dear, he wanted me to come today. Of course, he couldn't come with me. Wonderful things have happened, haven't they? The truth at last! You know the Dascome case was tried before my husband. I remember it all so well—and the mistaken conjectures. A case such as his makes us realize what finite being we are. And that boy, Jimmy Calhoun! I wonder whether there are not many of us who have lapses of consciousness, of a longer or shorter duration, perhaps, with most of us, just a minute or two at a time?" Her manner was oddly apologetic and appealing. "The Judge has the greatest difficulty in writing, his hand is so unsteady, but he could not rest until he had written to Mr. Dascome—just a word or two of congratulation from a man who knows that he hasn't much longer to live. I think Mr. Dascome will understand."

Karesia undestood. So Judge Joseph Whitsey who had ruled so impartially throughout the two trials had had his secret opinion and it had been the same as Rossiter's. "We're all double houses, aren't we?" she remarked with apparent irrelevance.

"Every one of us—just human beings, Sonya Karesia. Come and see us, won't you? It will mean so much to the Judge."

Karesia promised that she would.

XLIV

It was the middle of May. The Dascome family had made definite plans for the future. For precaution's sake, the doctors had advised the long stay at the hospital, though now Elaine was able to be about her room and take a daily drive.

From Clarice and from Rossiter Karesia had heard of Elaine's recovery. Little by little, Elaine had learned all that past history. They had kept the fact of her disfigurement from her as long as possible, but even that she had borne with surprising calm; she had shown a childlike faith in Clarice's assurance that, when she was quite well again, they would make her face over. She simply clung to her child and her husband and believed their assurances.

Let Tanlac restore your health

IF your body is all fagged out and run-down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor.

Tanlac Restored Her Health

"Typhoid fever reduced me to 95 lbs. and left me weak as a rag. Failing to get relief from other sources I tried Tanlac and after 6 bottles had gained 20 lbs. Now I enjoy a fine appetite and feel like a new woman. As a nurse I give Tanlac to all my patients."

POEMS THAT LIVE

Disdain Returned.

He that loves a rosy cheek,
Or a coral lip admires,
Or from star-like eyes doth seek
Fuel to maintain his fires,—
As old Time makes these decay,
So his flames must waste away.

But a smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts and calm desires,
Hearts with equal love combined,
Kindle never-dying fires.
Where these are not, I despise
Lovely cheeks or lips, or eyes.

No tears, Celia, now shall win
My resolved heart to return;
I have search'd thy soul within,
And find naught but pride and scorn;
I have learned thy arts, and now
Can disdain as much as thou.
Some power, in my revenge, convey
That love to her I cast away.

Catchy Music, Snappy Dancing Features "Lollipop," Tonight

Ada May, Vivacious Little Star, in Musical Comedy of Youth, Gaiety and Sparkle at Ceramic.

"Take a little one step, two step, three step"—this bit of haunting music from "Lollipop," the musical comedy success at the Ceramic theatre tonight, serves as a perfect introduction to a production that is all youth, gaity, snap and sparkle. Such dancing! From Ada-May, the vivacious little star, to the last man in the ensemble, every member of the large "Lollipop" company is a past master of dancing art. Zelda Sears, whose libretto and lyrics make the plot of "Lollipop" so invitingly intelligent and witty, weaves her story about a little orphan girl who rose in the world after she began to concentrate on success. Ada-May as the orphan makes one of the most roguish and appealing heroines ever known in musical comedy; and an unusually talented company surrounded her.

"Lollipop," with its freshness, sparkle and novelty, has taken its place as one of the most successful of all the Savage successes and Mr. Savage promises us the original New York cast and production from the Knickerbocker theatre, and as viewed in Chicago at the Selwyn theatre, during the past month.

The individual success of Ada-May, whose name is in electrice lights for the first time in her career in "Lollipop," is marked by the response of audiences to her every step, smile and speech during the play and the crowd that waits every matinee at the stage door to see her leave the theatre. Not since Maude Adams last played at the Knickerbocker theatre, New York, according to the doorman, have so many matinee girls and their fathers, brothers and beaus stood at the stage entrance to see a star to her carriage—which, in Ada-May's case, is a smart little sport car which she drives herself.

Thousands Dangerously Weak After Flu and Grippe

Tells How to Quickly Get Back Needed Strength, Appetite and Vitality.

Reports tell us that in one state, tens of thousands of people are "all too slowly" regaining their health and strength after illness.

Influenza and Grippe are insidious diseases, that nine times out of ten strip their victims of strength, vitality and power to endure any ordinary strain.

Even a heavy cold or a lingering cough may sap a man's strength so tremendously that he despairs of ever being strong enough to go to work again.

People in this deplorable condition should know that the greatest builder of strength in weak, rundown, tired out people is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of the best health building vitamines, as any doctor or chemist will tell you.

But it's loathsome stuff to take—the taste nauseates—the smell disgusts and repulses.

That's why millions of people are turning to cod liver oil in tablet form

That's why physicians and pharmacists in all parts of the country and even in Canada are advising sick, weak, run-down folks to take

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

They helped millions of ill, weak, despairing folks last year—they will do the same for millions more this year.

To people who are exhausted or weary—who are languid or indolent—who haven't the vigor or energy or the endurance needed to do their work properly we say—

Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days—then if you don't say they are the best builder of health and strength you ever used, get your money back from Anderson, Larkin, Carnahan or Mathews' Medicine Store, or the druggist from whom you bought them.

60 tablets—60 cents—but be sure and get McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Aching Tooth Closes School.

Mrs. Bessie Hooper has a school of one pupil near Kelso, Wash. One day recently her pupil developed a severe toothache and school was closed while the teacher took her to the nearest dentist. It took two days to make the trip, get the tooth doctored, and return.

Aspirin Gargle in Tonsilitis

Cut This Out and Save if Subject to Sore Throat

A harmless and effective gargle is to dissolve two Bayer Tablets of Aspirin in four tablespoonfuls of water, and gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Tablets of Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.

Powerful Antiseptic Destroys Pernicious Germs of Catarrh

No Matter How Chronic, Soreness Will Go—Mucous Will Disappear and the Nasal Passages Will Be Immaculately Clean Once More.

Just get a six ounce bottle of Kojene, the world's most powerful, non-poisonous antiseptic. You can get it from Carnahan's Drug Store, Jesse D. Holloway and Matthews' Cut Rate Store, or any progressive druggist for 60 cents.

Spray or snuff it into the nostrils, night and morning for a week or until the mucuous has gone and the nostrils are clean and clear.

That's all there is to it—if you really desire to get rid of obnoxious catarrh and the pernicious germs that cause it—start today.

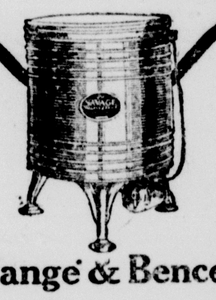

If your Catarrh isn't gone in a week—get your money back.

Koejene is four times as powerful as Carbolic Acid, yet you can drink it with no ill effects. Read the directions for Kojene should be greatly diluted before using—that's what makes it such an inexpensive antiseptic.

Boxing Commission to Decide Upon Dempsey's Opponent

Runyon Says

Savage is a Character.
He Reigns at Mexicala.
The Sailor Fighters.
Bouts Are Well Conducted.
Huffman is the Star.

BY DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.

IN Mexicala, over the Mexican border, a night's ride from Los Angeles, boxing is carried on under picturesque surroundings.

The pugilistic star of the region is one Kid Savage, a short, bulky Serbian heavyweight. Pugilistic authorities who have seen him describe Kid Savage as "tough." That means he is hard to beat.

Savage recently fought Jimmy Byrne, a southpaw heavyweight from the navy who had previously knocked out the Serb. Early in the second battle Byrne broke his hand on the Serb's hard head. The bones were found sticking out of Byrne's hand when the glove was removed after his seconds tossed in a towel.

This Byrne is one who may later be heard from. He is said to be a heavy puncher. He is one of the only two southpaw heavies in the ring. The other is Ed Keeley of Bridgeport, Conn.

Savage does his fighting in Mexicala in an open air arena.

The spectators include Mexicans, both men and women, Americans, Chinese. There are many Chinese around Mexicala. They work in the cotton fields hard by. Cotton is quite an industry in that region.

Mexicala is just across the street from Calexico, which is in the United States. The two towns are practically one. Things are not permitted under our beneficent laws are tolerated in Mexicala. These things include gambling and open drinking.

You may be sure Mexicala is well patronized from the American side.

It has come to be considered quite a novelty by Americans to be able to drink openly. The effect is about the same as drinking secretly.

Kid Savage, the Serb, is the fistic monarch of all he surveys in Mexicala. He struts the streets of the little town with royal mien. His face is a crude map of many different blows.

It seems to the writer that here is a character for fiction or the stage, name and all—Kid Savage, of Mexicala. Can't you just see him?

The Navy boxers go well in Southern California. You see one or more sailors on nearly every card at the local clubs.

Boxing is strongly encouraged on the ships of the Pacific fleet at San Pedro. The Navy has its own boxing champions, produced by a tournament held every year.

The writer recently witnessed a series of elimination bouts on the battleship Mississippi, which boasts the pugilistic pride of the Navy, young Harley Huffman, generally known as Eddie.

Huffman is the All Navy and Pacific Fleet light heavyweight champion, holder of two belts emblematic of his prowess.

He is a blond, serious looking, solidly built boy of nineteen, with magnificent hands and legs. He comes originally from the little town of Hounton, in the state for which the battleship on which he serves is named.

Huffman is now matched to meet the Mexican heavyweight Tony Fuentes, at Doyle's Vernon arena, March 10. He is believed to be the best fighter produced by the Navy since the days of old Tom Sharkey.

When Huffman fares forth to battle ashore hites allors of the Mississippi attend him in force. They have a regular college cheer when he enters the ring, winding up with "Huffman! Huffman! Huffman!"

He has been fighting less than a year, is credited with seventeen knockouts in thirty-one fights. He weighs between 175 and 178 pounds now, but will be bigger and heavier when he is fully matured.

He seems to be a natural puncher with both hands. The sailors say when he started he was about the greenest man that ever poked his head through the ropes. He is now a pretty good boxer, but more on the fighter order when he gets started.

The ring for the elimination bouts witnessed by the writer aboard the Mississippi was pitched on the deck of the battleship which lay at anchor off San Pedro.

It was a picturesque scene. Chairs at the ringside were occupied by officers of the Mississippi, and other ships of the fleet. The sailors in their blue uniforms and white hats were banked in the background and on the gun turrets. The sun was shining. A gentle breeze was blowing. Occasionally the giant ship rolled slightly to the ocean swell and the ring was on a slant.

It was the finest ring the writer has ever seen, neat, solid well elevated. The man who arranged the ring has a sense of the artistic. He had the ring posts padded with old boxing gloves.

They use new boxing gloves for every bout in these tournaments. Each bout consists of six two minute rounds, with the usual minute rest between rounds. There are two judges and a referee, officers from the different ships.

Butterflies Found in Ice.

Butterflies preserved in glacial ice have been found by fishermen in Cordova, Alaska. The men were attracted to their find by the unusual coloring in the iceberg to which they tied their boat. It is supposed the insects were flying to a warmer abode when brought down by storm and imbedded in the ice, then forming

Consider Claims of Gibbons and Wills At Today's Session

Champion Asserts he is Willing to Fight Twice Before Fall and Prefers to Take on Tommy First; Elimination Match Between Two Contenders Discussed by Boxing Heads.

By Larry Smits

NEW YORK, March 3.—Now that Jack Dempsey has made it known that although a bridegroom he is still willing to fight in public, the determination of when and with whom rests with the New York State Athletic Commission. The question will be taken up at the commission's meeting this afternoon and the critics of fisticuffs should have an answer before night to the question which has kept them palpitating for several months.

Both Tom Gibbons of St. Paul and Harry Wills of the waterfront and Harlem are eager to swap socks with the champion and it will rest with the commission whether both or one and which one will have the chance.

Jack, who has been a home-body more than a month now, has said he is willing to fight twice before fall.

If the question is decided in the order that challengers have been received, the brunette stevedore will have the first chance to be slapped by the champion. Paddy Mullins, one of whose favorite habits is posting challenges to Dempsey, had his declaration, backed by a $2,500 forfeit, posted before Eddie Kane spoke up for Gibbons.

Dempsey said he would prefer to meet Gibbons first. He declared his opinion that Gibbons was the better fighter, a belief shared by many of the ring-smart customers who have seen Tom and Harry in their most recent appearances.

The most weighty problem before the wise men of the commission is whether Gibbons and Wills should meet in an elimination match before either has a crack at Dempsey.

This would satisfy the customers but would leave the champion with but one of the two matches he wants before fall.

Tex Rickard, in all probability, would stage the title battle. His equanimity has been no more disturbed by the thought that some one else might get it than by the champion's assertion that his wedding didn't end his fight career.

Horemans Is Winner Over Willie Hoppe

Champ Practically Out; Schaefer Holds Lead.

CHICAGO, March 3.—The international 18.2 balkline billiard tournament went into its final stages today with the title all but awarded to Young Jake Schaefer, whose playing has provided the thrills of the contest.

Willie Hopple, champion, was definitely in the discard as a result of his disastrous defeat by Edouard Horemans, Belgian, last night. Horemans counted 400 in seven innings with a high run of 213 and an average of 56⅔, while Hoppe with difficulty accumulated 36, with 21 as his high run. Hoppe's average was only 5 1-7, making it his second heaviest defeat in his career.

Horeman's victory put him into a tie with Erich Hagenlacher which will be broken this afternoon when the two meet. Hoppe and Schaefer meet tonight and should Hoppe stage a comeback and defeat Schaefer there still remains a possibility of a tie for first place.

There were reports current today that Hoppe's poor showing in the present tournament signalized his withdrawal from the 18.2 lists and his entry to the three cushion field, in which he recently defeated Bob Cannefax, champion. His return match with Cannefax, it has been announced, has been postponed from March 16 to some time in April, to avoid conflict with the schedule of three cushion league.

Sixth Street Beats Garfield In Opening Grade School Clash

McKinley and Neville Passers Play Overtime Contest But Neither Team Scores Further and Clash is Called Draw.

Sixth street downed Garfield, 26 to 6, and McKinley and Neville battled to a 12-12 tie in opening games of the Grade School court league yesterday afternoon. Although an extra five-minute overtime period was tacked on in the latter engagement, neither team was able to score and so the clash was called a draw. The games were staged on the high school floor.

A huge throng of youthful basketball fans, an aggregation of students from the four playing teams, exhorted their favorites on to victory constantly.

The Neville-McKinley clash saw the Neville lads jump into a 4 to 1 lead in the first quarter. The second period was a runaway for the McKinleys, who tallied 10 points and held their foes to the original four. But in the final half Neville came back and outscored McKinley, tying the count in the final minute of play. Reese, Ashbaugh and Carter starred for the McKinleys, while Mackel, Baker and Hall were the chief performers for the losers.

Sixth street had it comparatively easy with the inexperienced Garfield combine, putting the game away in the first half when the count stood 15 to 3. And the second half went the same way. Dorsey, Anthony and Menge played well for the victors, Fullerton, Knight and Heath led the Garfielders. Lineups:

Mountaineers Meet Wesleyan Combine Tomorrow Evening

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 3.—It is no secret that the West Virginia University quint intends to fight its hardest tomorrow evening when it meets West Virginia Wesleyan college on the home court of the Methodists at Buckhannon, W. Va.

If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

BUCLEADER EXPECTS TO FINISH IN MONEY

Declares Pirates Gained Strength in Deal With Chicago.

By J. R. Connor, Jr.

PITTSBURGH, March 3.—The vagaries of a major league baseball season are too many and varied to justify any man in venturing an advance guess, William B. ("Bill") McKechnie, skipper of the Pirate crew, said in answer to a request for an expression of opinion on his team's chances to win the 1925 the National league pennant.

"You can count on the Pirates finishing in the money," the Pittsburgh manager declared. "We have a good team, with the veterans of several seasons to balance the pep of the fast youngsters, from Chicago and minor league teams.

"I know that we ought to finish at least third, but it may be that a month of bad luck from injuries or a slump will smash our hopes."

Is Enthusiastic.

The Buccaneer boss was enthusiastic over the results he expected from the trade Barney Dreyfuss made with the Cubs, fiving Maranville, Cooper and Grimm to Chicago in exchange for Aldrich, Niehous and Grantham.

"The trade is going to help us a lot this season, but it will be a potential pennant factor in two or three more seasons, for two of the three players from Chicago are on the upgrade now," McKechnie said. "The Pirates have already gotten more than ten seasons of good service from Cooper, and I don't think we could count on him to help us much longer than two or three more years."

McKechnie had only praise and high hopes for the young players he nursed along last year and for the new ones coming to the training camp this year. Eddie Moore, the second baseman from Atlanta who showed so well in 1924, is almost assured the regular secondbase berth this year, McKechnie believes.

Praises Rookies.

"Al Niehaus will also help us in the pennant fight," the manager said. "He was sought after by many teams as one of the ablest players in the minors last year. Louis Kounahi, the pitcher we get from Omaha, and Don Songer, the Oaklahoma City southpaw, are both natural players who will win many games for the Pirates. All of our regulars have reported, either by mail or telegraph, that they are rounding into excellent form. Carson Bigbee, who plans a comeback, may be played at first base: Pie Trainor feels good for another big season, and Glenn Wright, who broke all records for accepting chances last year, will more than adequately cover up at shortstop."

Even Babe Adams, hero of the Pittsburgh-Detroit world's series of 1909, is limbering up for what McKechnie hopes will be Pittsburgh's greatest season in a decade.

"After beating Chicago 2 to 1 in extra innings in the last game we played in 1924, Charles writes me that his arm feels better than it has felt for years, so the Babe can be expected to give much assistance," McKechnie added.

Syracuse Baseball Team Faces Hardest Schedule in Years

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 3.—Faced with a schedule of twenty-one hard games—the most difficult program attempted in recent years by a Syracuse 'varsity baseball team—Coach Lew Carter will leave Syracuse for the South on April 8, with a squad of fifteen men, it was announced today. He will carry five infielders, five outfielders, three pitchers and two catchers. The party will go direct to Blacksburgh, Va., where it will open its season's campaign on April 10 against Virginia Polytechnic Institute. PLANS COMPLETED FOR CHURCH MEET

Plans have been completed for a get-together meeting tomorrow evening in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. The affair will be for members and their families and will be in the form of a reception for new members who were received into the church during the recent revival campaign conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. L. Culp. There will be no prayer meeting services.

Woman Faces Trial.

Mary Hubbard of Midland will be tried at the term of court which opened Monday at Beaver for the alleged slaying of her husband, who died as a result of gunshot wounds in the East Liverpool City hospital February 13. The two, it is said, quarreled in a restaurant and during the struggle for the possession of a revolver the man was mortally wounded.

FOUR SHOP MEETS HELD HERE TODAY

Evangelist I. M. Ellis, who is conducting meetings in the Nazarene church, spoke at the noon shop meeting today in the Laughlin plant. Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the church, was the leader. Rev. A. L. Duncan, Rev. J. L. Culp and Evangelist W. H. Schwinfurth were the speakers in the Louthan, Trenle and Harker plants. Revs. W. C. Stokes, J. O. Archer and A. H. O'Brien were the respective leaders.

Board Meeting Tonight.

Official board of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening in the church parlors. Routine business will be transacted.

Official Board.

Number of business matters were discussed last evening at a meeting of the official board of the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ.

Fish Beneath Sahara Desert.

Live fish and some forms of shell fish have been found 200 feet below the burning sands of the Sahara desert by artesian well borers. The fish are similar to those inhabiting the lakes of Palestine. The discovery indicates a peculiar geological history and researchers are trying to account for it.

On Her Feet All Day But Keeps Away Corns

Hear Her Method

Mrs. E. M. Roe writes us from 1061 Hollywood Ave., Chicago, as follows:

"My household duties keep me on my feet most of the day. I suppose I must walk a mile or so in the apartment. I consider 'Blue-jay' my greatest aid. Whenever I have found it hard to go about my work because a corn hurt, I have gone to the nearest druggist and bought 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters. They have never failed to relieve me."

"Blue-jay" Plasters give instant relief, for the soft felt ring encircles the corn and removes the shoe pressure, thus stopping the pain at once. Within this ring is the wonder-working "Blue-jay" preparation discovered by a famous chemist. Not too much—not too little—just the prescribed amount to remove the corn gently. An adhesive strip keeps the preparation on the corn and nowhere else. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. Some stubborn corns require a second plaster.

We make a liquid "Blue-jay" too, but we recommend the Plasters. A liquid cannot remove shoe pressure, or be confined to the corn alone. Hence it's hard to regulate the dose. Don't risk blood poisoning by paring corns yourself. Get six safe sure "Blue-jay" Plasters, 25c. So much in demand all druggists sell them. Then please write us your experience. "Blue-jay" Laboratories, Chicago, Ill.

SERGEANT MAJOR JIGGS AND HIS MASTER, CARTOONIST GEO. McMANUS

The pride of the United States Marine corps is "Sergeant Major Jiggs." He is known wherever the "Devil Dogs" foregather on any of the seven seas, for "Jiggs" is the mascot of the corps. Recently he was one of the outstanding attractions at the annual dog show of the Westminster Kennel club at Madison Square Garden, New York. It was on this occasion that "Sergeant Jiggs" received the thrill that comes once in a lifetime: he was introduced to George McManus, the famous artist who is the creator of the inimitable "Jiggs" of the most popular comic strip in the world, "Bringing Up Father." At the solicitation of the multitude of "Jiggs" and "Maggie" enthusiasts who were following Mr. McManus about the Garden, the artist consented to have his picture taken with "Sregeant Major Jiggs" for preservation in the records of the Marine Corps. So here we have the bulldog pride of the "leathernecks" looking his handsomest because he knows that his picture is being taken with the artist who draws the most popular comic strip in the world.

Bebe Daniels Wins Praise in Picture, "Dangerous Money"

Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring picture, "Dangerous Money," which opened last night at the Ceramic theatre and will be shown again Wednesday matinee and night, once again proves the truth of the old saying that "money is the root of all evil" As long as Adele Clark was a miserable little drudge in her aunt's dingy boarding house, she was contented to bask in the sunshine of Tim Sullivan's love. The minute Fortune favored her, Adele's troubles began and her romance with Tim received a rude shock.

"Dangerous Money," which Julie Herne adapted from Robert Herrick's gripping novel, "Clark's Field," is a study in vivid contrasts and picturesque backgrounds, ranging from the Brooklyn water-front to a villain Italy. All those subtle touches of humor and pathos that were ingrained in the story have been cleverly brought out in the photoplay, and the result is a picture, full of heart interest, that is bound to appeal to the overwhelming majority of film fans.

Miss Daniels gives a performance little short of marvelous. Her sincerity, vivacity and personality are invaluable assets and stamp her as one of the most talented, if newst, of our screen luminaries.

When it comes to playing the part of a young and handsome Irish contractor, three is none who fits the bill more admirably than Tom Moore, and Tom proves it by giving a characteristically fine performance. William Powell, as the suave villain, and Dolores Cassinelli, round out an excellent supporting cast.

To Frank Tuttle, who directed, goes a generous slice of credit. This picture marks his directorial debut, and if it's a sample of what he can do, we hasten to add, "Bring on the rest."

Carburetor Catches Mouse.

R. A. Poteat of Danville, Va., found that his automobile engine failed to respond to the usual coaxing recently, and when he lifted the hood to ascertain the trouble, discovered a mouse caught in the carburetor. The animal had apparently entered by way of the exhaust pipe and crawled through the intake manifold into the carburetor.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

MOTHER, TWO TOTS DIE IN FIRE

50,000 WILL WITNESS QUADRENNIAL DRAMA OF GOVERNMENTAL CHANGES

Note of Concern is Struck by Weather Bureau's Latest Forecast, "Cloudy and Cold," When Calvin Coolidge and Gen. Charles G. Dawes Pass Down Pennsylvania Avenue.

RAINY FORENOON WOULD PUT SEVERE DAMPER ON WASHINGTON PROGRAM

White House Party is Complete With Arrival of Col. John C. Coolidge Who Will Have Been One of Few Americans to Have Witnessed His Son's Formal Inauguration.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Thousands of inaugural visitors poured into the national capital today to witness the quadrennial drama of a change in administrations tomorrow.

Led by nearly a score of state governors and executives, the visitors came in by train and by auto, filling the hotels to capacity. By tomorrow, when Calvin Coolidge and General Charles G. Dawes pass down Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the capitol, there will be upward of 50,000 people thronging the plaza and the wooden stands along the line of march, according to estimates made today by inaugural officials.

Save for the transactions of routine business by clerks and secretaries, little government activity was carried on in the various departments today. Party leaders from all parts of the country made the rounds, calling on cabinet officers. There were impromptu receptions everywhere. At the capitol itself, the visitors were treated to the spectacle of congress in its death throes with all the traditional confusion and chaos that go with a dying session.

Woman Governor Arrives.

Today's milling throng differed somewhat from inaugural crowds in other years in that the hordes of jobseekers that descend on the capital every four years in search of berths, were absent, for President Coolidge is carrying on with largely the same personnel that has served him in recent months and what vacancies there have been have been filled.

The White House inaugural party was completed today with the arrival of Col. John C. Coolidge, the President's father, who will have been one of the few Americans to have witnessed his son's being formally inaugurated. Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Lamira Goodhue, of Northampton, Mass., already is at the mansion, and John Coolidge, the president's son, arrived from college today to complete the family gathering.

The in-coming governors were headed this morning by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, governor of Wyoming. Others scheduled to arrive during the day and early tomorrow morning were the governors of New Hampshire, Con-

RADIO PLANS FOR INAUGURAL

President's Address Will be Heard by 20,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Twenty million Americans will hear ceremonies attending the inaguration of Calvin Coolidge as thirtieth president of the United States tomorrow.

By means of the greatest radio hookup ever attempted, the words of President Coolidge, as he sounds the keynote of his administration in his inaugural address, will be carried to the farthest corners of the land.

Details of the gigantic station inter-connection project were completed today by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. And the radio corporation of America.

Pending the rebuilding of the business structures, wiped out by fire Sunday, February 22, Moyer Brothers, Lewis Brothers and the Milligan Hardware & Supply company today completed arrangements for temporary quarters.

Situation Slips Beyond Control of Leaders as Conflicting Factions Ignore All Appeals for Unity of Action.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—With adjournment 24 hours away, the dying sixty-eighth congress staggered through a legislative mire today, hopelessly deadlocked by warring factions.

A free-for-all battle was staged in the senate where administration leaders abandoned their program and stood aside while a dozen factions fought to force enactment of their pet measures. The house meanwhile assumed the role of a spectator, patiently marking time in the faint hope that some legislation might emerge from the senatorial jam.

The situation slipped beyond control of both Republican and Democratic leaders and the conflicting factions ignored all appeals for unity of action. A dozen filibusters were threatened by groups which refused to yield a legislative inch to any of the opposing cliques. As a result, the jam was such that a single senator held the power to block all legislation by merely holding the floor to the exclusion of all business.

Appropriation Bill At Stake.

Administration leaders centered on a single task, that of finally enacting the second deficiency appropriation bill, which was sent back to conference because the house eliminated $7,980,000 appropriation for new federal buildings. If this measure can be passed over the jam, the administration will have removed the last possible obstacle to prompt adjournment of Congress tomorrow noon. If it fails, the loss of this appropriation may force the calling of a special session although the president might meet the deficiency by the transfer of other government funds.

The legislative jam hit farmers, bankers, business men, government

NEW YORK, March 3.—Mrs. Elsie Carroll, 33, her daughter, Ruth, 6, and her son, John, 8, were burned to death and a dozen persons injured, two of them seriously, in a fire which destroyed a five-story brick tenement in Brooklyn today.

A six-year-old boy, Louis Labruyere, was thrown from a third floor window by his mother who became panic-stricken. The child sustained a broken arm and leg.

Six firemen and a policeman were overcome by smoke.

Men, women and children in the burning building were carried down fire escapes and across adjoining roofs to safety. Families in nearby buildings were forced into the wintry cold by the rapid spread of the flames, which were confined to the tenement, however.

BOOST REWARD IN GLENN CASE

Stepfather Offers $100 for Recovery of Missing Girl.

Ralph Branson, step-father of 17-year-old Margaret Glenn, who mysteriously disappeared last Tuesday evening, today, increased the $50 reward, offered for information leading to the recovery of the girl, dead or alive, to $100.

Police, who conducted a search for the girl, express the belief that, if she is alive, she is not in East Liverpool. Members of the missing girl's family refuse to accept the suicide or murder theory, but believe that the girl-bride was kidnaped and is being held a prisoner.

Members and friends of the Second Baptist church, with which the missing girl and her parents are affiliated adopted the following resolution at the Sunday night service as an expression of sympathy:

"Be it resolved that we, the officers members and friends of the Second Baptist church do most sincerely deplore the disappearance and mystery surrounding the absence or loss of Margaret Glenn.

"Be it further resolved in case the parents decide to make an investigation by legal process, that we do hereby pledge our honor to their support, both financially and otherwise, as far as it be within our power to do so. A prayer in petition to the Almighty in their behalf is also offered as our panacea in their hour of inexpressible agony and suspense."

ROBBER FLEES FROM OHIO PRISON; LIBERTY LASTS ONLY FEW MINUTES

Burton Carter, Greenville, Captured by Columbus Carpenter After he Smashes Through Gates With Truck.

COLUMBUS, March 3. — Smashing through the Spring street gates with a motor truck, Burton Carter, Greenville, serving a 25-year sentence for robbery, escaped from the penitentiary this morning. His liberty lasted only a few minutes. He was captured by C. F. Bittac, a local carpenter, who took him back into the big prison. Bittac received a $50 reward for his services.

Carter was working in the woolen mills inside the prison walls. Noting a truck nearby, he jumped into it and ran it through the closed gates while prison guards fired at him. None of the bullets hit Carter.

Leaping out of the truck, Carter made a dash for freedom, with prison officials giving chase. Attracted by the cries of the pursuers, Bittac, who was paassing the penitentiary, joined the chase and unarmed caught Carter near the railroad tracks, a short distance from the big prison.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT DENIES U. S. LOSSES IN BOGUS LIBERTY BONDS

Mellon's Statement, to be Given to President, Flatly Contradicts Charges Made by Congressional Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Vigorous denial that the government has lost any appreciable sum by the cashing of Liberty and other bonds, fraudulently issued in duplicate, was made at the Treasury department today. The Treasury's denial was in flat contradiction to sensational charges contained in the official report of a congressional investigating committee, which late yesterday declared there had been widespread duplication of government bonds, and falsification of records in the Treasury to conceal the speculations.

While the congressional report did not estimate the sum supposed to have been lost by the government, committee members said it might range from $5,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon prepared a formal letter to President Coolidge today, refuting the charges of the investigating committee of congress. It will be made public later.

Report is Sensation.

Instead of losses aggregating millions of dollars, as charged by the congressional committee, the treasury said that there had been only minor duplicates and loss in the handling of Liberty loan issues, which approximated $20,000,000 and total loss to the government would be slightly in

Situation Slips Beyond Control of Leaders as Conflicting Factions Ignore All Appeals for Unity of Action.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—With adjournment 24 hours away, the dying sixty-eighth congress staggered through a legislative mire today, hopelessly deadlocked by warring factions.

A free-for-all battle was staged in the senate where administration leaders abandoned their program and stood aside while a dozen factions fought to force enactment of their pet measures. The house meanwhile assumed the role of a spectator, patiently marking time in the faint hope that some legislation might emerge from the senatorial jam.

The situation slipped beyond control of both Republican and Democratic leaders and the conflicting factions ignored all appeals for unity of action. A dozen filibusters were threatened by groups which refused to yield a legislative inch to any of the opposing cliques. As a result, the jam was such that a single senator held the power to block all legislation by merely holding the floor to the exclusion of all business.

Appropriation Bill At Stake.

Administration leaders centered on a single task, that of finally enacting the second deficiency appropriation bill, which was sent back to conference because the house eliminated $7,980,000 appropriation for new federal buildings. If this measure can be passed over the jam, the administration will have removed the last possible obstacle to prompt adjournment of Congress tomorrow noon. If it fails, the loss of this appropriation may force the calling of a special session although the president might meet the deficiency by the transfer of other government funds.

The legislative jam hit farmers, bankers, business men, government

"Not only is Summit county affected by this matter, but the entire state is interested in clearing up situations of this kind," the governor said.

GUILFORD DAM PARK PROPOSAL VOTE PROMISED

Columbiana County Measure Ready for Roll Call.

EMMONS VISITOR

Plan Discussed at Meeting of County Sportsmen.

The proposed Guilford dam state park project for Columbiana county, already approved by the house finance committee, probably will come up for a vote in the house of representatives this week, State Representative Ralph W. Emmons of East Rochester told a committee of the Columbiana County and Game Protective association during a week-end visit, it was announced today.

A report of this committee, consisting of C. W. Zimmerman and John L. King of Salem, was given at a meeting of the county association in the court house at Lisbon last evening. Emmons, with the two Salem men, visited the site of the proposed park last Saturday, when the representative gave assurance that the bill would be approved at this session of the legislature.

Frightened Mother Throws Boy From Third Floor Window.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Mrs. Elsie Carroll, 33, her daughter, Ruth, 6, and her son, John, 8, were burned to death and a dozen persons injured, two of them seriously, in a fire which destroyed a five-story brick tenement in Brooklyn today.

A six-year-old boy, Louis Labruyere, was thrown from a third floor window by his mother who became panic-stricken. The child sustained a broken arm and leg.

Six firemen and a policeman were overcome by smoke.

Men, women and children in the burning building were carried down fire escapes and across adjoining roofs to safety. Families in nearby buildings were forced into the wintry cold by the rapid spread of the flames, which were confined to the tenement, however.

BOOST REWARD IN GLENN CASE

Stepfather Offers $100 for Recovery of Missing Girl.

Ralph Branson, step-father of 17-year-old Margaret Glenn, who mysteriously disappeared last Tuesday evening, today, increased the $50 reward, offered for information leading to the recovery of the girl, dead or alive, to $100.

Police, who conducted a search for the girl, express the belief that, if she is alive, she is not in East Liverpool. Members of the missing girl's family refuse to accept the suicide or murder theory, but believe that the girl-bride was kidnaped and is being held a prisoner.

Members and friends of the Second Baptist church, with which the missing girl and her parents are affiliated adopted the following resolution at the Sunday night service as an expression of sympathy:

"Be it resolved that we, the officers members and friends of the Second Baptist church do most sincerely deplore the disappearance and mystery surrounding the absence or loss of Margaret Glenn.

"Be it further resolved in case the parents decide to make an investigation by legal process, that we do hereby pledge our honor to their support, both financially and otherwise, as far as it be within our power to do so. A prayer in petition to the Almighty in their behalf is also offered as our panacea in their hour of inexpressible agony and suspense."

ROBBER FLEES FROM OHIO PRISON; LIBERTY LASTS ONLY FEW MINUTES

Burton Carter, Greenville, Captured by Columbus Carpenter After he Smashes Through Gates With Truck.

COLUMBUS, March 3. — Smashing through the Spring street gates with a motor truck, Burton Carter, Greenville, serving a 25-year sentence for robbery, escaped from the penitentiary this morning. His liberty lasted only a few minutes. He was captured by C. F. Bittac, a local carpenter, who took him back into the big prison. Bittac received a $50 reward for his services.

Carter was working in the woolen mills inside the prison walls. Noting a truck nearby, he jumped into it and ran it through the closed gates while prison guards fired at him. None of the bullets hit Carter.

Leaping out of the truck, Carter made a dash for freedom, with prison officials giving chase. Attracted by the cries of the pursuers, Bittac, who was paassing the penitentiary, joined the chase and unarmed caught Carter near the railroad tracks, a short distance from the big prison.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT DENIES U. S. LOSSES IN BOGUS LIBERTY BONDS

Mellon's Statement, to be Given to President, Flatly Contradicts Charges Made by Congressional Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Vigorous denial that the government has lost any appreciable sum by the cashing of Liberty and other bonds, fraudulently issued in duplicate, was made at the Treasury department today. The Treasury's denial was in flat contradiction to sensational charges contained in the official report of a congressional investigating committee, which late yesterday declared there had been widespread duplication of government bonds, and falsification of records in the Treasury to conceal the speculations.

While the congressional report did not estimate the sum supposed to have been lost by the government, committee members said it might range from $5,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon prepared a formal letter to President Coolidge today, refuting the charges of the investigating committee of congress. It will be made public later.

Report is Sensation.

Instead of losses aggregating millions of dollars, as charged by the congressional committee, the treasury said that there had been only minor duplicates and loss in the handling of Liberty loan issues, which approximated $20,000,000 and total loss to the government would be slightly in

GERMANY READY TO PAY HOMAGE TO LATE CHIEF

Fir Wreaths, Draped in Black, Decorate Berlin.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY

Body Will be Taken to Heidelberg on Wednesday.

BERLIN, Mar. 3—Germany prepared today to bid a dignified farewell to her first President at the formal funeral ceremonies here tomorrow.

The streets through which the cortege of Friedrich Ebert will pass enroute from the palace were decorated with fir wreaths draped in black. Half a dozen 50-foot flagpoles, flying the Republican colors, have been erected in front of the station from which the body will be taken to Heidelberg, the famous old university town, where President Ebert will be laid to rest among the scenes of his boyhood.

A school holiday has been ordered in Berlin for Thursday morning. German trade unions have issued a manifesto, arranging for a 15-minute pause in all work at the hour of the interment ceremony in Heidelberg tomorrow.

Wreaths From Dignitaries.

Among the innumerable wreaths from Monarchs, presidents and dignitaries of foreign countries was a big fir wreath entwined with lilacs from the American embassy. The office of S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, sent a lilac wreath with roses.

Enemies of the dead president continued their attacks as the funeral plans went forward.

Rote Fahne, "The Red Flag" organ of the German Communists, under the headline, "Workers and Presidential Elections," assailed Ebert as "The Agent of Monarchists and the White Generals Who Saved Capitalist Germany From Bolshevism.

Plans for rebuilding have not been completed by the owners of the three sites pending a settlement from the insurance companies. Work of clearing the ground, however, is progressing under the direction of Peter Millfron, local contractor. Six weeks or more will be required to remove the debris. As a precautionary move to protect pedestrians, owners of the Wasbutzky building have fenced off the sidewalk in front of the ruins of their structure.

Volunteer Firemen Paid

D. J. Connor and T. Hayes White, state fire marshals, were in the city today, resuming their probe of the blaze. Insurance adjusters expect to complete their work within the next few days.

Volunteers, who assisted East Liverpool fire fighters and the Chester volunteer department in combating the blaze, have been paid for their services, Fire Chief Bryan declared today. Approximately 25 volunteers, who aided in manning the hose while the fire was at its height and worked throughout a greater part of Sunday, have been paid $10 each from an emergency fire department fund, it was stated.

The speaker discussed the need of preserving American forests. He declared that millions of acres of waste lands in the United States are idle, whereas they might be used for growing trees to meet the country's future lumber needs.

While Ohio is generally regarded as an agricultural state, the speaker asserted lumber is being used five times faster than it is being grown, and that if all imports of lumber into this state halted there would be sufficient supply to last but six years.

The situation might well be remedied by planting acres upon acres of hillside and waste lands in forests and limiting the lumber production to the trees which reach maturity each year, he declared. Lumber in Europe, he said, is a luxury while in America it is being used for fuel purposes and wasted in other ways.

A note of concern was struck today by the weather bureau. On Saturday, the forcaster predicted a fair, sunshiny day, but this morning he was not so sure. The latest forecast is for cloudy, cold weather, with a possibility of rain. A rainy forenoon would put a severe damper on the festivities and decimate the crowds.

Guilford Dam

mous approval of the house finance committee, appropriates $32,500 with which to purchase 500 acres for the proposed state park site.

Plan Fish Hatchery

As soon as the legislation is enacted it is the plan of the county sportsmen to establish a fish hatchery upon the site. The gap in the dam, which was made many years ago after the proposed Sandy and Beaver canal failed to materialize, will be closed this spring. Approximately one year will be required for the dam to fill and permit its stocking with fish.

The association is arranging for the publication of a descriptive folder, containing views and a history of the proposed canal and the future of the site. This folder is being completed by Lisbon members.

The county association also discussed plans for the annual picnic and appointed a committee consisting of J. S. Lambing, Wellsville, chairman; C. S. Chisolm, Salem, secretary; H. S. Switzer, East Palestine; H. R. Randall, Lisbon; L. H. Whinnery, Guilford, and J. C. Miller, East Liverpool, to set a date and make other plans for the affair.

The East Liverpool-Wellsville contingent will give a smoker, to be followed by refreshments, at their regular meeting in the Fowler building Thursday evening. Sportsmen interested in the proposed state park and fish hatchery are invited to attend.

workers, old soldiers and the common citizen alike.

This lack of favoritism was demonstrated in the death of such legislation as all farm relief measures, the McFadden National Banking act, the omnibus public building bill, the government reorganization and federal retirements acts, the Bursum omnibus pension bill and such sectional measures as the Underwood Muscle Shoals and Cape Cod ship canal bills.

May Enact Two Bills.

There was a possibility that the $43,000,000 Rivers and Harbors bill and the mutilated Crampton Prohibition bill would slip through the jam to final enactment. This concession was made possible because both measures have passed the house and senate and the approval of conference reports will be the last legislative step.

The end will come late tonight when a recess will be taken until 11 o'clock tomorrow when the sixty-eighth congress will die amid the traditional ceremonies in the senate chamber. Shortly thereafter the sixty-ninth congress will come into existence when the senate reconvenes in special session to confirm presidential appointments.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 3.—Vigorous forward movements in prices took place in the early trading today in the railroad, motor and oil stocks. With the market plunged forward as soon these three major groups as leaders as trading was resumed today, many of the active stocks establishing higher price records at the opening.

High priced industrial stocks took their place in the forefront of the advance, American Can selling above 183 and cast iron pipe up 10 points to 241, was only 9 points below its record high.

The major influence behind the buoyant move in the stock market was general relief felt in Wall Street and elsewhere at the approaching close of the short session of congress and the prospect of a long period free from political bickering and the consideration of legislative attacks on business. Buying orders for the principal railroad, motor and oil stocks surged into the market and tranactions in the first hour were very heavy. Uneasiness in the St. Paul situation, as evidenced by the heavy selling of its stocks and bonds at steadily declining prices was the most pronounced unsettling factor in the market.

Buying of the oils was discriminating and only a few stocks were strong enough to show any advance. The list included Simms, Sinclair, Barnsdale, and Central Petroleum, while Cosden, Shell Union and other leaders in last week's rally, hung around the old level.

Both the French Franc and the Italian lire dropped to new low quotations for the current year; sterling exchange also was irregular. May wheat opened nearly 2 cents a bushel higher in the Chicago market and other grains were up fractionally; cotton irregular. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent. Business reports were unchanged but Wall Street rumors linked up a number of prominent industrial corporations with dividend increases or special disbursements to stock holders in the near future.

Advances of 2 to 10 points were recorded in a number of the high priced industrial leaders in this period. General Electric moved up 3 points; cast iron pipe was up 10; American Can touched new high ground above 183. Mack Trucks was up 3; Baldwin up 1½; American Locomotive 1½.

A movement in the northwest railroads, which have been inactive of late, sent prices up 1 to 2 points. Northern Pacific gained 2 at 71½; Great Northern preferred 1⅞ at 70¾; Chicago and Northwestern 1 at 70¾.

excess of $13,000. A few bonds were stolen from the treasury and re-sold to the government, it was admitted, but were in small denominations and represented petty thievery instead of a gigantic robbery as charged by the committee.

The report of the congressional committee caused a genuine sensation at the treasury and throughout government departments. Among other things the majority report alleged:

1—That there has been widespread bond duplication.

2—That the treasury has been evasive and contradictory in attempting to explain the matter.

3—That treasury records have been falsified.

4—That questionable methods have been followed in paying bonds and keeping books.

5—That "substantial losses" to the government have been incurred.

6—That the treasury has been "indifferent" to bond duplication.

7—That the treasury's own records are so conflicting that it is impossible to determine just how much has been lost.

fore the national Capitol virtually will be within earshot of the nation.

Particular attention has been given to the inter-connections in the inauguration marks the beginning of more frequent hook-ups that will place the wide agricultural and industrial regions between the Appalachians and the Rockies within hearing distance of affairs at the national capital and other eastern cities.

The hook-up from "WEAF" follows: Eastern States: WEET, Boston; WJAR, Providence; WTIC, Hartford; Conn; WOO, Philadelphia; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WJR, Buffalo; WFBL, Syracuse; WSB, Atlanta, and WCTS, Worcester, Mass.

Middle West: WEAR, Cleveland; WLW, Cincinnati; WWJ, Detroit; WMAQ, Chicago; WDAF, Kansas City; WHO, Des Moines; WCCO, Minneapolis and KLZ, Denver.

Pacific Coast: KSJ, Los Angeles; KPO, San Francisco; and KLX, Oakland, Cal.

Broadcasting Starts at Noon.

Broadcasting will start about 12 mid day Wednesday. Six miscrophones will be placed on the speakers' stand from which the address will be made. Two miscrophones will be used by WEAF, two by WRC, and two for the loud speaker connections which will carry the words to the crowds assembled at the capitol.

Graham McNamee, who broadcast the last world series for the Chesapeake and Potomac company, will open the radio inaugural program by a description of the events within the senate chamber when Charles G. Dawes is innaugurated as vice-president.

Over the radio will go a visulization of the scenes about the capital, a description of the crowd, a birdseye view of Washington's inaugural ceremonies and the concert of the United States marine band climaxed by "Hail to the Chief," as President Coolidge approaches the inaugural stand.

After the cheers, of the crowd die away, the radio listeners will hear the words of Chief Justice William Taft as he administers the oath of office to the president.

President Coolidge's address probably will be heard by ten times as many persons as every listened to the voice of a speaker. Other extensive radio inter-connections have not been on the wide scope as that arranged for tomorrow.

BORGLUM SAYS CHARGES ARE 'SMOKE SCREEN'

"Opponents Clouding Their Own Deficiencies," Claim.

WILL FACE COURT

Confederate Memorial Discussed When he Visits Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Mar. 3—"The charges against me are merely a smoke screen created by my opponents to cloud their own dificiencies," Gutzon Borglum, noted New York sculptor, declared upon his arrival here today to fill a speaking date.

"I will appear in Greensboro, N. C., Saturday to answer the charge made against me there," Borglum continued.

Borglum was in high good humor upon his arrival.

Upon reaching the hall in a Cleveland suburb, where he was to make a luncheon address, he was immediately called to the telephone and talked to friends in Boston for about 15 minutes. He said that this had reference to his defense which will be fully shown when the hearing is held in Greensboro next Saturday.

"The smoke screen," Borglum continued, "was created very quickly to prevent execution of my threat that I would have the affairs of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association fully investigated at the next meeting of the board. I was removed before that threat could be carried into effect.

"The fight has just begun, and I am sure that before the last shot is fired, the South will have its memorial, the wastage of the funds subscribed by friends from all parts of the United States will have stopped and the right of an artist to his own ideas will have been judiciously established."

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 3—Hollings N. Randolph, President of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, today caustically replied to Gutzon Borglum's statement in New York that he was dismissed because he had "served notice on the executive committee of the association of his intention to demand an accounting of the committee's stewardship of the memorial's funds."

Randolph asserted that Borglum had created $220,000 in debts during the seven years he was engaged as sculptor in charge of building the memorial at Stone Mountain.

GERMANY READY TO PAY HOMAGE TO LATE CHIEF

Fir Wreaths, Draped in Black, Decorate Berlin.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY

Body Will be Taken to Heidelberg on Wednesday.

BERLIN, Mar. 3—Germany prepared today to bid a dignified farewell to her first President at the formal funeral ceremonies here tomorrow.

The streets through which the cortege of Friedrich Ebert will pass enroute from the palace were decorated with fir wreaths draped in black. Half a dozen 50-foot flagpoles, flying the Republican colors, have been erected in front of the station from which the body will be taken to Heidelberg, the famous old university town, where President Ebert will be laid to rest among the scenes of his boyhood.

A school holiday has been ordered in Berlin for Thursday morning. German trade unions have issued a manifesto, arranging for a 15-minute pause in all work at the hour of the interment ceremony in Heidelberg tomorrow.

Wreaths From Dignitaries.

Among the innumerable wreaths from Monarchs, presidents and dignitaries of foreign countries was a big fir wreath entwined with lilacs from the American embassy. The office of S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, sent a lilac wreath with roses.

Enemies of the dead president continued their attacks as the funeral plans went forward.

Rote Fahne, "The Red Flag" organ of the German Communists, under the headline, "Workers and Presidential Elections," assailed Ebert as "The Agent of Monarchists and the White Generals Who Saved Capitalist Germany From Bolshevism.

space has been secured in one of the local potteries.

Plans for rebuilding have not been completed by the owners of the three sites pending a settlement from the insurance companies. Work of clearing the ground, however, is progressing under the direction of Peter Millfron, local contractor. Six weeks or more will be required to remove the debris. As a precautionary move to protect pedestrians, owners of the Wasbutzky building have fenced off the sidewalk in front of the ruins of their structure.

Volunteer Firemen Paid

D. J. Connor and T. Hayes White, state fire marshals, were in the city today, resuming their probe of the blaze. Insurance adjusters expect to complete their work within the next few days.

Volunteers, who assisted East Liverpool fire fighters and the Chester volunteer department in combating the blaze, have been paid for their services, Fire Chief Bryan declared today. Approximately 25 volunteers, who aided in manning the hose while the fire was at its height and worked throughout a greater part of Sunday, have been paid $10 each from an emergency fire department fund, it was stated.

The speaker discussed the need of preserving American forests. He declared that millions of acres of waste lands in the United States are idle, whereas they might be used for growing trees to meet the country's future lumber needs.

While Ohio is generally regarded as an agricultural state, the speaker asserted lumber is being used five times faster than it is being grown, and that if all imports of lumber into this state halted there would be sufficient supply to last but six years.

The situation might well be remedied by planting acres upon acres of hillside and waste lands in forests and limiting the lumber production to the trees which reach maturity each year, he declared. Lumber in Europe, he said, is a luxury while in America it is being used for fuel purposes and wasted in other ways.

necticut, Delaware, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Maryland, Colorado, North Carolina, Lieutenant-Governor Lowman, of New York will represent Gov. Smith and Lieutenant-Governor Sterling, of Illionis, will act for Gov. Small.

Various Receptions.

Various receptions and entertainments are being held, a governors ball at the Congressional Country club tonight and an unofficial inaugural ball tomorrow night. President Coolidge will take part in none of these social diversions.

A note of concern was struck today by the weather bureau. On Saturday, the forcaster predicted a fair, sunshiny day, but this morning he was not so sure. The latest forecast is for cloudy, cold weather, with a possibility of rain. A rainy forenoon would put a severe damper on the festivities and decimate the crowds.

Guilford Dam

mous approval of the house finance committee, appropriates $32,500 with which to purchase 500 acres for the proposed state park site.

Plan Fish Hatchery

As soon as the legislation is enacted it is the plan of the county sportsmen to establish a fish hatchery upon the site. The gap in the dam, which was made many years ago after the proposed Sandy and Beaver canal failed to materialize, will be closed this spring. Approximately one year will be required for the dam to fill and permit its stocking with fish.

The association is arranging for the publication of a descriptive folder, containing views and a history of the proposed canal and the future of the site. This folder is being completed by Lisbon members.

The county association also discussed plans for the annual picnic and appointed a committee consisting of J. S. Lambing, Wellsville, chairman; C. S. Chisolm, Salem, secretary; H. S. Switzer, East Palestine; H. R. Randall, Lisbon; L. H. Whinnery, Guilford, and J. C. Miller, East Liverpool to set a date and make other plans for the affair.

The East Liverpool-Wellsville contingent will give a smoker, to be followed by refreshments, at their regular meeting in the Fowler building Thursday evening. Sportsmen interested in the proposed state park and fish hatchery are invited to attend.

Dying Congress Staggers

workers, old soldiers and the common citizen alike.

This lack of favoritism was demonstrated in the death of such legislation as all farm relief measures, the McFadden National Banking act, the omnibus public building bill, the government reorganization and federal retirements acts, the Bursum omnibus pension bill and such sectional measures as the Underwood Muscle Shoals and Cape Cod ship canal bills.

May Enact Two Bills.

There was a possibility that the $43,000,000 Rivers and Harbors bill and the mutilated Crampton Prohibition bill would slip through the jam to final enactment. This concession was made possible because both measures have passed the house and senate and the approval of conference reports will be the last legislative step.

The end will come late tonight when a recess will be taken until 11 o'clock tomorrow when the sixty-eighth congress will die amid the traditional ceremonies in the senate chamber. Shortly thereafter the sixty-ninth congress will come into existence when the senate reconvenes in special session to confirm presidential appointments.

Suspected Plotters Arrested.

LONDON, March 3.—Two men were arrested in Lemberg, charged with planning to blow up a powder magazine, according to a dispatch from Vienna today. Russian documents and money were found at the homes of the prisoners, the dispatch added.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 3.—Vigorous forward movements in prices took place in the early trading today in the railroad, motor and oil stocks. With the market plunged forward as soon these three major groups as leaders as trading was resumed today, many of the active stocks establishing higher price records at the opening.

High priced industrial stocks took their place in the forefront of the advance, American Can selling above 183 and cast iron pipe up 10 points to 241, was only 9 points below its record high.

The major influence behind the buoyant move in the stock market was general relief felt in Wall Street and elsewhere at the approaching close of the short session of congress and the prospect of a long period free from political bickering and the consideration of legislative attacks on business. Buying orders for the principal railroad, motor and oil stocks surged into the market and tranactions in the first hour were very heavy. Uneasiness in the St. Paul situation, as evidenced by the heavy selling of its stocks and bonds at steadily declining prices was the most pronounced unsettling factor in the market.

Buying of the oils was discriminating and only a few stocks were strong enough to show any advance. The list included Simms, Sinclair, Barnsdale, and Central Petroleum, while Cosden, Shell Union and other leaders in last week's rally, hung around the old level.

Both the French Franc and the Italian lire dropped to new low quotations for the current year; sterling exchange also was irregular. May wheat opened nearly 2 cents a bushel higher in the Chicago market and other grains were up fractionally; cotton irregular. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent. Business reports were unchanged but Wall Street rumors linked up a number of prominent industrial corporations with dividend increases or special disbursements to stock holders in the near future.

Advances of 2 to 10 points were recorded in a number of the high priced industrial leaders in this period. General Electric moved up 3 points; cast iron pipe was up 10; American Can touched new high ground above 183. Mack Trucks was up 3; Baldwin up 1½; American Locomotive 1½.

A movement in the northwest railroads, which have been inactive of late, sent prices up 1 to 2 points. Northern Pacific gained 2 at 71½; Great Northern preferred 1⅜ at 70¾; Chicago and Northwestern 1 at 70¾.

excess of $13,000. A few bonds were stolen from the treasury and re-sold to the government, it was admitted, but were in small denominations and represented petty thievery instead of a gigantic robbery as charged by the committee.

The report of the congressional committee caused a genuine sensation at the treasury and throughout government departments. Among other things the majority report alleged:

1—That there has been widespread bond duplication.

2—That the treasury has been evasive and contradictory in attempting to explain the matter.

3—That treasury records have been falsified.

4—That questionable methods have been followed in paying bonds and keeping books.

5—That "substantial losses" to the government have been incurred.

6—That the treasury has been "indifferent" to bond duplication.

7—That the treasury's own records are so conflicting that it is impossible to determine just how much has been lost.

Fire Damages Garage.

A garage belonging to Howard Thomas of Bank street was damaged by fire, starting from a gas stove about 9:40 o'clock last night. The firemen used a line of hose to extinguish the blaze. The loss is estimated at about $100, said to be covered by insurance.

Radio Plans

fore the national Capitol virtually will be within earshot of the nation.

Particular attention has been given to the inter-connections in the inauguration marks the beginning of more frequent hook-ups that will place the wide agricultural and industrial regions between the Appalachians and the Rockies within hearing distance of affairs at the national capital and other eastern cities.

The hook-up from "WEAF" follows:

Middle West: WEAR, Cleveland; WLW, Cincinnati; WWJ, Detroit; WMAQ, Chicago; WDAF, Kansas City; WHO, Des Moines; WCCO, Minneapolis and KLZ, Denver.

Pacific Coast: KSI, Los Angeles; KPO, San Francisco; and KLX, Oakland, Cal.

Broadcasting Starts at Noon.

Broadcasting will start about 12 mid day Wednesday. Six miscrophones will be placed on the speakers' stand from which the address will be made. Two miscrophones will be used by WEAF, two by WRC, and two for the loud speaker connections which will carry the words to the crowds assembled at the capitol.

Graham McNamee, who broadcast the last world series for the Chesapeake and Potomac company, will open the radio inaugural program by a description of the events within the senate chamber when Charles G. Dawes is innaugurated as vice-president.

Over the radio will go a visulization of the scenes about the capital, a description of the crowd, a birdseye view of Washington's inaugural ceremonies and the concert of the United States marine band climaxed by "Hail to the Chief," as President Coolidge approaches the inaugural stand.

After the cheers, of the crowd die away, the radio listeners will hear the words of Chief Justice William Taft, as he administers the oath of office to the president.

President Coolidge's address probably will be heard by ten times as many persons as every listened to the voice of a speaker. Other extensive radio inter-connections have not been on the wide scope as that arranged for tomorrow.

Hay loading machines are being introduced into South America.

BORGLUM SAYS CHARGES ARE 'SMOKE SCREEN'

"Opponents Clouding Their Own Deficiencies," Claim.

WILL FACE COURT

Confederate Memorial Discussed When he Visits Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Mar. 3—"The charges against me are merely a smoke screen created by my opponents to cloud their own dificiencies," Gutzon Borglum, noted New York sculptor, declared upon his arrival here today to fill a speaking date.

"I will appear in Greensboro, N. C., Saturday to answer the charge made against me there," Borglum continued.

Borglum was in high good humor upon his arrival.

Upon reaching the hall in a Cleveland suburb, where he was to make a luncheon address, he was immediately called to the telephone and talked to friends in Boston for about 15 minutes. He said that this had reference to his defense which will be fully shown when the hearing is held in Greensboro next Saturday.

"The smoke screen," Borglum continued, "was created very quickly to prevent execution of my threat that I would have the affairs of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association fully investigated at the next meeting of the board. I was removed before that threat could be carried into effect.

"The fight has just begun, and I am sure that before the last shot is fired the South will have its memorial, the wastage of the funds subscribed by friends from all parts of the United States will have stopped and the right of an artist to his own ideas will have been judiciously established."

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 3—Hollings N. Randolph, President of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, today caustically replied to Gutzon Borglum's statement in New York that he was dismissed because he had "served notice on the executive committee of the association of his intention to demand an accounting of the committee's stewardship of the memorial's funds."

Randolph asserted that Borglum had created $220,000 in debts during the seven years he was engaged as sculptor in charge of building the memorial at Stone Mountain.

The many gala days of late winter and early Spring offer delightful opportunities for original and colorful decorations.

St. Patrick's Day, although originally a church day, has become a party day and its shamrocks, harps and other Irish emblems may be charmingly combined with green and white for party decorations. Irish games, songs and pranks form the background for many gay parties.

In our stationery section you will find a group of novelties that will prove valuable aids in the giving of a party. Included are paper napkins, decorative crepe, tucked streamers, miniature festoons, seals, cut outs, place cards, invitations, hats and greeting cards.

These New Frocks Proclaim a Sporting Spring

Sports Frocks will not only be the mainstay of the wardrobe of the woman who plays but also of she who watches, and with excellent reason since there are few types of dresses as smart or youthful.

Simple as can be, yet with so much individuality and charm that no two models have any more resemblance to each other than straightness of line. In Kasha, flannel cashmere, challis, wool crepe and other light weight woolen materials.

There are plain, plaids, and stripes in the season's smartest markings. Long or short sleeves. Many have stiff collars and cuffs while others have soft embroidered collars.

Some embroidered all-over Belts, buttons and pockets, complete the effect.

Among the new shades for spring are powder blue, gingersnap, rust, Lanvin green, orchid, Chile, tigereye, waffle, wig-wam and grey.

Sizes 14 to 44.

Priced from $16.75 to $29.75.

POLICE SEEK MISSING BOY

Wellsville police today had enlisted the aid of authorities throughout the valley in their search for Robert West, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert West, of Main street, near Seventh, who is reported to have disappeared yesterday morning.

Young West, police announced, left a note on the table at his home early yesterday morning prior to his departure, in which he said he was going to leave home.

The note declared that West would probably land first in Steubenville.

Found shortly after West had left the house by his parents, the note was turned over to police. Steubenville authorities failed to locate the lad. As a result local authorities express the opinion that the youth may have used the Steubenville suggestion merely as a ruse.

When he left home young West was attired in a dark cap, grey suit and light shoes.

GET DOG TAGS, COUNTY WARNING

County authorities will be lenient with owners of dogs who have not yet filed applications for tags.

This is the announcement today of Officer J. L. McDevitt, who has been appointed by the auditor's office to assist Wellsville citizens in procuring the tags.

Business this year, Mr. McDevitt asserts, is away below that of last year at this time. It is not reasonable to presume, county authorities say, that the number of dogs has decreased so greatly.

But every opportunity will be extended owners of dogs here to get their tags, despite the fact that they should have been obtained the first of the year. Mr. McDevitt will attend to the tag business in police headquarters in the city hall building.

SERIES OF EARTHQUAKES DUE IN U. S., SCIENTISTS SAY

CENTRAL PRESS PHOTOS

The earthquake that gave a large part of the United States such a scare is only the first of a series of subterranean disturbances that are gradually pushing up the northeastern section of the country, scientists declare. One of whose who subscribes to this theory is the Rev. F. L. Odenbach, of John Carroll University, Cleveland, who is seen at work in his laborary, where his seismograph recorded the "earthquake chart" shown above. The seismograph, one of the most delicate instruments ever devised, is seen at right. The upper series of waves in the chart was made by the needle which records disturbances of the earth's crust along a north and south line; the lower series shows the record of the east and west action.

DESMO HELD AS MURDER WITNESS

The arrest of Mike Desmo as a material witness in the slaying of Rocco Venzetto here on Sunday, February 22, the imprisonment of Dominick Strathers and Fred Longo in the county jail at Lisbon, on first degree murder charges, and the release of Tony Scarbino, of this city, who was held following the death of Mrs. Mike Desmo, were developments announced today by police in the Venzetto-Desmo double shooting.

Strathers and Longo were taken to the county jail yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter. They are held in connection with the death of Mrs. Mike Desmo, who died in the East Liverpool City hospital as a result of bullet wounds. Mrs. Desmo was shot several times as she opened the door of her home in Broadway. Strathers and Longo were arrested in Lisbon by Officer Roy Lewton, upon information from local authorities.

Mike Desmo, the slain woman's husband, who is said to be a material witness in the slaying of Rocco Venzento, is at liberty under bond of $5,000. James Gagliaggi is held as Venzento's slayer.

Tony Scarbino, first to be arrested following the shooting of Mrs. Desmo, has been released from jail, authorities being convinced of his innocence. Scarbino was one of two men taken before Mrs. Desmo in the hospital prior to her death. She identified Scarbino first as the man who shot her. Later, police assert, she blamed another man. Physicians, it is said, declared the woman's mind was not in a normal condition.

McCauley this morning was turned over to Constable Smith, of East Liverpool.

WON'T RELEASE HIS PRISONERS

Sixty-nine prisoners, ordered released from the Jefferson county jail in Steubenville by Auditor Edward Lockwood as an economy measure still were behind the bars today and according to Sheriff William Allison, "will remain there until I am satisfied the auditor has the authority to order them out."

The sheriff charges the order is not only a political move against him but an attack on law and order in Jefferson county.

Auditor Lockwood declared the jail was being filled with "bums and drunks" and that the county was footing the bill.

City Management Makes Gain

The city manager plan of government, a subject of discussion in East Liverpool a few years ago, but forgotten as election day neared, appears to be gaining in the number of its supporters.

Kansas City is the latest recruit in the long list of cities that prefer to have their municipal affairs run on a business rather than a political basis. The voters adopted the plan by a vote of four to one.

The size of Kansas City makes this a notable triumph for the new method of administration. It is the third-largest city accepting the plan, the first and second being Cleveland and Cincinnati. Altogether there are now about 350 municipalities, with populations ranging from a few hundred to near a million, possessing this system.

The Kansas plan differs a little from most others, in having a mayor elected by the people and possessing a moderate amount of appointive power, and having four district councilmen and four chosen at large. The manager, of course, will look after the great mass of business administration. The smallness of the council should be an advantage, attracting good men, centering attention upon them, eliminating partisan politics and promoting eficiency.

Whether East Liverpool looks with favor upon the city management idea is problematical, but if it is as good as its adherents claim it would not be amiss to investigate it. And the number of cities approving it indicates it has some merit.

The Fortunate Class

The "middle classes" have been much pitied in late years, by themselves and others. They have seemed, during war times and war prices, to be ground between the millstones of capital and labor. The people who are neither rich nor poor have been compared unfavorably with the wage-earning classes, because so often they have more expensive tastes with less money to gratify them.

All this, says B. C. Forbes, financial writer, is wrong. He knows what it is to be poor, and he has seen much of the rich, and he testifies that, speaking broadly, the people who are moderately well-to-do "enjoy a larger measure of happiness than either those who have to struggle to make both ends meet or those who possess fortunes running into seven or eight or nine figures."

Thoughtful and observing people will probably agree with him. The very successful man usually loses something—health or time or zest—in the quest for wealth which leaves him incapable of really enjoying its benefits. The rich person who has not earned his money seldom gets his full share of joy from spending it. The poor man finds it hard to be happy, amid all the material inconveniences and limitations of his position, unless he is very much of a philosopher.

The man who has made his own way, and won to modest comfort and self-respect and the family developing with him, appreciating opportunities and enjoyments because they are fresh and unspoiled, and lacking the burdens and responsibilities of great wealth—these are the lucky ones.

"Give me neither poverty nor riches," said Solomon.

No Sex in Politics

Asked "what women have accomplished in the political field," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, replies:

"It is distasteful for me to differentiate between men and women in politics. Men and women should think of their responsibilities at the polls not as men and not as women, but as human beings and citizens. Those who think alike, be they men or women, should combine their forces to make their ideals successful."

It is sound, sane doctrine, worth far more than the frothy "feminist" stuff that is still heard, occasionally. If there is any natural conflict between the sexes, it is not in the political field, for the aim of politics, or government, is the good of all. There is no sex in citizenship. The state is the common father and mother of all, and individual mothers and fathers ought to be as united in handling its work as they are in seeking the good of their own children.

EDUCATIONAL RANKING OF STATES

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By two distinct processes for determining the educational standing of the states of the union it has been found that practically the same states head the list for the year 1922. By the method of index numbers they are, ranking in the order named, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Washington, Indiana, New York, Nevada, Michigan, Arizona and Montana.

Similarly, by the method of ranks they have been found to be: Washington, California, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, District of Columbia, New York, Iowa, Nevada and New Jersey.

Two states, including the District of Columbia as a state, appear in one list of the first ten and are not found in the other. Arizona, ranked ninth by the index method, and Montana, ranked tenth, are, respectively, twenty-sixth and sixteenth by the ranks method. The District of Columbia, which comes sixth under the latter system of ranking, and Iowa, which is plased eighth, are respectively, seventeenth and eleventeenth by the index number method.

Five years ago Leonard P. Ayres used the index method in preparing a monograph for the Russell Sage Foundation that aroused much discussion at the time of its appearance. Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of George Washington university, has now created a similar furore with a study in which he uses the method of ranks and compares his results with those of Colonel Ayres.

Although Dr. Phillips is also identified with the United States bureau of education he did not undertake this work as a government official and his monograph is not issued as a government publication, but has been published by the Bruce Publishing company, of Milwaukee, under the title, "Educational Ranking of States by Two Methods."

In ranking states educationally or otherwise, Dr. Phillips explains, there are always a large number of items to be considered as possible units upon which bases of comparison might be made. Some of these can be measured statistically and some cannot. It is rather difficult, for example, to measure the teaching efficiency or the teacher preparation of a large body of teachers scattered over a whole state and express that in a mathematical coefficient.

CAN'T MEASURE SCHOOL RESULTS

"It is practically impossible to measure the mental level of the graduates turned out by the various public high schools," says the doctor. "It is impossible to measure the general good a given school system does for the community or for the state as a whole. It is necessary, then, in devising a system of ranking states educationally, to use only such items as can be measured in mathematical terms and use only those for which information is available. If the ranking system is to cover several years of time the number of items will be still further reduced because some items are vailable for one period and not for another.

"It is also impossible to select points upon which educational authorities in the various states will agree, nor is it possible to weigh these items in a way satisfactory to those concerned. Some states are sparsely settled, making education costs necessarily high; other states are densely settled, making it possible to run an educational system more economically.

"Some states have practically one-fourth of the school population in private and parochial schools, and some states have no such schools whatever. Some states are troubled with a large illiterate population, which may be due to a large number of foreign born groups, colored groups, or other groups which the public schools have not been able to reach. Ranking systems must therefore be arbitrarily made and the results used with a great deal of caution."

Data covering ten points which are purely nonpersonal and which have to do chiefly with school attendance and costs were tabulated by Colonel Ayres in applying his method of index numbers. These points are: Per cent of school population attending school daily; average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days school were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expenditure per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries, and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED

The sum of the ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the states were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1918, and Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out his method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterates ten years of age and over; ration of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance, and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

"The results are pretty much the same," says Dr. Phillips. "In 1910, five states have the same rank by both methods; in 1922, six states rank alike. In 1910, 35 states do not differ by more than four points in ranks; in 1918 there are 30 states, in 1920, 31, and in 1922, 35 within four points by both methods. This means that three-fourths of the states are shifted in rank less than five places by a change from one method to another. There are, however, some manifest changes in the ranking of some states, especially in those that had ranked high in matters of cost. Illiteracy, average daily attendance, per cent of school census in attendance and per cent of high school graduates continuing in school all seem to be factors in making a change in rank."

The states in addition to the 10 named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

By the Phillips method the additional states are ranked: Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Idaho, Utah, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Missouri, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Delaware, Maryland, Texas, New Mexico, West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 3.—I have always read in novels of strange adventures on shipboard. In five crossings my only adventures have been trivial—such as lurching into old ladies' laps, getting my hand caught trying to close portholes or falling down stairs.

Today I seemed to be on the heels of adventure. There was a smart rap on my door. A gold braided flunkey touched his tambourine cap, clicked his heels and presented an embossed envelope with a crest. Perhaps a lady in distress or something.

It was from the purser who presented his compliments and implored me at the earliest opportunity to see him privately in his quarters. I donned my best attire, including a flaming purple tie and presented myself forthwith. The adventure was tawdry.

I was merely told there was $1.20 excess charge on my luggage. Yet for more intrepid souls there must be adventure. You sense it. There is on every boat one of those cool, glacial and beautiful ladies who causes tongues to wag. You think of priceless smuggled pearls and matching wits against the pick of Scotland Yard.

One of the type is aboard. I heard one old lady say to her companion as the lady passed by on the promenade deck: "A scarlet woman." I would not go that far, but perhaps there is a dash of pink. She dines in her stateroom, shuns everybody and strolls the deck when the moon is out.

Unattached gentlemen give her covetous glances, whoever she is, she gives the ship a cosmopolitan tang. And no doubt she will prove to be the buyer for a middle west millinery house who is known in her town as "one of the Schwartz girls."

My bed seems to be the repository for refuse. So far the roll of the ship has dosed it with a splotch of ink, two loosely fried eggs and a pot of coffee.

There is an extremely precocious youngster on board. He is 12 years old and has crossed the Atlantic alone 22 times. He is fearfully British—fearfully—although born in Boston. He is attending an English school and runs home for each vacation. Last year he made four trips. He is entirely too worldly wise for one of his years and I think he needs some plentiful doses of what grandmother called "birch tea." He joins groups of men in the smoking lounge and drinking rooms as nonchalantly as a fresh suspender salesman in a Pullman smoker. Several times he has spoken disdainfully of what he calls "Awmeer-ika."

At 12 as I remember my marine experience consisted of one ferry ride across the Ohio river on the steamer Champion. I do not believe this precocious child will ever have the thrill I had then. I went as the guest of Captain Rafe Hamilton and was absent 15 minutes, but for many weeks I would mention casually I had been over in West Virginia recently.

The best giggle of the trip so far was in the ballroom last night. All had been seated when she came in—an extremely pompous lady in flaming red silk. She had timed her approach. Her small daughter was waiting and she was the kind who said loudly: "Daughter, don't you stand up for mother?" You recognize her no doubt. She used an enormous fan in one hand and a pearl handled lorgnette in the other. The ship suddenly struck high seas. And with the momentum of a roller coaster car, her chair suddenly shot across the ballroom floor and she landed kerplunk amidship of an amazed and portly gentleman who was innocently and gently nodding. No one has seen the lady since.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By MICHAEL F. DACEY.

DENVER, March 3.—The mystery surrounding "Jack" Taylor, eccentric ranch hand, who burrowed into a huge strawstack on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, Col., 25 miles east of here, and remained buried for 48 days before being rescued, half dead, remains unsolved.

Taylor is believed to have been without food or water for fully five weeks. When found he was semi-conscious; one foot was frozen; he was terribly emaciated and had lost 100 pounds in weight. His clothing was in tatters as the result of constant knawing by a horde of field mice.

The story of Taylor's experience came to light the same day rescue workers in Cave City, Ky., discovered the body of Floyd Collins in his cavern tomb.

When an International News Service reporter sought out Taylor he was still in a precarious physical and mental condition. He could only speak in whispers; he hobbled about with the aid of a cane, and the big frame of his six feet two inches was noticeably stooped. Taylor was unable to talk of the agony he underwent during his weeks in the strawstack prison. He could give little intelligent information about himself or his antecedents.

M. C. James, who employed Taylor and who has tenderly cared for him since he found the ranch hand while taking straw from the stack to a barn, gave International News Service a clear version of the almost incredible story.

Dr. F. B. Cornell, village physician, told of the wasted condition Taylor was in when he treated him after the rescue.

"Taylor came here in June," said James, formerly in vocational education work for the government in Kentucky. "He was a big, strapping fellow, about 28 years of age, weighed close to 180 pounds, and was a splendid ranch hand. Something seemed to be preying on his mind, however, and he kept to himself for the most part.

"One day he confided to me that he was afraid officers were searching for him, and, with some urging, related how he had been employed in Texas where he believed a man had forged his name to some checks. 'Jack' explained that the man was an expert penman and that one day officers came to his place of employment in search of someone wanted for forgery."

James declared he believed Taylor was absolutely honest, and that the men had perpetrated a practical joke upon him.

"But Taylor ran away from his Texas employment and came here," James continued. "For several months he worked steadily, but always remained by himself, appearing inordinately shy at the approach of strangers.

"Early in the evening of November 2 some friends of ours called at the ranch. Taylor disappeared the moment he noticed them. We looked for some trace of Taylor over the 500-acre ranch, but found none and concluded he had left the country.

"On December 20, 48 days after his disappearance, while pitching straw from the stack my fork hit something hard. Pulling away the straw I found Taylor. He was in a pitiable condition from exposure and starvation. I later learned from him that the first eight or ten days of his self-imposed imprisonment he ventured out at night to secure a few scraps of food and water. But after the first ten days he became so weak he was unable to leave the strawstack and remained there without food or water for 37 or 38 days.

"We called Dr. Cornell and started the fight to restore him to health. For several weeks only liquid foods were given him—hot water and hot milk with a little sugar at first, then broths and soups. He is now able to take some solid foods and is gradually recovering his strength. But it will be many weeks yet before he will be vigorous."

TODAY

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

SUPER SUNSHINE. THE BABY

Yesterday in southern California, was the finest day you ever saw, or imagined, in California, or anywhere. The long Santa Fe train, bringing "more converts" rolled noiselessly down the grade, from the high plateau on the west, into such beauty of sunshine, warmth and flowers, as made the whole thing seem unreal.

What was the most interesting, pleasing thing you saw in wonderful California on the day of arrival?

It was not the golden orange groves, or the pleasant square miles of grape vines, pruned and ready for next summer's production.

It was not the mighty Pacific in which you could drown, bury and lose the United States, with only one big wave to tell the story. And it was not the high range of mountains with their snowy heads looking down, so near, reminding the traveler that in some parts of the world it really is cold winter.

The most pleasing sight in California was a young couple on the station platform at San Bernardino, the sunny ante-room to Pasadena and Los Angeles.

The young man, tall and nervous, was on the platform of his Pullman car, 20 minutes before the station came in sight. No one ever left a burning house more eagerly than he left that train.

The young woman, waiting, was dressed in her best. Pink silk stockings, new dress and hat, and such a smile of welcome, for that fortunate young traveler.

Her first words before he reached her were: "I knew you couldn't wait to see her, so I brought her down."

And sure enough "her" was there, in her mother's arms, a little baby, about six weeks old, with a sunbonnet, scalloped around the edges, white kid shoes, a fancy dress and a far-away look.

There is beautiful sunshine in California, but it is not as beautiful as the light in that young mother's face as she looked up from the face of her child to the child's father. That is the sunshine that makes life worth while for human beings everywhere, if they are worth while.

Here, where the sky says, all year round, "come and forget your troubles," or in the coldest north, there is happiness, warmth and eternal sunshine, wherever there is true devotion.

Come to California if you can and see a part of Eden that escaped fatal curse.

But thank the Lord that, inspite of the serpent, the apple and the fall, there is real heaven here below, wherever you find the blessed earthly trinity, a perfectly united mother, child and father.

That heaven was in the young mother's face, when the father said, "I think she smiled."

THAT EASTERN EARTHQUAKE

California is interested in the earthquake "back east" that shook New York, reaching up and down the Atlantic coast, and as far west as Michigan, this time the slip of the earth's crust is in the Atlantic instead of the Pacific.

Despite eastern exaggeration of western earthquakes, natives out here do not laugh when they meet, they just say, "too bad," and look as serious as they possibly can.

EBERT, HONOR HIM

The death of President Ebert will establish more firmly the German republic. Germans know than an earnest, intelligent workman, with his fellow workers back of him can manage the nation.

They know that a saber waving all highest, in partnership with God, is not necessary to national business.

Thanks to Ebert, to the highly intelligent and scientifically trained German specialists, and the lions of German workers, educated for 40 years in the social Democratic party, the Germans have the power of self-government.

Their administration has stood firm ever since the war under most horribly trying conditions. That is the greatest possible tribute to the self-governing power of the Germans. And Ebert will be honored in history as the loyal servant of German democracy.

GET YOUR MONOPLANE

Young men with courage and ambition TURN YOUR MINDS TOWARD FLYING. Ex-service men that flew in the war, cheer up.

Henry Ford and his son are building all metal monoplanes, and small dirigibles, with all metal gas containers.

That means opportunity.

Be among the first to get one of the monoplanes that will "fly 140 miles an hour, and carry a useful load of 2,000 pounds."

Such a machine, once he knows how to run it, should enable a young man of the right kind to earn $100 a day. And that sum, $600 a week, would be a "useful load" to carry home each Saturday.

For information, write to Henry Ford, or better still to Edsel Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

Secretary Weeks tells the congressional committee that he holds no grundge against Brigadier General Mitchell for telling the truth, and that he has no thought of disciplining General Mitchell. That is welcome. The people would like to think that the truth is not kept from them by official threats.

Mr. Weeks adds "the question of the reappointment of General Mitchell as assistant chief of the service is in the hands of the president."

If that is so, the people may be sure that General Mitchell will not be demoted, or humiliated. The president, like the people, is glad to know the truth.

No act of his, and no failure on his part to act, will cause General Mitchell to lose rank. Of that, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

A tall, dark person with the earmarks of a plain-clothes man stepped into the thick stuffiness of the subway train. His face was severely stern, his jaw indicative of a grim determination, and his shrewd gray eyes stared seachingly at the young man who sat opposite. The latter squirmed uneasily in his seat, shifted his gaze, and readjusted his newspaper. The gray eyes never faltered. The young man glanced furtively towards the door. Feverishly he rose to start for the exit. A hand fell on his shoulder. A quiet voice said:

"Pardon me, but your left shoe is untied."

She was very pretty, he was very ardent. And they both were young.

"Ethel," he murmured, and the very intonation of his voice was a caress. "You've your father's fine, frank blue eyes."

"Go on," she laughed. Don't be silly!" She was a modern maid.

"But you have, dear," he insisted. "And you have your mother's beautiful golden hair."

She glanced about her in fear as she laid her fair little hand upon his lips.

"S-sh!" she whispered. "Don't speak so loud, Jack; she doesn't know I'm wearing it!"

These points are: Per cent of school population attending school daily; average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days school were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expediture per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries, and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED

The sum of the ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the states were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1918, and Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out his method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterates ten years of age and over; ration of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance, and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

"The results are pretty much the same," says Dr. Phillips. "In 1910, five states have the same rank by both methods; in 1922, six states rank alike. In 1910, 35 states do not differ by more than four points in ranks; in 1918 there are 30 states, in 1920, 31, and in 1922, 35 within four points by both methods. This means that three-fourths of the states are shifted in rank less than five places by a change from one method to another. There are, however, some manifest changes in the ranking of some states, especially in those that had ranked high in matters of cost. Illiteracy, average daily attendance, per cent of school census in attendance and per cent of high school graduates continuing in school all seem to be factors in making a change in rank."

The states in addition to the 10 named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

By the Phillips method the additional states are ranked: Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Idaho, Utah, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Missouri, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Delaware, Maryland, Texas, New Mexico, West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Admiring George's nifty little car, one asked: "That's a fast looking car you have there. What's the most you ever got out of it?" "Five times in a mile," replied George—Columbus Dispatch.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 3.—I have always read in novels of strange adventures on shipboard. In five crossings my only adventures have been trivial—such as lurching into old ladies' laps, getting my hand caught trying to close portholes or falling down stairs.

Today I seemed to be on the heels of adventure. There was a smart rap on my door. A gold braided flunkey touched his tambourine cap, clicked his heels and presented an embossed envelope with a crest. Perhaps a lady in distress or something.

It was from the purser who presented his compliments and implored me at the earliest opportunity to see him privately in his quarters. I donned my best attire, including a flaming purple tie and presented myself forthwith. The adventure was tawdry.

I was merely told there was $1.20 excess charge on my luggage. Yet for more intrepid souls there must be adventure. You sense it. There is on every boat one of those cool, glacial and beautiful ladies who causes tongues to wag. You think of priceless smuggled pearls and matching wits against the pick of Scotland Yard.

One of the type is aboard. I heard one old lady say to her companion as the lady passed by on the promenade deck: "A scarlet woman." I would not go that far, but perhaps there is a dash of pink. She dines in her stateroom, shuns everybody and strolls the deck when the moon is out.

Unattached gentlemen give her covetous glances, whoever she is, she gives the ship a cosmopolitan tang. And no doubt she will prove to be the buyer for a middle west millinery house who is known in her town as "one of the Schwartz girls."

My bed seems to be the repository for refuse. So far the roll of the ship has dosed it with a splotch of ink, two loosely fried eggs and a pot of coffee.

There is an extremely precocious youngster on board. He is 12 years old and has crossed the Atlantic alone 22 times. He is fearfully British—fearfully—although born in Boston. He is attending an English school and runs home for each vacation. Last year he made four trips. He is entirely too worldly wise for one of his years and I think he needs some plentiful doses of what grandmother called "birch tea." He joins groups of men in the smoking lounge and drinking rooms as nonchalantly as a fresh suspender salesman in a Pullman smoker. Several times he has spoken disdainfully of what he calls "Awmeer-ika."

At 12 as I remember my marine experience consisted of one ferry ride across the Ohio river on the steamer Champion. I do not believe this precocious child will ever have the thrill I had then. I went as the guest of Captain Rafe Hamilton and was absent 15 minutes, but for many weeks I would mention casually I had been over in West Virginia recently.

The best giggle of the trip so far was in the ballroom last night. All had been seated when she came in—an extremely pompous lady in flaming red silk. She had timed her approach. Her small daughter was waiting and she was the kind who said loudly: "Daughter, don't you stand up for mother?" You recognize her no doubt. She used an enormous fan in one hand and a pearl handled lorgnette in the other. The ship suddenly struck high seas. And with the momentum of a roller coaster car, her chair suddenly shot across the ballroom floor and she landed kerplunk amidship of an amazed and portly gentleman who was innocently and gently nodding. No one has seen the lady since.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By MICHAEL F. DACEY.

DENVER, March 3.—The mystery surrounding "Jack" Taylor, eccentric ranch hand, who burrowed into a huge strawstack on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, Col., 25 miles east of here, and remained buried for 48 days before being rescued, half dead, remains unsolved.

Taylor is believed to have been without food or water for fully five weeks. When found he was semi-conscious; one foot was frozen; he was terribly emaciated and had lost 100 pounds in weight. His clothing was in tatters as the result of constant knawing by a horde of field mice.

The story of Taylor's experience came to light the same day rescue workers in Cave City, Ky., discovered the body of Floyd Collins in his cavern tomb.

When an International News Service reporter sought out Taylor he was still in a precarious physical and mental condition. He could only speak in whispers; he hobbled about with the aid of a cane, and the big frame of his six feet two inches was noticeably stooped. Taylor was unable to talk of the agony he underwent during his weeks in the strawstack prison. He could give little inteligent information about himself or his antecedents.

M. C. James, who employed Taylor and who has tenderly cared for him since he found the ranch hand while taking straw from the stack to a barn, gave International News Service a clear version of the almost incredible story.

Dr. F. B. Cornell, village physician, told of the wasted condition Taylor was in when he treated him after the rescue.

"Taylor came here in June," said James, formerly in vocational education work for the government in Kentucky. "He was a big, strapping fellow, about 28 years of age, weighed close to 180 pounds, and was a splendid ranch hand. Something seemed to be preying on his mind, however, and he kept to himself for the most part.

"One day he confided to me that he was afraid officers were searching for him, and, with some urging, related how he had been employed in Texas where he believed a man had forged his name to some checks. 'Jack' explained that the man was an expert penman and that one day officers came to his place of employment in search of someone wanted for forgery."

James declared he believed Taylor was absolutely honest, and that the men had perpetrated a practical joke upon him.

"But Taylor ran away from his Texas employment and came here," James continued. "For several months he worked steadily, but always remained by himself, appearing inordinately shy at the approach of strangers.

"Early in the evening of November 2 some friends of ours called at the ranch. Taylor disappeared the moment he noticed them. We looked for some trace of Taylor over the 500-acre ranch, but found none and concluded he had left the country.

"On December 20, 48 days after his disappearance, while pitching straw from the stack my fork hit something hard. Pulling away the straw I found Taylor. He was in a pitiable condition from exposure and starvation. I later learned from him that the first eight or ten days of his self-imposed imprisonment he ventured out at night to secure a few scraps of food and water. But after the first ten days he became so weak he was unable to leave the strawstack and remained there without food or water for 37 or 38 days.

"We called Dr. Cornell and started the fight to restore him to health. For several weeks only liquid foods were given him—hot water and hot milk with a little sugar at first, then broths and soups. He is now able to take some solid foods and is gradually recovering his strength. But it will be many weeks yet before he will be vigorous."

A woman's idea of punctuality is not to be more than a half-hour late.—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

SUPER SUNSHINE. THE BABY

Yesterday in southern California, was the finest day you ever saw, or imagined, in California, or anywhere. The long Santa Fe train, bringing "more converts" rolled noiselessly down the grade, from the high plateau on the west, into such beauty of sunshine, warmth and flowers, as made the whole thing seem unreal.

What was the most interesting, pleasing thing you saw in wonderful California on the day of arrival?

It was not the golden orange groves, or the pleasant square miles of grape vines, pruned and ready for next summer's production.

It was not the mighty Pacific in which you could drown, bury and lose the United States, with only one big wave to tell the story. And it was not the high range of mountains with their snowy heads looking down, so near, reminding the traveler that in some parts of the world it really is cold winter.

The most pleasing sight in California was a young couple on the station platform at San Bernardino, the sunny ante-room to Pasadena and Los Angeles.

The young man, tall and nervous, was on the platform of his Pullman car, 20 minutes before the station came in sight. No one ever left a burning house more eagerly than he left that train.

The young woman, waiting, was dressed in her best. Pink silk stockings, new dress and hat, and such a smile of welcome, for that fortunate young traveler.

Her first words before he reached her were: "I knew you couldn't wait to see her, so I brought her down."

And sure enough "her" was there, in her mother's arms, a little baby, about six weeks old, with a sunbonnet, scalloped around the edges, white kid shoes, a fancy dress and a far-away look.

There is beautiful sunshine in California, but it is not as beautiful as the light in that young mother's face as she looked up from the face of her child to the child's father. That is the sunshine that makes life worth while for human beings everywhere, if they are worth while.

Here, where the sky says, all year round, "come and forget your troubles," or in the coldest north, there is happiness, warmth and eternal sunshine, wherever there is true devotion.

Come to California if you can and see a part of Eden that escaped fatal curse.

But thank the Lord that, inspite of the serpent, the apple and the fall, there is real heaven here below, wherever you find the blessed earthly trinity, a perfectly united mother, child and father.

That heaven was in the young mother's face, when the father said, "I think she smiled."

THAT EASTERN EARTHQUAKE

California is interested in the earthquake "back east" that shook New York, reaching up and down the Atlantic coast, and as far west as Michigan, this time the slip of the earth's crust is in the Atlantic instead of the Pacific.

Despite eastern exaggeration of western earthquakes, natives out here do not laugh when they meet, they just say, "too bad," and look as serious as they possibly can.

EBERT, HONOR HIM

The death of President Ebert will establish more firmly the German republic. Germans know than an earnest, intelligent workman, with his fellow workers back of him can manage the nation.

They know that a saber waving all highest, in partnership with God, is not necessary to national business.

Thanks to Ebert, to the highly intelligent and scientifically trained German specialists, and the lions of German workers, educated for 40 years in the social Democratic party, the Germans have the power of self-government.

Their administration has stood firm ever since the war under most horribly trying conditions. That is the greatest possible tribute to the self-governing power of the Germans. And Ebert will be honored in history as the loyal servant of German democracy.

GET YOUR MONOPLANE

Young men with courage and ambition TURN YOUR MINDS TOWARD FLYING. Ex-service men that flew in the war, cheer up.

Henry Ford and his son are building all metal monoplanes, and small dirigibles, with all metal gas containers.

That means opportunity.

Be among the first to get one of the monoplanes that will "fly 140 miles an hour, and carry a useful load of 2,000 pounds."

Such a machine, once he knows how to run it, should enable a young man of the right kind to earn $100 a day. And that sum, $600 a week, would be a "useful load" to carry home each Saturday.

For information, write to Henry Ford, or better still to Edsel Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

Secretary Weeks tells the congressional committee that he holds no grudge against Brigadier General Mitchell for telling the truth, and that he has no thought of disciplining General Mitchell. That is welcome. The people would like to think that the truth is not kept from them by official threats.

Mr. Weeks adds "the question of the reappointment of General Mitchell as assistant chief of the service is in the hands of the president."

If that is so, the people may be sure that General Mitchell will not be demoted, or humiliated. The president, like the people, is glad to know the truth.

No act of his, and no failure on his part to act, will cause General Mitchell to lose rank. Of that, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

A tall, dark person with the earmarks of a plain-clothes man stepped into the thick stuffiness of the subway train. His face was severely stern, his jaw indicative of a grim determination, and his shrewd gray eyes stared seachingly at the young man who sat opposite. The latter squirmed uneasily in his seat, shifted his gaze, and readjusted his newspaper. The gray eyes never faltered. The young man glanced furtively towards the door. Feverishly he rose to start for the exit. A hand fell on his shoulder. A quiet voice said:

"Pardon me, but your left shoe is untied."

She was very pretty, he was very ardent. And they both were young.

"Ethel," he murmured, and the very intonation of his voice was a caress. "You've your father's fine, frank blue eyes."

"Go on," she laughed. Don't be silly!" She was a modern maid.

"But you have, dear," he insisted. "And you have your mother's beautiful golden hair."

She glanced about her in fear as she laid her fair little hand upon his lips.

City Management Makes Gain

The city manager plan of government, a subject of discussion in East Liverpool a few years ago, but forgotten as election day neared, appears to be gaining in the number of its supporters.

Kansas City is the latest recruit in the long list of cities that prefer to have their municipal affairs run on a business rather than a political basis. The voters adopted the plan by a vote of four to one.

The size of Kansas City makes this a notable triumph for the new method of administration. It is the third-largest city accepting the plan, the first and second being Cleveland and Cincinnati. Altogether there are now about 350 municipalities, with populations ranging from a few hundred to near a million, possessing this system.

The Kansas plan differs a little from most others, in having a mayor elected by the people and possessing a moderate amount of appointive power, and having four district councilmen and four chosen at large. The manager, of course, will look after the great mass of business administration. The smallness of the council should be an advantage, attracting good men, centering attention upon them, eliminating partisan politics and promoting eficiency.

Whether East Liverpool looks with favor upon the city management idea is problematical, but if it is as good as its adherents claim it would not be amiss to investigate it. And the number of cities approving it indicates it has some merit.

The Fortunate Class

The "middle classes" have been much pitied in late years, by themselves and others. They have seemed, during war times and war prices, to be ground between the millstones of capital and labor. The people who are neither rich nor poor have been compared unfavorably with the wage-earning classes, because so often they have more expensive tastes with less money to gratify them.

All this, says B. C. Forbes, financial writer, is wrong. He knows what it is to be poor, and he has seen much of the rich, and he testifies that, speaking broadly, the people who are moderately well-to-do "enjoy a larger measure of happiness than either those who have to struggle to make both ends meet or those who possess fortunes running into seven or eight or nine figures."

Thoughtful and observing people will probably agree with him. The very successful man usually loses something—health or time or zest—in the quest for wealth which leaves him incapable of really enjoying its benefits. The rich person who has not earned his money seldom gets his full share of joy from spending it. The poor man finds it hard to be happy, amid all the material inconveniences and limitations of his position, unless he is very much of a philosopher.

The man who has made his own way, and won to modest comfort and self-respect and the family developing with him, appreciating opportunities and enjoyments because they are fresh and unspoiled, and lacking the burdens and responsibilities of great wealth—these are the lucky ones.

"Give me neither poverty nor riches," said Solomon.

No Sex in Politics

Asked "what women have accomplished in the political field," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, replies:

"It is distasteful for me to differentiate between men and women in politics. Men and women should think of their responsibilities at the polls not as men and not as women, but as human beings and citizens. Those who think alike, be they men or women, should combine their forces to make their ideals successful."

It is sound, sane doctrine, worth far more than the frothy "feminist" stuff that is still heard, occasionally. If there is any natural conflict between the sexes, it is not in the political field, for the aim of politics, or government, is the good of all. There is no sex in citizenship. The state is the common father and mother of all, and individual mothers and fathers ought to be as united in handling its work as they are in seeking the good of their own children.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

EDUCATIONAL RANKING OF STATES

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By two distinct processes for determining the educational standing of the states of the union it has been found that practically the same states head the list for the year 1922. By the method of index numbers they are, ranking in the order named, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Washington, Indiana, New York, Nevada, Michigan, Arizona and Montana.

Similarly, by the method of ranks they have been found to be: Washington, California, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, District of Columbia, New York, Iowa, Nevada and New Jersey.

Two states, including the District of Columbia as a state, appear in one list of the first ten and are not found in the other. Arizona, ranked ninth by the index method, and Montana, ranked tenth, are, respectively, twenty-sixth and sixteenth by the ranks method. The District of Columbia, which comes sixth under the latter system of ranking, and Iowa, which is plased eighth, are respectively, seventeenth and eleventeenth by the index number method.

Five years ago Leonard P. Ayres used the index method in preparing a monograph for the Russell Sage Foundation that aroused much discussion at the time of its appearance. Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of George Washington university, has now created a similar furore with a study in which he uses the method of ranks and compares his results with those of Colonel Ayres.

Although Dr. Phillips is also identified with the United States bureau of education he did not undertake this work as a government official and his monograph is not issued as a government publication, but has been published by the Bruce Publishing company, of Milwaukee, under the title, "Educational Ranking of States by Two Methods."

In ranking states educationally or otherwise, Dr. Phillips explains, there are always a large number of items to be considered as possible units upon which bases of comparison might be made. Some of these can be measured statistically and some cannot. It is rather difficult, for examaple, to measure the teaching efficiency or the teacher preparation of a large body of teachers scattered over a whole state and express that in a mathematical coefficient.

CAN'T MEASURE SCHOOL RESULTS

"It is practically impossible to measure the mental level of the graduates turned out by the various public high schools," says the doctor. "It is impossible to measure the general good a given school system does for the community or for the state as a whole. It is necessary, then, in devising a system of ranking states educationally, to use only such items as can be measured in mathematical terms and use only those for which information is available. If the ranking system is to cover several years of time the number of items will be still further reduced because some items are vailable for one period and not for another.

"It is also impossible to select points upon which educational authorities in the various states will agree, nor is it possible to weigh these items in a way satisfactory to those concerned. Some states are sparsely settled, making education costs necessarily high; other states are densely settled, making it possible to run an educational system more economically.

"Some states have practically one-fourth of the school population in private and parochial schools, and some states have no such schools whatever. Some states are troubled with a large illiterate population, which may be due to a large number of foreign born groups, colored groups, or other groups which the public schools have not been able to reach. Ranking systems must therefore be arbitrarily made and the results used with a great deal of caution."

Data covering ten points which are purely nonpersonal and which have to do chiefly with school attendance and costs were tabulated by Colonel Ayres in applying his method of index numbers. These points are: Per cent of school population attending school daily; average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days school were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expediture per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries, and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED

The sum of the ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the states were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1918, and Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out his method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterates ten years of age and over; ration of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance, and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

"The results are pretty much the same," says Dr. Phillips. "In 1910, five states have the same rank by both methods; in 1922, six states rank alike. In 1910, 35 states do not differ by more than four points in ranks; in 1918 there are 30 states, in 1920, 31, and in 1922, 35 within four points by both methods. This means that three-fourths of the states are shifted in rank less than five places by a change from one method to another. There are, however, some manifest changes in the ranking of some states, especially in those that had ranked high in matters of cost. Illiteracy, average daily attendance, per cent of school census in attendance and per cent of high school graduates continuing in school all seem to be factors in making a change in rank."

The states in addition to the 10 named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

By the Phillips method the additional states are ranked: Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Idaho, Utah, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Missouri, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Delaware, Maryland, Texas, New Mexico, West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Admiring George's nifty little car, one asked: "That's a fast looking car you have there. What's the most you ever got out of it?" "Five times in a mile," replied George—Columbus Dispatch.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 3.—I have always read in novels of strange adventures on shipboard. In five crossings my only adventures have been trivial—such as lurching into old ladies' laps, getting my hand caught trying to close portholes or falling down stairs.

Today I seemed to be on the heels of adventure. There was a smart rap on my door. A gold braided flunkey touched his tambourine cap, clicked his heels and presented an embossed envelope with a crest. Perhaps a lady in distress or something.

It was from the purser who presented his compliments and implored me at the earliest opportunity to see him privately in his quarters. I donned my best attire, including a flaming purple tie and presented myself forthwith. The adventure was tawdry.

I was merely told there was $1.20 excess charge on my luggage. Yet for more intrepid souls there must be adventure. You sense it. There is on every boat one of those cool, glacial and beautiful ladies who causes tongues to wag. You think of priceless smuggled pearls and matching wits against the pick of Scotland Yard.

One of the type is aboard. I heard one old lady say to her companion as the lady passed by on the promenade deck: "A scarlet woman." I would not go that far, but perhaps there is a dash of pink. She dines in her stateroom, shuns everybody and strolls the deck when the moon is out.

Unattached gentlemen give her covetous glances, whoever she is, she gives the ship a cosmopolitan tang. And no doubt she will prove to be the buyer for a middle west millinery house who is known in her town as "one of the Schwartz girls."

My bed seems to be the repository for refuse. So far the roll of the ship has dosed it with a splotch of ink, two loosely fried eggs and a pot of coffee.

There is an extremely precocious youngster on board. He is 12 years old and has crossed the Atlantic alone 22 times. He is fearfully British—fearfully—although born in Boston. He is attending an English school and runs home for each vacation. Last year he made four trips. He is entirely too worldly wise for one of his years and I think he needs some plentiful doses of what grandmother called "birch tea." He joins groups of men in the smoking lounge and drink ng rooms as nonchalantly as a fresh suspender salesman in a Pullman smoker. Several times he has spoken disdainfully of what he calls "Awmeer-ika."

At 12 as I remember my marine experience consisted of one ferry ride across the Ohio river on the steamer Champion. I do not believe this precocious child will ever have the thrill I had then. I went as the guest of Captain Rafe Hamilton and was absent 15 minutes, but for many weeks I would mention casually I had been over in West Virginia recently.

The best giggle of the trip so far was in the ballroom last night. All had been seated when she came in—an extremely pompous lady in flaming red silk. She had timed her approach. Her small daughter was waiting and she was the kind who said loudly: "Daughter, don't you stand up for mother?" You recognize her no doubt. She used an enormous fan in one hand and a pearl handled lorgnette in the other. The ship suddenly struck high seas. And with the momentum of a roller coaster car, her chair suddenly shot across the ballroom floor and she landed kerplunk amidship of an amazed and portly gentleman who was innocently and gently nodding. No one has seen the lady since. Copyrighted, 1925, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By MICHAEL F. DACEY.

DENVER, March 3.—The mystery surrounding "Jack" Taylor, eccentric ranch hand, who burrowed into a huge strawstack on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, Col., 25 miles east of here, and remained buried for 48 days before being rescued, half dead, remains unsolved.

Taylor is believed to have been without food or water for fully five weeks. When found he was semi-conscious; one foot was frozen; he was terribly emaciated and had lost 100 pounds in weight. His clothing was in tatters as the result of constant knawing by a horde of field mice.

The story of Taylor's experience came to light the same day rescue workers in Cave City, Ky., discovered the body of Floyd Collins in his cavern tomb.

When an International News Service reporter sought out Taylor he was still in a precarious physical and mental condition. He could only speak in whispers; he hobbled about with the aid of a cane, and the big frame of his six feet two inches was noticeably stooped. Taylor was unable to talk of the agony he underwent during his weeks in the strawstack prison. He could give little intelligent information about himself or his antecedents.

M. C. James, who employed Taylor and who has tenderly cared for him since he found the ranch hand while taking straw from the stack to a barn, gave Internatinoal News Service a clear version of the almost incredible story.

Dr. F. B. Cornell, village physician, told of the wasted condition Taylor was in when he treated him after the rescue.

"Taylor came here in June," said James, formerly in vocational education work for the government in Kentucky. "He was a big, strapping fellow, about 28 years of age, weighed close to 180 pounds, and was a splendid ranch hand. Something seemed to be preying on his mind, however, and he kept to himself for the most part.

"One day he confided to me that he was afraid officers were searching for him, and, with some urging, related how he had been employed in Texas where he believed a man had forged his name to some checks. 'Jack' explained that the man was an expert penman and that one day officers came to his place of employment in search of someone wanted for forgery."

James declared he believed Taylor was absolutely honest, and that the men had perpetrated a practical joke upon him.

"But Taylor ran away from his Texas employment and came here," James continued. "For several months he worked steadily, but always remained by himself, appearing inordinately shy at the approach of strangers.

"Early in the evening of November 2 some friends of ours called at the ranch. Taylor disappeared the moment he noticed them. We looked for some trace of Taylor over the 500-acre ranch, but found none and concluded he had left the country.

"On December 20, 48 days after his disappearance, while pitching straw from the stack my fork hit something hard. Pulling away the straw I found Taylor. He was in a pitiable condition from exposure and starvation. I later learned from him that the first eight or ten days of his self-imposed imprisonment he ventured out at night to secure a few scraps of food and water. But after the first ten days he became so weak he was unable to leave the strawstack and remained there without food or water for 37 or 38 days.

"We called Dr. Cornell and started the fight to restore him to health. For several weeks only liquid foods were given him—hot water and hot milk with a little sugar at first, then broths and soups. He is now able to take some solid foods and is gradually recovering his strength. But it will be many weeks yet before he will be vigorous."

SUPER SUNSHINE. THE BABY

Yesterday in southern California, was the finest day you ever saw, or imagined, in California, or anywhere. The long Santa Fe train, bringing "more converts" rolled noiselessly down the grade, from the high plateau on the west, into such beauty of sunshine, warmth and flowers, as made the whole thing seem unreal.

What was the most interesting, pleasing thing you saw in wonderful California on the day of arrival?

It was not the golden orange groves, or the pleasant square miles of grape vines, pruned and ready for next summer's production.

It was not the mighty Pacific in which you could drown, bury and lose the United States, with only one big wave to tell the story. And it was not the high range of mountains with their snowy heads looking down, so near, reminding the traveler that in some parts of the world it really is cold winter.

The most pleasing sight in California was a young couple on the station platform at San Bernardino, the sunny ante-room to Pasadena and Los Angeles.

The young man, tall and nervous, was on the platform of his Pullman car, 20 minutes before the station came in sight. No one ever left a burning house more eagerly than he left that train.

The young woman, waiting, was dressed in her best. Pink silk stockings, new dress and hat, and such a smile of welcome, for that fortunate young traveler.

Her first words before he reached her were: "I knew you couldn't wait to see her, so I brought her down."

And sure enough "her" was there, in her mother's arms, a little baby, about six weeks old, with a sunbonnet, scalloped around the edges, white kid shoes, a fancy dress and a far-away look.

There is beautiful sunshine in California, but it is not as beautiful as the light in that young mother's face as she looked up from the face of her child to the child's father. That is the sunshine that makes life worth while for human beings everywhere, if they are worth while.

Here, where the sky says, all year round, "come and forget your troubles," or in the coldest north, there is happiness, warmth and eternal sunshine, wherever there is true devotion.

Come to California if you can and see a part of Eden that escaped fatal curse.

But thank the Lord that, inspite of the serpent, the apple and the fall, there is real heaven here below, wherever you find the blessed earthly trinity, a perfectly united mother, child and father.

That heaven was in the young mother's face, when the father said, "I think she smiled."

THAT EASTERN EARTHQUAKE

California is interested in the earthquake "back east" that shook New York, reaching up and down the Atlantic coast, and as far west as Michigan, this time the slip of the earth's crust is in the Atlantic instead of the Pacific.

Despite eastern exaggeration of western earthquakes, natives out here do not laugh when they meet, they just say, "too bad," and look as serious as they possibly can.

EBERT, HONOR HIM

The death of President Ebert will establish more firmly the German republic. Germans know than an earnest, intelligent workman, with his fellow workers back of him can manage the nation.

They know that a saber waving all highest, in partnership with God, is not necessary to national business.

Thanks to Ebert, to the highly intelligent and scientifically trained German specialists, and the lions of German workers, educated for 40 years in the social Democratic party, the Germans have the power of self-government.

Their administration has stood firm ever since the war under most horribly trying conditions. That is the greatest possible tribute to the self-governing power of the Germans. And Ebert will be honored in history as the loyal servant of German democracy.

GET YOUR MONOPLANE

Young men with courage and ambition TURN YOUR MINDS TOWARD FLYING. Ex-service men that flew in the war, cheer up.

Henry Ford and his son are building all metal monoplanes, and small dirigibles, with all metal gas containers.

That means opportunity.

Be among the first to get one of the monoplanes that will "fly 140 miles an hour, and carry a useful load of 2,000 pounds."

Such a machine, once he knows how to run it, should enable a young man of the right kind to earn $100 a day. And that sum, $600 a week, would be a "useful load" to carry home each Saturday.

For information, write to Henry Ford, or better still to Edsel Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

Secretary Weeks tells the congressional committee that he holds no grudge against Brigadier General Mitchell for telling the truth, and that he has no thought of disciplining General Mitchell. That is welcome. The people would like to think that the truth is not kept from them by official threats.

Mr. Weeks adds "the question of the reappointment of General Mitchell as assistant chief of the service is in the hands of the president."

If that is so, the people may be sure that General Mitchell will not be demoted, or humiliated. The president, like the people, is glad to know the truth.

No act of his, and no failure on his part to act, will cause General Mitchell to lose rank. Of that, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

A tall, dark person with the earmarks of a plain-clothes man stepped into the thick stuffiness of the subway train. His face was severely stern, his jaw indicative of a grim determination, and his shrewd gray eyes stared seachingly at the young man who sat opposite. The latter squirmed uneasily in his seat, shifted his gaze, and readjusted his newspaper. The gray eyes never faltered. The young man glanced furtively towards the door. Feverishly he rose to start for the exit. A hand fell on his shoulder. A quiet voice said:

"Pardon me, but your left shoe is untied."

She was very pretty, he was very ardent. And they both were young.

"Ethel," he murmured, and the very intonation of his voice was a caress. "You've your father's fine, frank blue eyes."

"Go on," she laughed. Don't be silly!" She was a modern maid.

"But you have, dear," he insisted. "And you have your mother's beautiful golden hair."

She glanced about her in fear as she laid her fair little hand upon his lips.

City Management Makes Gain

The city manager plan of government, a subject of discussion in East Liverpool a few years ago, but forgotten as election day neared, appears to be gaining in the number of its supporters.

Kansas City is the latest recruit in the long list of cities that prefer to have their municipal affairs run on a business rather than a political basis. The voters adopted the plan by a vote of four to one.

The size of Kansas City makes this a notable triumph for the new method of administration. It is the third-largest city accepting the plan, the first and second being Cleveland and Cincinnati. Altogether there are now about 350 municipalities, with populations ranging from a few hundred to near a million, possessing this system.

The Kansas plan differs a little from most others, in having a mayor elected by the people and possessing a moderate amount of appointive power, and having four district councilmen and four chosen at large. The manager, of course, will look after the great mass of business administration. The smallness of the council should be an advantage, attracting good men, centering attention upon them, eliminating partisan politics and promoting eficiency.

Whether East Liverpool looks with favor upon the city management idea is problematical, but if it is as good as its adherents claim it would not be amiss to investigate it. And the number of cities approving it indicates it has some merit.

The Fortunate Class

The "middle classes" have been much pitied in late years, by themselves and others. They have seemed, during war times and war prices, to be ground between the millstones of capital and labor. The people who are neither rich nor poor have been compared unfavorably with the wage-earning classes, because so often they have more expensive tastes with less money to gratify them.

All this, says B. C. Forbes, financial writer, is wrong. He knows what it is to be poor, and he has seen much of the rich, and he testifies that, speaking broadly, the people who are moderately well-to-do "enjoy a larger measure of happiness than either those who have to struggle to make both ends meet or those who possess fortunes running into seven or eight or nine figures."

Thoughtful and observing people will probably agree with him. The very successful man usually loses something—health or time or zest—in the quest for wealth which leaves him incapable of really enjoying its benefits. The rich person who has not earned his money seldom gets his full share of joy from spending it. The poor man finds it hard to be happy, amid all the material inconveniences and limitations of his position, unless he is very much of a philosopher.

The man who has made his own way, and won to modest comfort and self-respect and the family developing with him, appreciating opportunities and enjoyments because they are fresh and unspoiled, and lacking the burdens and responsibilities of great wealth—these are the lucky ones.

"Give me neither poverty nor riches," said Solomon.

No Sex in Politics

Asked "what women have accomplished in the political field," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, replies:

"It is distasteful for me to differentiate between men and women in politics. Men and women should think of their responsibilities at the polls not as men and not as women, but as human beings and citizens. Those who think alike, be they men or women, should combine their forces to make their ideals successful."

It is sound, sane doctrine, worth far more than the frothy "feminist" stuff that is still heard, occasionally. If there is any natural conflict between the sexes, it is not in the political field, for the aim of politics, or government, is the good of all. There is no sex in citizenship. The state is the common father and mother of all, and individual mothers and fathers ought to be as united in handling its work as they are in seeking the good of their own children.

EDUCATIONAL RANKING OF STATES

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By two distinct processes for determining the educational standing of the states of the union it has been found that practically the same states head the list for the year 1922. By the method of index numbers they are, ranking in the order named, California, New Jersey, Ohio, Washington, Indiana, New York, Nevada, Michigan, Arizona and Montana.

Similarly, by the method of ranks they have been found to be: Washington, California, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, District of Columbia, New York, Iowa, Nevada and New Jersey.

Two states, including the District of Columbia as a state, appear in one list of the first ten and are not found in the other. Arizona, ranked ninth by the index method, and Montana, ranked tenth, are, respectively, twenty-sixth and sixteenth by the ranks method. The District of Columbia, which comes sixth under the latter system of ranking, and Iowa, which is plased eighth, are respectively, seventeenth and eleventeenth by the index number method.

Five years ago Leonard P. Ayres used the index method in preparing a monograph for the Russell Sage Foundation that aroused much discussion at the time of its appearance. Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of George Washington university, has now created a similar furore with a study in which he uses the method of ranks and compares his results with those of Colonel Ayres.

Although Dr. Phillips is also identified with the United States bureau of education he did not undertake this work as a government official and his monograph is not issued as a government publication, but has been published by the Bruce Publishing company, of Milwaukee, under the title, "Educational Ranking of States by Two Methods."

In ranking states educationally or otherwise, Dr. Phillips explains, there are always a large number of items to be considered as possible units upon which bases of comparison might be made. Some of these can be measured statistically and some cannot. It is rather difficult, for example, to measure the teaching efficiency or the teacher preparation of a large body of teachers scattered over a whole state and express that in a mathematical coefficient.

CAN'T MEASURE SCHOOL RESULTS

"It is practically impossible to measure the mental level of the graduates turned out by the various public high schools," says the doctor. "It is impossible to measure the general good a given school system does for the community or for the state as a whole. It is necessary, then, in devising a system of ranking states educationally, to use only such items as can be measured in mathematical terms and use only those for which information is available. If the ranking system is to cover several years of time the number of items will be still further reduced because some items are vailable for one period and not for another.

"It is also impossible to select points upon which educational authorities in the various states will agree, nor is it possible to weigh these items in a way satisfactory to those concerned. Some states are sparsely settled, making education costs necessarily high; other states are densely settled, making it possible to run an educational system more economically.

"Some states have practically one-fourth of the school population in private and parochial schools, and some states have no such schools whatever. Some states are troubled with a large illiterate population, which may be due to a large number of foreign born groups, colored groups, or other groups which the public schools have not been able to reach. Ranking systems must therefore be arbitrarily made and the results used with a great deal of caution."

Data covering ten points which are purely nonpersonal and which have to do chiefly with school attendance and costs were tabulated by Colonel Ayres in applying his method of index numbers. These points are: Per cent of school population attending school daily; average number of days attended by each child of school age; average number of days school were open; per cent that high school attendance is of total attendance; per cent that boys are to girls in high schools; average annual expenditure per child attending; average annual expediture per child of school age; average annual expenditure per teacher employed expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries, and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

INDEX NUMBERS AVERAGED

The sum of the ten indices for these points was then divided by ten to get the index number of a particular state for a given year, and the states were ranked according to these index numbers. Colonel Ayres obtained indices by state for 1890, 1900, 1910, 1916 and 1918, and Dr. Phillips in his study carried this work forward to cover the year 1922 by the Ayres method in order that a comparison of the results obtained by the two methods might be made for the last year for which data were available.

The ten points selected by Dr. Phillips in working out his method of ranks are: Percentage of illiterates ten years of age and over; ration of number of children in average daily attendance to number 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive; percentage of attendance in high school; average number of days attended by each child enrolled; average number of days schools were kept open; ratio of number of students taking normal training courses to number of teaching positions; percentage of high school graduates continuing their education; total cost, excluding salaries, per pupil in average daily attendance, and average annual salary of teachers, principals and supervisors.

Five of the points used by Colonel Ayres had to do with attendance, school opportunity afforded, etc., and five with expenditures. Four of Dr. Phillips' points deal with school sessions and attendance, three with preparation and results, and three with school costs.

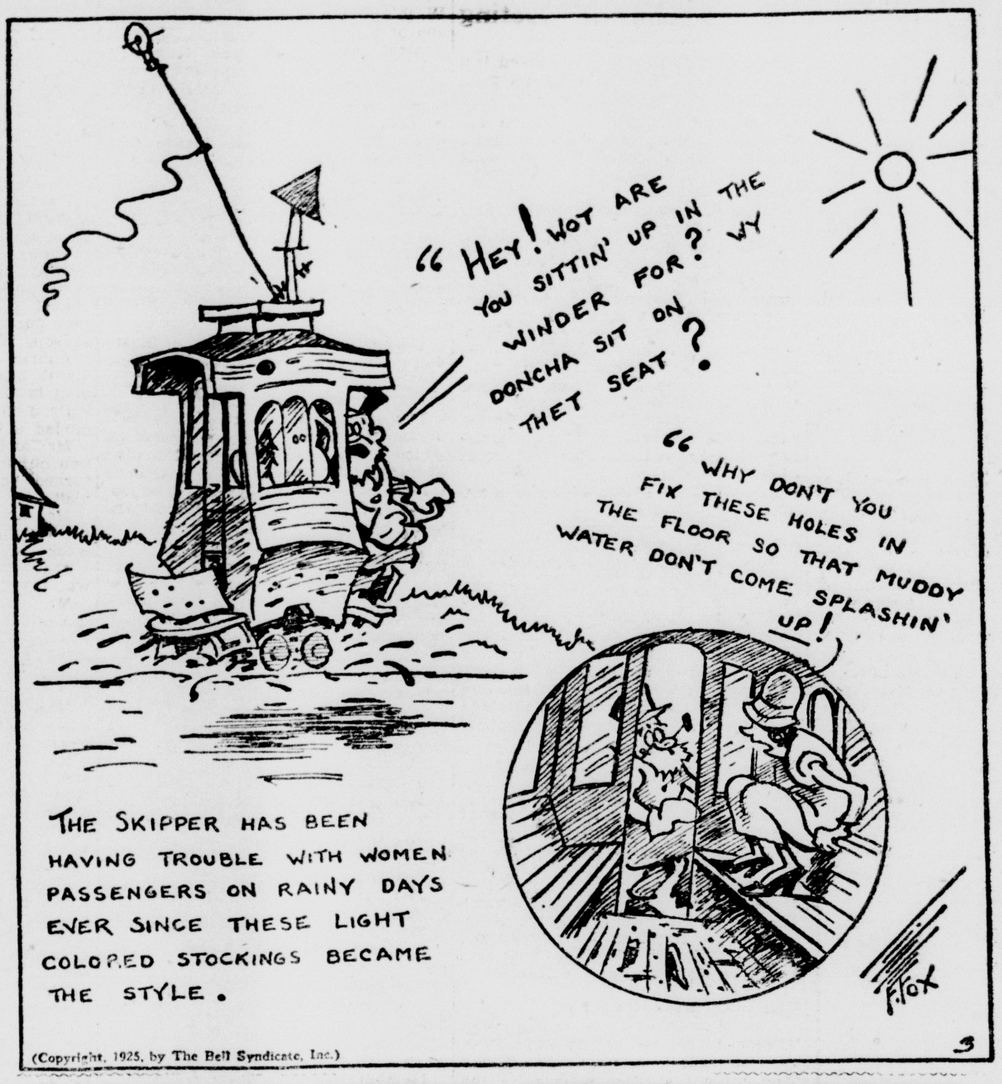

"The results are pretty much the same," says Dr. Phillips. "In 1910, five states have the same rank by both methods; in 1922, six states rank alike. In 1910, 35 states do not differ by more than four points in ranks; in 1918 there are 30 states, in 1920, 31, and in 1922, 35 within four points by both methods. This means that three-fourths of the states are shifted in rank less than five places by a change from one method to another. There are, however, some manifest changes in the ranking of some states, especially in those that had ranked high in matters of cost. Illiteracy, average daily attendance, per cent of school census in attendance and per cent of high school graduates continuing in school all seem to be factors in making a change in rank."

The states in addition to the 10 named as heading the list are ranked for 1922 by the Ayres method as follows, in the order named: Iowa, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wyoming, Illinois, District of Columbia, Utah, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Kansas, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, Missouri, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Louisiana, Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina.

By the Phillips method the additional states are ranked: Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Oregon, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois, Kansas, Idaho, Utah, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Missouri, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Delaware, Maryland, Texas, New Mexico, West Virginia, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Admiring George's nifty little car, one asked: "That's a fast looking car you have there. What's the most you ever got out of it?" "Five times in a mile," replied George—Columbus Dispatch.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 3.—I have always read in novels of strange adventures on shipboard. In five crossings my only adventures have been trivial—such as lurching into old ladies' laps, getting my hand caught trying to close portholes or falling down stairs.

Today I seemed to be on the heels of adventure. There was a smart rap on my door. A gold braided flunkey touched his tambourine cap, clicked his heels and presented an embossed envelope with a crest. Perhaps a lady in distress or something.

It was from the purser who presented his compliments and implored me at the earliest opportunity to see him privately in his quarters. I donned my best attire, including a flaming purple tie and presented myself forthwith. The adventure was tawdry.

I was merely told there was $1.20 excess charge on my luggage. Yet for more intrepid souls there must be adventure. You sense it. There is on every boat one of those cool, glacial and beautiful ladies who causes tongues to wag. You think of priceless smuggled pearls and matching wits against the pick of Scotland Yard.

One of the type is aboard. I heard one old lady say to her companion as the lady passed by on the promenade deck: "A scarlet woman." I would not go that far, but perhaps there is a dash of pink. She dines in her stateroom, shuns everybody and strolls the deck when the moon is out.

Unattached gentlemen give her covetous glances, whoever she is, she gives the ship a cosmopolitan tang. And no doubt she will prove to be the buyer for a middle west millinery house who is known in her town as "one of the Schwartz girls."

My bed seems to be the repository for refuse. So far the roll of the ship has dosed it with a splotch of ink, two loosely fried eggs and a pot of coffee.

There is an extremely precocious youngster on board. He is 12 years old and has crossed the Atlantic alone 22 times. He is fearfully British—fearfully—although born in Boston. He is attending an English school and runs home for each vacation. Last year he made four trips. He is entirely too worldly wise for one of his years and I think he needs some plentiful doses of what grandmother called "birch tea." He joins groups of men in the smoking lounge and drink rooms as nonchalantly as a fresh suspender salesman in a Pullman smoker. Several times he has spoken disdainfully of what he calls "Awmeer-ika."

At 12 as I remember my marine experience consisted of one ferry ride across the Ohio river on the steamer Champion. I do not believe this precocious child will ever have the thrill I had then. I went as the guest of Captain Rafe Hamilton and was absent 15 minutes, but for many weeks I would mention casually I had been over in West Virginia recently.

The best giggle of the trip so far was in the ballroom last night. All had been seated when she came in—an extremely pompous lady in flaming red silk. She had timed her approach. Her small daughter was waiting and she was the kind who said loudly: "Daughter, don't you stand up for mother?" You recognize her no doubt. She used an enormous fan in one hand and a pearl handled lorgnette in the other. The ship suddenly struck high seas. And with the momentum of a roller coaster car, her chair suddenly shot across the ballroom floor and she landed kerplunk amidship of an amazed and portly gentleman who was innocently and gently nodding. No one has seen the lady since.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By MICHAEL F. DACEY.

DENVER, March 3.—The mystery surrounding "Jack" Taylor, eccentric ranch hand, who burrowed into a huge strawstack on the ranch of M. C. James, near Parker, Col., 25 miles east of here, and remained buried for 48 days before being rescued, half dead, remains unsolved.

Taylor is believed to have been without food or water for fully five weeks. When found he was semi-conscious; one foot was frozen; he was terribly emaciated and had lost 100 pounds in weight. His clothing was in tatters as the result of constant knawing by a horde of field mice.

The story of Taylor's experience came to light the same day rescue workers in Cave City, Ky., discovered the body of Floyd Collins in his cavern tomb.

When an International News Service reporter sought out Taylor he was still in a precarious physical and mental condition. He could only speak in whispers; he hobbled about with the aid of a cane, and the big frame of his six feet two inches was noticeably stooped. Taylor was unable to talk of the agony he underwent during his weeks in the strawstack prison. He could give little inteligent information about himself or his antecedents.

M. C. James, who employed Taylor and who has tenderly cared for him since he found the ranch hand while taking straw from the stack to a barn, gave International News Service a clear version of the almost incredible story.

Dr. F. B. Cornell, village physician, told of the wasted condition Taylor was in when he treated him after the rescue.

"Taylor came here in June," said James, formerly in vocational education work for the government in Kentucky. "He was a big, strapping fellow, about 28 years of age, weighed close to 180 pounds, and was a splendid ranch hand. Something seemed to be preying on his mind, however, and he kept to himself for the most part.

"One day he confided to me that he was afraid officers were searching for him, and, with some urging, related how he had been employed in Texas where he believed a man had forged his name to some checks. 'Jack' explained that the man was an expert penman and that one day officers came to his place of employment in search of someone wanted for forgery."

James declared he believed Taylor was absolutely honest, and that the men had perpetrated a practical joke upon him.

"But Taylor ran away from his Texas employment and came here," James continued. "For several months he worked steadily, but always remained by himself, appearing inordinately shy at the approach of strangers.

"Early in the evening of November 2 some friends of ours called at the ranch. Taylor disappeared the moment he noticed them. We looked for some trace of Taylor over the 500-acre ranch, but found none and concluded he had left the country.

"On December 20, 48 days after his disappearance, while pitching straw from the stack my fork hit something hard. Pulling away the straw I found Taylor. He was in a pitiable condition from exposure and starvation. I later learned from him that the first eight or ten days of his self-imposed imprisonment he ventured out at night to secure a few scraps of food and water. But after the first ten days he became so weak he was unable to leave the strawstack and remained there without food or water for 37 or 38 days.

"We called Dr. Cornell and started the fight to restore him to health. For several weeks only liquid foods were given him—hot water and hot milk with a little sugar at first, then broths and soups. He is now able to take some solid foods and is gradually recovering his strength. But it will be many weeks yet before he will be vigorous."

Secretary Weeks tells the congressional committee that he holds no grundge against Brigadier General Mitchell for telling the truth, and that he has no thought of disciplining General Mitchell. That is welcome. The people would like to think that the truth is not kept from them by official threats.

Mr. Weeks adds "the question of the reappointment of General Mitchell as assistant chief of the service is in the hands of the president."

If that is so, the people may be sure that General Mitchell will not be demoted, or humiliated. The president, like the people, is glad to know the truth.

No act of his, and no failure on his part to act, will cause General Mitchell to lose rank. Of that, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

A tall, dark person with the earmarks of a plain-clothes man stepped into the thick stuffiness of the subway train. His face was severely stern, his jaw indicative of a grim determination, and his shrewd gray eyes stared seachingly at the young man who sat opposite. The latter squirmed uneasily in his seat, shifted his gaze, and readjusted his newspaper. The gray eyes never faltered. The young man glanced furtively towards the door. Feverishly he rose to start for the exit. A hand fell on his shoulder. A quiet voice said:

"Pardon me, but your left shoe is untied."

She was very pretty, he was very ardent. And they both were young.

"Ethel," he murmured, and the very intonation of his voice was a caress. "You've your father's fine, frank blue eyes."

"Go on," she laughed. Don't be silly!" She was a modern maid.

"But you have, dear," he insisted. "And you have your mother's beautiful golden hair."

She glanced about her in fear as she laid her fair little hand upon his lips.

"S-sh!" she whispered. "Don't speak so loud, Jack; she doesn't know I'm wearing it!"

COMMISSIONERS HOLD MEETING

Road Matters Discussed at Regular Session Monday.

With the approach of spring, much attention is being given new road construction at every meeting of the county commissioners, and unlike a situation that prevailed in former years, township trustees and farmers show more willingness to co-operate with the commissioners than ever before. By this plan new road work is advanced at least 50 per cent.

It is due mainly to the trustees and farmers of Middleton township that this situation prevails, as the Middleton road boosters blazed the trail to get new highways at a low cost, and now others are falling in line rapidly.

Salem township trustees and farmers residing on the road from Badgers Corners east to Franklin Square are going to follow the plan of the Middleton trustees, and the only difference in the program is that in lieu of allowing the county steam shovel to work on this road, it having been graded, the commissioners agreeing to donate 50 cars of run of mine slag for this road and the property owners along this road and the trustees will spread the slag, thereby eliminating another mud road from the list of hundreds in the county.

This cross-country road will connect with Lisbon-Salem road with the paved road at Franklin Square which extends into Leetonia. The order for the slag will be placed within the next few days, and the spreading will begin within the next month.

The widening of the Lisbon-Salem road from the north corporate limits of Salem to the top of the grade, 1,000 feet south of the Erie railroad crossing is on the program for completion this year. The commissioners have agreed to appropriate $4,300 as the county share for the widening of section H of this road, which is that part paved with brick just north of the concrete road in the village of Lisbon. Section G of this road is the macadam section just north of the narrow brick road, and this is a state proposition.

The state highway department, following a traffic survey on this road, declared that the narrow brick and macadam sections should be widened as a matter of public safety. Because of this situation, the improvement of this road this summer is assured.

Trustees of Hanover township and the county commissioners propose to go before L. A. Boulay, director of the state highway department, at an early date and request that the state join with Columbiana county and the Hanover trustees in grading the Hanover-Salem road this year.

Two estimates have been prepared for this job, the estimate for the road, known as the present traveled highway costing $45,590 for the 4.44 miles, to the Hanover-Butler township line, and another estimate for $48,600 for a second route, which has been suggested over new ground by Division Engineer W. C. Fawcett.

The commissioners and the Hanover trustees are favorable to the grading of the present traveled road.

"You can rest assured that two members of the board, Mr. Bye and myself are in favor of the present road, and I do not know how Mr. Kelly feels about it," suggested Chairman Conrad Berg to the Hanover trustees.

"Well, I'll say this," interjected Mr. Kelly, "if Mr. Berg and Mr. Bye are in favor of this road, I am also, but, if the state highway department is in favor of another route and will not give us anything on the road we want, then I think it best to take what the state highway department will give."

"Sure a half loaf is better than none at all," came from Chairman Frank Cox, of the Hnavore trustees.

The commissioners and the Hanover trustees will go as one man before the state highway department favoring one route, but if the joint board cannot get what they want they will take the next best offer, so that the township will get some action on one route that will connect the Lincoln highway with the Cox highway at Salem.

Trustees of Unity township want the Fairfield-Simpson Corners road improved sooner or later, and with this end in view the Unitey trustees and a delegation of residents interested in the project went before the commissioners Monday and presented their proposition.

This request resulted in the commissioners issuing an order to County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk to make a survey and estimate of the cost of grading this road. The job will be put over at the earliest time possible by the field men from the surveyor's office.

SPELLING CONTEST PRIZES OFFERED

The People's State bank and the Firestone bank, both of Lisbon, have contributed $5 each as first prize money to the winners in the county spelling contest, which will be held in the David Anderson High school, Lisbon, Saturday, April 25.

Another friend of the school children has contributed $5 also, but this money will be divided into $2.50 as second prizes.

The preliminary spelling contests will be held in all fifth and sixth and seventh and eighth grade schools under the control of County Superintendent of Schools H. G. Leonard Friday, April 10.

All rural schools in this county will close their terms May 8, Superintendent Leonard announced today.

SPECIAL VENIRE MAY BE DRAWN

A special venire of 75 jurors will have to be drawn from the jury wheel should the special grand jury which convenes at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning return any first degree murder indictments.

This is under a new section of law, and means that the office of Sheriff Wright will be active in the field serving subpoenas for several days.

Under the old law a smaller number of jurors were drawn in first degree murder cases, and then when a return was made that one or more names drawn could not be found, then two other names were withdrawn from the wheel for every one "missing."

Should any first degree indictments be returned by the special grand jury the cases cannot be called for trial until after 15 days elapse.

DANGER SIGNS WILL BE PLACED

The Kiwanis club of Salineville has been granted a request by the county commissioners and three danger reflector signs will be placed in Washington township. Two of these danger reflector signs will be placed at danger points on the Wellsville-Salineville road and another will be placed on the Salineville-Lisbon road.

"Defacing or breaking these signs will go hard with any one caught committing such acts," declared Sheriff George Wright. "These danger signals are placed on the highways for the protection of the public, and you can rest assured that we'll protect the signs as far as we are able," Wright told the commissioners.

MEXICAN FINED, LODGED IN JAIL

Jesus Lara, Mexican, was picked up at the Pennsylvania passenger station by railroad detectives and lodged in the county jail Sunday night.

Lara was arrested a few days before in Salem, and after he was released he immediately "parked" himself again at the railroad station, the railroad police explained to Sheriff George Wright.

The Mexican was charged with being a vagrant in a Lisbon court and fined $25 and costs, and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Guardian Appointed.

In the case of Mary Fitzpatrick against Mary Strickler and others, which is an action in partition, Attorney George Lafferty, of Lisbon, has been appointed guardian for the suit for the minors concerned in this cause. A decree in partition has been granted as prayed for by Judge James G. Moore, the commissioners being J. V. Stewart, Jerry Shontz and E. P. Frinkhouser.

By consent of counsel, the case of the Paramount Publicity corporation against Ferris Morris, doing business as The Fair store, Salem, has been continued. Ferris won a verdict in the lower court at Salem and the plaintiff then took an appeal to common pleas.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Roy B. Workman, a potter, residing at Sebring, and Miss Betty Adams, also employed as a pottery worker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, of Salem. They were married by the Rev. Rutzky, pastor of the Lutheran church at Salem.

STREET SURVEY IS ORDERED HERE

In anticipation of free mail delivery in Lisbon, the Lisbon council at its meeting Monday night appointed the council as a whole to make a survey of all streets in the Village for the purpose of charting those properties minus sidewalks.

A proper resolution is to be placed upon the minutes of council and the resolution certified to all property owners to construct proper sidewalks, otherwise the Village will order the improvement, and the cost taxed against the property.

The council also took advantage of the new tax law, and asked Village Clerk Lloyd Binsley to certify to council at once the amount of the loating debt of the corporation, so that petitions could be circulated under the provisions of the new law, giving council the right to place a special levy on the duplicate outside of all existing limitations for the purpose of liquidating this debt.

Whether or not the proposal of Mayor Frank E. Albrecht to place a motor cycle officer on duty in the corporation will become a reality, will not be determined until the next meeting of council.

Mayor Albrecht reported to council that $573.30 was collected in fines during February, of which $446.80 remained in the village treasury and $107.50 went to the state and $20 to the county.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD MEETING

Road Matters Discussed at Regular Session Monday.

With the approach of spring, much attention is being given new road construction at every meeting of the county commissioners, and unlike a situation that prevailed in former years, township trustees and farmers show more willingness to co-operate with the commissioners than ever before. By this plan new road work is advanced at least 50 per cent.

It is due mainly to the trustese and farmers of Middleton township that this situation prevails, as the Middleton road boosters blazed the trail to get new highways at a low cost, and now others are falling in line rapidly.

Salem township trustees and farmers residing on the road from Badgers Corners east to Franklin Square are going to follow the plan of the Middleton trustees, and the only difference in the program is that in lieu of allowing the county steam shovel to work on this road, it having been graded, the commissioners agreeing to donate 50 cars of run of mine slag for this road and the property owners along this road and the trustees will spread the slag, thereby eliminating another mud road from the list of hundreds in the county.

This cross-country road will connect with Lisbon-Salem road with the paved road at Franklin Square which extends into Leetonia. The order for the slag will be placed within the next few days, and the spreading will begin within the next month.

The widening of the Lisbon-Salem road from the north corporate limits of Salem to the top of the grade, 1,000 feet south of the Erie railroad crossing is on the program for completion this year. The commissioners have agreed to appropriate $4,300 as the county share for the widening of section H of this road, which is that part paved with brick just north of the concrete road in the village of Lisbon. Section G of this road is the macadam section just north of the narrow brick road, and this is a state proposition.

The state highway department, following a traffic survey on this road, declared that the narrow brick and macadam sections should be widened as a matter of public safety. Because of this situation, the improvement of this road this summer is assured.

Trustees of Hanover township and the county commissioners propose to go before L. A. Boulay, director of the state highway department, at an early date and request that the state join with Columbiana county and the Hanover trustees in grading the Hanover-Salem road this year.

Two estimates have been prepared for this job, the estimate for the road, known as the present traveled highway costing $45,590 for the 4.44 miles to the Hanover-Butler township line, and another estimate for $48 600 for a second route, which has been suggested over new ground by Division Engineer W. C. Fawcett.

The commissioners and the Hanover trustees are favorable to the grading of the present traveled road.

"You can rest assured that two members of the board, Mr. Bye and myself are in favor of the present road, and I do not know how Mr. Kelly feels about it," suggested Chairman Conrad Berg to the Hanover trustees.

"Well, I'll say this," interjected Mr. Kelly, "if Mr. Berg and Mr. Bye are in favor of this road, I am also, but, if the state highway department is in favor of another route and will not give us anything on the road we want, then I think it best to take what the the state highway department will give."

"Sure a half loaf is better than none at all," came from Chairman Frank Cox, of the Hnavore trustees.

The commissioners and the Hanover trustees will go as one man before the state highway department favoring one route, but if the joint board cannot get what they want they will take the next best offer, so that the township will get some action on one route that will connect the Lincoln highway with the Cox highway at Salem.

Trustees of Unity township want the Fairfield-Simpson Corners road improved sooner or later, and with this end in view the Unitey trustees and a delegation of residents interested in the project went before the commissioners Monday and presented their proposition.

This request resulted in the commissioners issuing an order to County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk to make a survey and estimate of the cost of grading this road. The job will be put over at the earliest time possible by the field men from the surveyor's office.

SPELLING CONTEST PRIZES OFFERED

The People's State bank and the Firestone bank, both of Lisbon, have contributed $5 each as first prize money to the winners in the county spelling contest, which will be held in the David Anderson High school, Lisbon, Saturday, April 25.

Another friend of the school children has contributed $5 also, but this money will be divided into $2.50 as second prizes.

The preliminary spelling contests will be held in all fifth and sixth and seventh and eighth grade schools under the control of County Superintendent of Schools H. G. Leonard Friday, April 10.

All rural schools in this county will close their terms May 8, Superintendent Leonard announced today.

SPECIAL VENIRE MAY BE DRAWN

A special venire of 75 jurors will have to be drawn from the jury wheel should the special grand jury which convenes at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning return any first degree murder indictments.

This is under a new section of law, and means that the office of Sheriff Wright will be active in the field serving subpoenas for several days.

Under the old law a smaller number of jurors were drawn in first degree murder cases, and then when a return was made that one or more names drawn could not be found then two other names were withdrawn from the wheel for every one "missing."

Should any first degree indictments be returned by the special grand jury the cases cannot be called for trial until after 15 days elapse.

DANGER SIGNS WILL BE PLACED

The Kiwanis club of Salineville has been granted a request by the county commissioners and three danger reflector signs will be placed in Washington township. Two of these danger reflector signs will be placed at danger points on the Wellsville-Salineville road and another will be placed on the Salineville-Lisbon road.

"Defacing or breaking these signs will go hard with any one caught committing such acts," declared Sheriff George Wright. "These danger signals are placed on the highways for the protection of the public, and you can rest assured that we'll protect the signs as far as we are able," Wright told the commissioners.

MEXICAN FINED, LODGED IN JAIL

Jesus Lara, Mexican, was picked up at the Pennsylvania passenger station by railroad detectives and lodged in the county jail Sunday night.

Lara was arrested a few days before in Salem, and after he was released he immediately "parked" himself again at the railroad station, the railroad police explained to Sheriff George Wright.

The Mexican was charged with being a vagrant in a Lisbon court and fined $25 and costs, and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Guardian Appointed.

In the case of Mary Fitzpatrick against Mary Strickler and others, which is an action in partition, Attorney George Lafferty, of Lisbon, has been appointed guardian for the suit for the minors concerned in this cause. A decree in partition has been granted as prayed for by Judge James G. Moore, the commissioners being J. V. Stewart, Jerry Shontz and E. P. Frinkhouser.

STREET SURVEY IS ORDERED HERE

In anticipation of free mail delivery in Lisbon, the Lisbon council at its meeting Monday night appointed the council as a whole to make a survey of all streets in the Village for the purpose of charting those properties minus sidewalks.

A proper resolution is to be placed upon the minutes of council and the resolution certified to all property owners to construct proper sidewalks, otherwise the Village will order the improvement, and the cost taxed against the property.

The council also took advantage of the new tax law, and asked Village Clerk Lloyd Binsley to certify to council at once the amount of the loating debt of the corporation, so that petitions could be circulated under the provisions of the new law, giving council the right to place a special levy on the duplicate outside of all existing limitations for the purpose of liquidating this debt.

Whether or not the proposal of Mayor Frank E. Albrecht to place a motor cycle officer on duty in the corporation will become a reality, will not be determined until the next meeting of council.

Mayor Albrecht reported to council that $573.30 was collected in fines during February, of which $446.80 remained in the village treasury and $107.50 went to the state and $20 to the county.

MINSTREL SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

Firemen Score Heavily at Opening Performance Last Night.

Greeted by a capacity house the first performance of the minstrel under the auspices of the Chester fire department last night in the Chester theatre was acclaimed as one of the best home talent shows ever given in this city. Costumes and stage settings were in keeping with the high standard of the show.

There was not a dull moment in the entire performance and every member of the cast appeared in good advantage both in the minstrel and specialty numbers. Encores were numerous. Songs, dances and musical numbers injected into the program proved popular and fitted in nicely with the high calibre of the minstrel entertainment.

William "Peck" McKinney, capably filled the important role of interlocutor, while William "Buck" Stevenson stood out prominent as director. Mrs. Dever Dewell was the pianist. John Davis, Andy Blair, Lon Allison, George Morris, George Kimble, Dever Dewell, William Haney and Percy Willison, scored heavily as end men and kept the large crowd in an uproar. Lawrence Smith rendered a xylophone solo while a vocal selection by J. C. Cunningham was well received. John Davis scored one of the biggest hits of the evening in a skit entitled, "Alahama Hawaiians and Loko Motor A Taxi." He was also a feature in a monologue being assisted by a quartette taken from the cast. Mary McKenna was seen in a Spanish dance which brought her several encores.

The final performance will be given this evening and there is every indication that the crowd will tax the capacity of the theatre.

Face Disfigured. Lost Rest. Healed by Cuticura.

"I was troubled with pimples for a long time. They were large, hard and red and some of them festered. The pimples were very annoying as they not only disfigured my face but burned and itched all the time, causing me to scratch. The scratching caused eruptions and I lost my rest at night because of the irritation.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Mildred Leveen, 1516 Seventh St., Rock Island, Ill., July 14, 1924.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful; substitute for calomel there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

JAIL CONDITIONS SCORED BY JUDGE

Conditions in the Brooke county jail were characterized by Judge J. B. Sommerville as a "disgrace to the community" in his charge to the grand jury as the opening of the March term of court in Wellsburg yesterday. He then named a committee of prominent citizens to make an investigation and report its findings to the court Saturday, March 7.

Judge Sommerville said he recently made a personal inspection of the county jail upon request and found conditions there "shocking to him." Prisoners are confined in cells that are altogether inadequate and dangerous to the health. The original capacity of the jail was less than 20, but for two years or more the prison population has increased to 40, and in some instances even higher.

Judge Sommerville instructed the committee to make a thorough examination of the entire county building, reporting necessary improvements in every department. "The jail," he added, "was the primary factor, as the health of the inmates must be preserved above all.

The order was read to the committee and court then proceeded with its regular work.

What to Do For A Persistent Cough

Everybody knows how foolish and dangerous it is to let a cough hang on and on. The proper thing to do is to stop it—quick—and for this purpose there is nothing better than that great old home remedy that our parents and grandparents used so successfully—Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. It often relieves a severe cough overnight. Doctors say there is really nothing like pine tar to quickly loosen and remove the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste but helps soothe soreness and irritation.

But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey and not some substitute. Dr. Bell's is the original, and has been known for many years as the best. It is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting ingredients, which the best doctors have found to aid in bringing quick relief. Contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, so can be given even to young children—fine for spasmodic croup. If you want the best home remedy in the drug store, get Dr. Bell's. 30c at all good druggists.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri.—"After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. I was in a weak and run-down condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonials it contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first bottle and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. N. R. Layton, 2726A University St., St. Louis, Missouri.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand.

Thomas Meighan Has Great Cast of 400 In "Coming Through"

Some four-hundred odd persons appear in support of Thomas Meighan in his new Paramount picture, "Coming Through," which will be the feature three days starting Thursday at the Ceramic theatre.

Here's the answer, folks. The four hundred are real honest-to-goodness miners who appear in the coal mine scenes of the story. The others all have prominent roles in the cast.

Lila Lee, who returns to the screen after a year's absence in "Coming Through," adapted to the screen from Jack Betha's novel, "Bed Rock," is featured in the leading woman's role opposite Tom. It's like old times to have Lila back with Meighan. Miss Lee appeared with the star in many of his earlier successes.

Wallace Beery, whom the fans will remember for his excellent work in "Robin Hood" and in "The Sea Hawk" is the villain in this picture. He is cast in the role of a roughneck mine foreman who does his best to put Tom out of the way for keeps. As Joe Lawler, Beery is claimed to have the greatest opportunity of his career.

John Miltern plays Lila Lee's father in the production. He is John Rand, president of the steel corporation in which Meighan is an employe. Frank Campeau, another screen favorite, portrays his living by the sale of bootleg liquor in the mining camp at Colton where Meighan is sent as superintendent.

Laurance Wheat, seen with Tom in "The Confidence Man" and many others, is also well cast as are Gus Weinburg and Alice Knowland.

Here's Tom with one of finest casts ever—in a story of the Alabama mining camps that might have been written to order for him.

Ore Unloaded by Magnet.

A new Norwegian steamship carrying a cargo of ore to the United States, on its arrival unloaded the product of the mine with huge magnets which operated as part of the crane. The magnet, a huge saucershaped disc, is highly magnetized, and when it is lowered into the hold of the vessel, large chunks of ore, weighing 50 or 100 pounds each, leap to it. The mass thus collected almost instantly weighs as much as a ton and a half. It is then hoisted and swung to the dock where the ore is released by an electric switch.

Japan's trade with the outside world last year was 162 times greater than in 1868, when the country began doing business with the rest of the world.

HOW TO END BLADDER TROUBLE

Remarkable results in quickly clearing up long-standing cases of bladder trouble and weak kidneys are being obtained with a remarkable remedy originally compounded many years ago by a famous Holland chemist. It goes direct to the overworked and congested kidneys and bladder, and tones them up and restores them to normal working order often in 24 hours. Physicians have known its value for years, but it is only recently that the genuine imported oil has been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsule form, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. Costs only 50c, and sold under an absolute money-back guarantee. Ask these druggists: Herche's Drug Store, C. G. Anderson, J. C. Carnahan, Gombi's Drug Store.

Awarded Damages.

GARRETT, Ind.—Proving to the satisfaction of the courts that his health was seriously impaired by operating a leaky railroad locomotive, Ezra Sliger, veteran engineer, was awarded $13,069.80 from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which he named as defendant in a damage suit.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums—not the teeth

You may take good care of your teeth and still get Pyorrhea. Once Pyorrhea secures a firm hold, pus pockets form, gums become weak and flabby, the teeth loosen and fall out no matter how white and sound they may be.

Forhan's means healthy gums

It contains the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent, as used by the dental profession in treating Pyorrhea. Forhan's protects the gums, keeps them in a firm, healthy condition, and leaves the mouth sweet, fresh and wholesome. If you don't care to discontinue your regular tooth paste, at least brush your teeth and gums once a day with Forhan's.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

MINSTREL SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

Firemen Score Heavily at Opening Performance Last Night.

Greeted by a capacity house the first performance of the minstrel under the auspices of the Chester fire department last night in the Chester theatre was acclaimed as one of the best home talent shows ever given in this city. Costumes and stage settings were in keeping with the high standard of the show.

There was not a dull moment in the entire performance and every member of the cast appeared in good advantage both in the minstrel and specialty numbers. Encores were numerous. Songs, dances and musical numbers injected into the program proved popular and fitted in nicely with the high calibre of the minstrel entertainment.

William "Peck" McKinney, capably filled the important role of interlocator, while William "Buck" Stevenson stood out prominent as director. Mrs. Dever Dewell was the pianist. John Davis, Andy Blair, Lon Allison, George Morris, George Kimble, Dever Dewell, William Haney and Percy Willison, scored heavily as end men and kept the large crowd in an uproar. Lawrence Smith rendered a xylophone solo while a vocal selection by J. C. Cunningham was well received. John Davis scored one of the biggest hits of the evening in a skit entitled, "Alahama Hawaiians and Loko Motor A Taxi." He was also a feature in a monologue being assisted by a quartette taken from the cast. Mary McKenna was seen in a Spanish dance which brought her several encores.

The final performance will be given this evening and there is every indication that the crowd will tax the capacity of the theatre.

GORE RESIGNS CABINET POST

President Coolidge yesterday formally accepted the resignation of Howard M. Gore as secretary of agriculture. Mr. Gore will be inaugurated as governor of West Virginia tomorrow.

Accepting the resignation, President Coolidge said he "should be very much pleased if your commitment to the service of your people in West Virginia had not made it impractical for you to remain as secretary of agriculture."

The president expressed "great satisfaction" in Mr. Gore's services and declared West Virginia "is most fortunate" in its selection of its chief executive.

Mr. Gore, in tendering his resignation, expressed gratitude for the opportunity to "serve my country" and said he departed with an "abiding faith in the sturdy citizenry and the institutions" of the country.

PIMPLES ITCHED ALL THE TIME

Face Disfigured. Lost Rest. Healed by Cuticura.

"I was troubled with pimples for a long time. They were large, hard and red and some of them festered. The pimples were very annoying as they not only disfigured my face but burned and itched all the time, causing me to scratch. The scratching caused eruptions and I lost my rest at night because of the irritation.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Mildred Leveen, 1516 Seventh St., Rock Island, Ill., July 14, 1924.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful; substitute for calomel there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

JAIL CONDITIONS SCORED BY JUDGE

Conditions in the Brooke county jail were characterized by Judge J. B. Sommerville as a "disgrace to the community" in his charge to the grand jury as the opening of the March term of court in Wellsburg yesterday. He then named a committee of prominent citizens to make an investigation and report its findings to the court Saturday, March 7.

Judge Sommerville said he recently made a personal inspection of the county jail upon request and found conditions there "shocking to him." Prisoners are confined in cells that are altogether inadequate and dangerous to the health. The original capacity of the jail was less than 20, but for two years or more the prison population has increased to 40, and in some instances even higher.

Judge Sommerville instructed the committee to make a thorough examination of the entire county building, reporting necessary improvements in every department. "The jail," he added, "was the primary factor, as the health of the inmates must be preserved above all.

The order was read to the committee and court then proceeded with its regular work.

ARCH DALRYMPLE NAMED OFFICER

Arch Dalrymple, son of former Mayor W. B. Dalrymple, was named police officer last night at the regular meeting of council. He won out over A. W. Myers and Granville Reed who were also candidates for the position which was authorized by council at the previous meeting.

Dalrymple was sworn in after the meeting by Mayor Frank Riley and began his duties at midnight.

BIG BOOZE RAID AT FOLLANSBEE

Deputy State Prohibition commissioner Alonzo Prince headed a party of raiders who visited the Follansbee Moose club last night and seized 2160 pints of home brew found stored in the club. Six slots were also confiscated.

Frank Dressing, steward of the club was arrested during the raid and was released under $2,000 bond for a hearing this evening.

SCHOOL ELECTION DATE IS FIXED

Regular meeting of the board of education was held last evening in the Central school building during which Thursday, March 19, was fixed as the date of election when a member will be elected owing to the expiration of the term of E. Y. Miller.

Candidates must file their names 10 days before the election with the clerk of the board. Electors will cast their ballots at the municipal building, as this will be the only booth open for this election.

Noon Shop Meeting.

Rev. H. A. Baldwin, of Warren, O., who is conducting services in the Free Methodist church, was the speaker at the noon shop meeting today in Taylor, Smith and Taylor pottery. Rev. E. A. Gilmer, pastor of the church, was the leader.

County Court Meets.

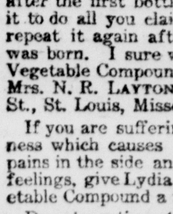

Members of the county court met yesterday in regular session at New Cumberland. The board granted the request of the county farm bureau for the appointment of a farm agent. The county will share with the state in paying the salary. Owing to the fact that the fiscal year will end in July the appropriation of the county will not be available until August 1.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

From the volume of her own mail, Karesia had some conception of how Dascome was being bombarded with sympathy, sentimentality—curiosity, too. No need for her to have felt hurt over the first accounts in the papers; they had been couched in official newspaper language; now the public was taking a hand.

Karesia learned much of the nature of her father's people. The papers stated that a room at the hospital was stacked with floral offerings sent to Mrs. Dascome by sympathetic women. Also that several motion-picture companies were bidding for Clarice, eager to avail themselves of a nation-wide publicity that had a wholesome heart appeal. The papers called Clarice "the most beautiful girl in America," and they did not forget to add, "and an heiress, too." There was a brief notice about Aimee Ormsby. She was in Paris. For several years she had been in poor health, and now she was seriously ill, prostrated by the distressing cabled accounts of her sister's disfigurement and mental condition.

Karesia had many callers, among them Nadine Navarre. She spoke of Clarice: "All this popularity will not disturb her beautiful head at all. Our little Clarice has but one object in life, and she has gained much wisdom in the last few weeks." Her topaz eyes twinkled. "I can predict the producer who will capture her. He will undertake the difficult, the creation of both a star and a wife. You are not jealous? No?"

"Karesia smiled.

"Oh! I know all about it, my charming friend. I have known quite from the beginning. With you and our handsome friend, it would be like bestowing a violin upon an otherwise talented but unmusical person—painful discords would be the result. It is true of marriage, is it not? So often the unmusical person possesses the violin. John Dascome and I, between us we would have produced excruciating discords had we been so foolish as to marry. But, as unsentimental friends, it has been perfect. Sometimes Nature arranges a very perfect thing, then there comes an obstacle." She shrugged an impatient shoulder. "Bah! all this talk by sentimental women about a happy future for him! I feel sick in my heart—I wished you for him."

"I love you for having been loyal to him always," Karesia said impulsively. "But, Nadine, I am so afraid that he will break down! It's my great fear!"

Nadine nooded. "He has struggled so long for the one thing, and now it is all over. However, we are not the good God, so we can do nothing. I received from John Dascome a little note asking me to become friends with you and, because I wished it, too, so I am here." She kissed Karesia on either cheek. "You must come and watch me make my picture—it will interest you."

So, though she did not hear from him and he could not come, he thought and planned for her welfare. It helped Karesia to live through the days.

Another caller who interested Karesia was Sarah Whitsey. The vivacious little author looked very grave. "The Judge hasn't been as well as usual," she told Karesia, "that's the reason I haven't asked you to dine with us. Poor dear, he wanted me to come today. Of course, he couldn't come with me. Wonderful things have happened, haven't they? The truth at last! You know the Dascome case was tried before my husband. I remember it all so well—and the mistaken conjectures. A case such as his makes us realize what finite being we are. And that boy, Jimmy Calhoun! I wonder whether there are not many of us who have lapses of consciousness, of a longer or shorter duration, perhaps, with most of us, just a minute or two at a time?" Her manner was oddly apologetic and appealing. "The Judge has the greatest difficulty in writing, his hand is so unsteady, but he could not rest until he had written to Mr. Dascome—just a word or two of congratulation from a man who knows that he hasn't much longer to live. I think Mr. Dascome will understand."

Karesia undestood. So Judge Joseph Whitsey who had ruled so impartially throughout the two trials had had his secret opinion and it had been the same as Rossiter's. "We're all double houses, aren't we?" she remarked with apparent irrelevance.

"Every one of us—just human beings, Sonya Karesia. Come and see us, won't you? It will mean so much to the Judge."

Karesia promised that she would.

XLIV

It was the middle of May. The Dascome family had made definite plans for the future. For precaution's sake, the doctors had advised the long stay at the hospital, though now Elaine was able to be about her room and take a daily drive.

From Clarice and from Rossiter Karesia had heard of Elaine's recovery. Little by little, Elaine had learned all that past history. They had kept the fact of her disfigurement from her as long as possible, but even that she had borne with surprising calm; she had shown a childlike faith in Clarice's assurance that, when she was quite well again, they would make her face over. She simply clung to her child and her husband and believed their assurances.

From the volume of her own mail, Karesia had me conception of how Dascome was being bom-rded with sympathy, sentimentality—curiosity, o. No need for her to have felt hurt over the first counts in the papers; they had been couched in ficial newspaper language; now the public was king a hand.

Karesia learned much of the nature of her ther's people. The papers stated that a room at e hospital was stacked with floral offerings sent Mrs. Dascome by sympathetic women. Also that veral motion-picture companies were bidding for larice, eager to avail themselves of a nation-wide blicity that had a wholesome heart appeal. The apers called Clarice "the most beautiful girl in merica," and they did not forget to add, "and an eiress, too." There was a brief notice about Aimee rmsby. She was in Paris. For several years she ad been in poor health, and now she was seriously l, prostrated by the distressing cabled accounts of er sister's disfigurement and mental condition.

Karesia had many callers, among them Nadine lavarre. She spoke of Clarice: "All this popularity ill not disturb her beautiful head at all. Our little larice has but one object in life, and she has gained uch wisdom in the last few weeks." Her topaz yes twinkled. "I can predict the producer who will apture her. He will undertake the difficult, the reation of both a star and a wife. You are not ealous? No?"

"Karesia smiled.

"Oh! I know all about it, my charming friend. have known quite from the beginning. With you nd our handsome friend, it would be like bestowing violin upon an otherwise talented but unmusical erson—painful discords would be the result. It is rue of marriage, is it not? So often the unmusical erson possesses the violin. John Dascome and I, etween us we would have produced excruciating iscords had we been so foolish as to marry. But, s unsentimental friends, it has been perfect. Some-imes Nature arranges a very perfect thing, then here comes an obstacle." She shrugged an im-atient shoulder. "Bah! all this talk by sentimental women about a happy future for him! I feel sick n my heart—I wished you for him."

"I love you for having been loyal to him al-ways," Karesia said impulsively. "But, Nadine, I am so afraid that he will break down! It's my great fear!"

Let Tanlac restore your health

IF your body is all fagged out and run-down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor.

Tanlac Restored Her Health

"Typhoid fever reduced me to 95 lbs. and left me weak as a rag. Failing to get relief from other sources I tried Tanlac and after 6 bottles had gained 20 lbs. Now I enjoy a fine appetite and feel like a new woman. As a nurse I give Tanlac to all my patients."

POEMS THAT LIVE

Disdain Returned.

He that loves a rosy cheek,
Or a coral lip admires,
Or from star-like eyes doth seek
Fuel to maintain his fires,—
As old Time makes these decay,
So his flames must waste away.

But a smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts and calm desires,
Hearts with equal love combined,
Kindle never-dying fires.
Where these are not, I despise
Lovely cheeks or lips, or eyes.

No tears, Celia, now shall win
My resolved heart to return;
I have search'd thy soul within,
And find naught but pride and scorn;
I have learned thy arts, and now
Can disdain as much as thou.
Some power, in my revenge, convey
That love to her I cast away.

Catchy Music, Snappy Dancing Features "Lollipop," Tonight

Ada May, Vivacious Little Star, in Musical Comedy of Youth, Gaiety and Sparkle at Ceramic.

"Take a little one step, two step, three step"—this bit of haunting music from "Lollipop," the musical comedy success at the Ceramic theatre tonight, serves as a perfect introduction to a production that is all youth, gaity, snap and sparkle. Such dancing! From Ada-May, the vivacious little star, to the last man in the ensemble, every member of the large "Lollipop" company is a past master of dancing art. Zelda Sears, whose libretto and lyrics make the plot of "Lollipop" so invitingly intelligent and witty, weaves her story about a little orphan girl who rose in the world after she began to concentrate on success. Ada-May as the orphan makes one of the most roguish and appealing heroines ever known in musical comedy; and an unusually talented company surrounded her.

"Lollipop," with its freshness, sparkle and novelty, has taken its place as one of the most successful of all the Savage successes and Mr. Savage promises us the original New York cast and production from the Knickerbocker theatre, and as viewed in Chicago at the Selwyn theatre, during the past month.

The individual success of Ada-May, whose name is in electrice lights for the first time in her career in "Lollipop," is marked by the response of audiences to her every step, smile and speech during the play and the crowd that waits every matinee at the stage door to see her leave the theatre. Not since Maude Adams last played at the Knickerbocker theatre, New York, according to the doorman, have so many matinee girls and their fathers, brothers and beaus stood at the stage entrance to see a star to her carriage—which, in Ada-May's case, is a smart little sport car which she drives herself.

Sins Inherited, Says Savant.

Dr. Paul H. Kammerer, the eminent Viennese biologist, says sins are inherited, and explains it on the theory that whatever man consciously does to himself, whether it be good or evil, will be transmitted to his children in some measure. This is known to science as istics, but the idea is violently opposed by many biologists. Kammerer says, that it accounts for the fact that no two people are born alike. He admits his theory is not proved, but claims on the other hand that it is not disproved.

Thousands Dangerously Weak After Flu and Grippe

Tells How to Quickly Get Back Needed Strength, Appetite and Vitality.

Reports tell us that in one state, tens of thousands of people are "all too slowly" regaining their health and strength after illness.

Influenza and Grippe are insidious diseases, that nine times out of ten strip their victims of strength, vitality and power to endure any ordinary strain.

Even a heavy cold or a lingering cough may sap a man's strength so tremendously that he despairs of ever being strong enough to go to work again.

People in this deplorable condition should know that the greatest builder of strength in weak, rundown, tired out people is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of the best health building vitamines, as any doctor or chemist will tell you.

But it's loathsome stuff to take—the taste nauseates—the smell disgusts and repulses.

That's why millions of people are turning to cod liver oil in tablet form

That's why physicians and pharmacists in all parts of the country and even in Canada are advising sick, weak, run-down folks to take

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

They helped millions of ill, weak, despairing folks last year—they will do the same for millions more this year.

To people who are exhausted or weary—who are languid or indolent—who haven't the vigor or energy or the endurance needed to do their work properly we say—

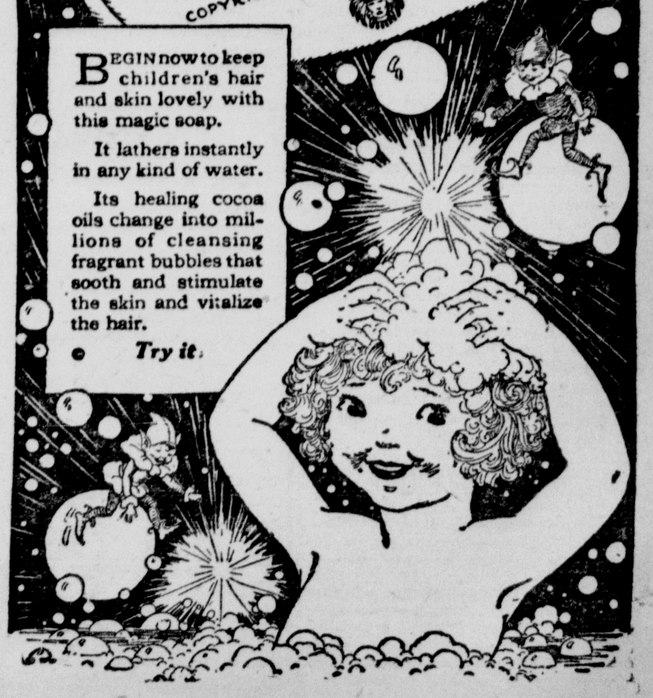

Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days—then if you don't say they are the best builder of health and strength you ever used, get your money back from Anderson, Larkin, Carnahan or Mathews' Medicine Store, or the druggist from whom you bought them.

60 tablets—60 cents—but be sure and get McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Let Tanlac restore your health

IF your body is all fagged out and run-down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into the nearest drug store and get a bottle of this world-famed tonic. That's the first important step back to health and vigor.

Tanlac Restored Her Health

"Typhoid fever reduced me to 95 lbs. and left me weak as a rag. Failing to get relief from other sources I tried Tanlac and after 6 bottles had gained 20 lbs. Now I enjoy a fine appetite and feel like a new woman. As a nurse I give Tanlac to all my patients."

POEMS THAT LIVE

Disdain Returned.

He that loves a rosy cheek,
Or a coral lip admires,
Or from star-like eyes doth seek
Fuel to maintain his fires,—
As old Time makes these decay,
So his flames must waste away.

But a smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts and calm desires,
Hearts with equal love combined,
Kindle never-dying fires.
Where these are not, I despise
Lovely cheeks or lips, or eyes.

No tears, Celia, now shall win
My resolved heart to return;
I have search'd thy soul within,
And find naught but pride and scorn;
I have learned thy arts, and now
Can disdain as much as thou.
Some power, in my revenge, convey
That love to her I cast away.

Catchy Music, Snappy Dancing Features "Lollipop," Tonight

Ada May, Vivacious Little Star, in Musical Comedy of Youth, Gaiety and Sparkle at Ceramic.

"Take a little one step, two step, three step"—this bit of haunting music from "Lollipop," the musical comedy success at the Ceramic theatre tonight, serves as a perfect introduction to a production that is all youth, gaiety, snap and sparkle. Such dancing! From Ada-May, the vivacious little star, to the last man in the ensemble, every member of the large "Lollipop" company is a past master of dancing art. Zelda Sears, whose libretto and lyrics make the plot of "Lollipop" so invitingly intelligent and witty, weaves her story about a little orphan girl who rose in the world after she began to concentrate on success. Ada-May as the orphan makes one of the most roguish and appealing heroines ever known in musical comedy; and an unusually talented company surrounded her.

"Lollipop," with its freshness, sparkle and novelty, has taken its place as one of the most successful of all the Savage successes and Mr. Savage promises us the original New York cast and production from the Knickerbocker theatre, and as viewed in Chicago at the Selwyn theatre, during the past month.

The individual success of Ada-May, whose name is in electrice lights for the first time in her career in "Lollipop," is marked by the response of audiences to her every step, smile and speech during the play and the crowd that waits every matinee at the stage door to see her leave the theatre. Not since Maude Adams last played at the Knickerbocker theatre, New York, according to the doorman, have so many matinee girls and their fathers, brothers and beaus stood at the stage entrance to see a star to her carriage—which, in Ada-May's case, is a smart little sport car which she drives herself.

Sins Inherited, Says Savant.

Dr. Paul H. Kammerer, the eminent Viennese biologist, says sins are inherited, and explains it on the theory that whatever man consciously does to himself, whether it be good or evil, will be transmitted to his children in some measure. This is known to science as istics, but the idea is violently opposed by many biologists. Kammerer says, that it accounts for the fact that no two people are born alike. He admits his theory is not proved, but claims on the other hand that it is not disproved.

Thousands Dangerously Weak After Flu and Grippe

Tells How to Quickly Get Back Needed Strength, Appetite and Vitality.

Reports tell us that in one state, tens of thousands of people are "all too slowly" regaining their health and strength after illness.

Influenza and Grippe are insidious diseases, that nine times out of ten strip their victims of strength, vitality and power to endure any ordinary strain.

Even a heavy cold or a lingering cough may sap a man's strength so tremendously that he despairs of ever being strong enough to go to work again.

People in this deplorable condition should know that the greatest builder of strength in weak, rundown, tired out people is Cod Liver Oil—it's full of the best health building vitamines, as any doctor or chemist will tell you.

But it's loathsome stuff to take—the taste nauseates—the smell disgusts and repulses.

That's why millions of people are turning to cod liver oil in tablet form

That's why physicians and pharmacists in all parts of the country and even in Canada are advising sick, weak, run-down folks to take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

They helped millions of ill, weak, despairing folks last year—they will do the same for millions more this year.

To people who are exhausted or weary—who are languid or indolent—who haven't the vigor or energy or the endurance needed to do their work properly we say—

Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days—then if you don't say they are the best builder of health and strength you ever used, get your money back from Anderson, Larkin, Carnahan or Mathews' Medicine Store, or the druggist from whom you bought them.

60 tablets—60 cents—but be sure and get McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Aching Tooth Closes School.

Miss Bessie Hooper has a school of one pupil near Kelso, Wash. One day recently her pupil developed a severe toothache and school was closed while the teacher took her to the nearest dentist. It took two days to make the trip, get the tooth doctored, and return.

Aspirin Gargle in Tonsilitis

Cut This Out and Save if Subject to Sore Throat

A harmless and effective gargle is to dissolve two Bayer Tablets of Aspirin in four tablespoonfuls of water, and gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Tablets of Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets for few cents.

Powerful Antiseptic Destroys Pernicious Germs of Catarrh

No Matter How Chronic, Soreness Will Go—Mucous Will Disappear and the Nasal Passages Will Be Immaculately Clean Once More.

Just get a six ounce bottle of Kojene, the world's most powerful, non-poisonous antiseptic. You can get it from Carnahan's Drug Store, Jesse D. Holloway and Matthews' Cut Rate Store, or any progressive druggist for 60 cents.

Spray or snuff it into the nostrils, night and morning for a week or until the mucuous has gone and the nostrils are clean and clear.

That's all there is to it—if you really desire to get rid of obnoxious catarrh and the pernicious germs that cause it—start today.

If your Catarrh isn't gone in a week—get your money back.

Koejene is four times as powerful as Carbolic Acid, yet you can drink it with no ill effects. Read the directions for Kojene should be greatly diluted before using—that's what makes it such an inexpensive antiseptic.

Boxing Commission to Decide Upon Dempsey's Opponent

Savage Is a Character.
He Reigns at Mexicala.
The Sailor Fighters.
Bouts Are Well Conducted.
Huffman Is the Star.

BY DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.

IN Mexicala, over the Mexican border, a night's ride from Los Angeles, boxing is carried on under picturesque surroundings.

The pugilistic star of the region is one Kid Savage, a short, bulky Serbian heavyweight. Pugilistic authorities who have seen him describe Kid Savage as "tough." That means he is hard to beat.

Savage recently fought Jimmy Byrne, a southpaw heavyweight from the navy who had previously knocked out the Serb. Early in the second battle Byrne broke his hand on the Serb's hard head. The bones were found sticking out of Byrne's hand when the glove was removed after his seconds tossed in a towel.

This Byrne is one who may later be heard from. He is said to be a heavy puncher. He is one of the only two southpaw heavies in the ring. The other is Ed Keeley of Bridgeport, Conn.

Savage does his fighting in Mexicala in an open air arena.

The spectators include Mexicans, both men and women, Americans, Chinese. There are many Chinese around Mexicala. They work in the cotton fields hard by. Cotton is quite an industry in that region.

Mexicala is just across the street from Calexico, which is in the United States. The two towns are practically one. Things are not permitted under our beneficent laws are tolerated in Mexicala. These things include gambling and open drinking.

You may be sure Mexicala is well patronized from the American side.

It has come to be considered quite a novelty by Americans to be able to drink openly. The effect is about the same as drinking secretly.

Kid Savage, the Serb, is the fistic monarch of all he surveys in Mexicala. He struts the streets of the little town with royal mien. His face is a crude map of many different blows.

It seems to the writer that here is a character for fiction or the stage, name and all—Kid Savage, of Mexicala. Can't you just see him?

The Navy boxers go well in Southern California. You see one or more sailors on nearly every card at the local clubs.

Boxing is strongly encouraged on the ships of the Pacific fleet at San Pedro. The Navy has its own boxing champions, produced by a tournament held every year.

The writer recently witnessed a series of elimination bouts on the battleship Mississippi, which boasts the pugilistic pride of the Navy, young Harley Huffman, generally known as Eddie.

Huffman is the All Navy and Pacific Fleet light heavyweight champion, holder of two belts emblematic of his prowess.

He is a blond, serious looking, solidly built boy of nineteen, with magnificent hands and legs. He comes originally from the little town of Hounton, in the state for which the battleship on which he serves is named.

Huffman is now matched to meet the Mexican heavyweight Tony Fuentes, at Doyle's Vernon arena, March 10. He is believed to be the best fighter produced by the Navy since the days of old Tom Sharkey.

When Huffman fares forth to battle ashore hies ailors of the Mississippi attend him in force. They have a regular college cheer when he entets the ring, winding up with "Huffman! Huffman! Huffman!"

He has been fighting less than a year, is credited with seventeen knockouts in thirty-one fights. He weighs between 175 and 178 pounds now, but will be bigger and heavier when he is fully matured.

He seems to be a natural puncher with both hands. The sailors say when he started he was about the greenest man that ever poked his head through the ropes. He is now a pretty good boxer, but more on the fighter order when he gets started.

The ring for the elimination bouts witnessed by the writer aboard the Mississippi was pitched on the deck of the battleship which lay at anchor off San Pedro.

It was a picturesque scene. Chairs at the ringside were occupied by officers of the Mississippi, and other ships of the fleet. The sailors in their blue uniforms and white hats were banked in the background and on the gun turrets. The sun was shining. A gentle breeze was blowing. Occasionally the giant ship rolled slightly to the ocean swell and the ring was on a slant.

It was the finest ring the writer has ever seen, neat, solid well elevated. The man who arranged the ring has a sense of the artistic. He had the ring posts padded with old boxing gloves.

They use new boxing gloves for every bout in these tournaments. Each bout consists of six two minute rounds, with the usual minute rest between rounds. There are two judges and a referee, officers from the different ships.

Butterflies Found in Ice.

Butterflies preserved in glacial ice have been found by fishermen in Cordova, Alaska. The men were attracted to their find by the unusual coloring in the iceberg to which they tied their boat. It is supposed the insects were flying to a warmer abode when brought down by storm and imbedded in the ice, then forming.

Consider Claims of Gibbons and Wills At Today's Session

Champion Asserts he is Willing to Fight Twice Before Fall and Prefers to Take on Tommy First; Elimination Match Between Two Contenders Discussed by Boxing Heads.

By Larry Smits

NEW YORK, March 3.—Now that Jack Dempsey has made it known that although a bridegroom he is still willing to fight in public, the determination of when and with whom rests with the New York State Athletic Commission. The question will be taken up at the commission's meeting this afternoon and the critics of fisticuffs should have an answer before night to the question which has kept them palpitating for several months.

Both Tom Gibbons of St. Paul and Harry Wills of the waterfront and Harlem are eager to swap socks with the champion and it will rest with the commission whether both or one and which one will have the chance.

Jack, who has been a home-body more than a month now, has said he is willing to fight twice before fall.

If the question is decided in the order that challengers have been received, the brunette stevedore will have the first chance to be slapped by the champion. Paddy Mullins, one of whose favorite habits is posting challenges to Dempsey, had his declaration, backed by a $2,500 forfeit, posted before Eddie Kane spoke up for Gibbons.

Dempsey said he would prefer to meet Gibbons first. He declared his opinion that Gibbons was the better fighter, a belief shared by many of the ring-smart customers who have seen Tom and Harry in their most recent appearances.

The most weighty problem before the wise men of the commission is whether Gibbons and Wills should meet in an elimination match before either has a crack at Dempsey.

This would satisfy the customers but would leave the champion with but one of the two matches he wants before fall.

Tex Rickard, in all probability, would stage the title battle. His equanimity has been no more disturbed by the thought that some one else might get it than by the champion's assertion that his wedding didn't end his fight career.

Horemans Is Winner Over Willie Hoppe

Champ Practically Out; Schaefer Holds Lead.

CHICAGO, March 3.—The international 18.2 balkline billiard tournament went into its final stages today with the title all but awarded to Young Jake Schaefer, whose playing has provided the thrills of the contest.

Willie Hoppe, champion, was definitely in the discard as a result of his disastrous defeat by Edouard Horemans, Belgian, last night. Horemans ccunted 400 in seven innings with a high run of 213 and an average of 56⅔, while Hoppe with difficulty accumulated 36, with 21 as his high run. Hoppe's average was only 5 1-7, making it his second heaviest defeat in his career.

Horeman's victory put him into a tie with Erich Hagenlacher which will be broken this afternoon when the two meet. Hoppe and Schaefer meet tonight and should Hoppe stage a comeback and defeat Schaefer there still remains a possibility of a tie for first place.

There were reports current today that Hoppe's poor showing in the present tournament signalized his withdrawal from the 18.2 lists and his entry to the three cushion field, in which he recently defeated Bob Cannefax, champion. His return match with Cannefax, it has been announced, has been postponed from March 16 to some time in April, to avoid conflict with the schedule of three cushion league.

Sixth Street Beats Garfield In Opening Grade School Clash

McKinley and Neville Passers Play Overtime Contest But Neither Team Scores Further and Clash is Called Draw.

Sixth street downed Garfield, 26 to 6, and McKinley and Neville battled to a 12-12 tie in opening games of the Grade School court league yesterday afternoon. Although an extra five-minute overtime period was tacked on in the latter engagement, neither team was able to score and so the clash was called a draw. The games were staged on the high school floor.

A huge throng of youthful basketball fans, an aggregation of students from the four playing teams, exhorted their favorites on to victory constantly.

The Neville-McKinley clash saw the Neville lads jump into a 4 to 1 lead in the first quarter. The second period was a runaway for the McKinleys, who tallied 10 points and held their foes to the original four. But in the final half Neville came back and outscored McKinley, tying the count in the final minute of play. Reese, Ashbaugh and Carter starred for the McKinleys, while Mackel, Baker and Hall were the chief performers for the losers.

Sixth street had it comparatively easy with the inexperienced Garfield combine, putting the game away in the first half when the count stood 15 to 3. And the second half went the same way. Dorsey, Anthony and Menge played well for the victors, Fullerton, Knight and Heath led the Garfielders. Lineups:

Consider Claims of Gibbons and Wills At Today's Session

Horemans Is Winner Over Willie Hoppe

Champ Practically Out; Schaefer Holds Lead.

CHICAGO, March 3.—The international 18.2 balkline billiard tournament went into its final stages today with the title all but awarded to Young Jake Schaefer, whose playing has provided the thrills of the contest.

Willie Hoppe, champion, was definitely in the discard as a result of his disastrous defeat by Edouard Horemans, Belgian, last night. Horemans counted 400 in seven innings with a high run of 213 and an average of 56⅔, while Hoppe with difficulty accumulated 36, with 21 as his high run. Hoppe's average was only 5 1-7, making it his second heaviest defeat in his career.

Horeman's victory put him into a tie with Erich Hagenlacher which will be broken this afternoon when the two meet. Hoppe and Schaefer meet tonight and should Hoppe stage a comeback and defeat Schaefer there still remains a possibility of a tie for first place.

There were reports current today that Hoppe's poor showing in the present tournament signalized his withdrawal from the 18.2 lists and his entry to the three cushion field, in which he recently defeated Bob Cannefax, champion. His return match with Cannefax, it has been announced, has been postponed from March 16 to some time in April, to avoid conflict with the schedule of three cushion league.

Sixth Street Beats Garfield In Opening Grade School Clash

McKinley and Neville Passers Play Overtime Contest But Neither Team Scores Further and Clash is Called Draw.

Sixth street downed Garfield, 26 to 6, and McKinley and Neville battled to a 12-12 tie in opening games of the Grade School court league yesterday afternoon. Although an extra five-minute overtime period was tacked on in the latter engagement, neither team was able to score and so the clash was called a draw. The games were staged on the high school floor.

A huge throng of youthful basketball fans, an aggregation of students from the four playing teams, exhorted their favorites on to victory constantly.

The Neville-McKinley clash saw the Neville lads jump into a 4 to 1 lead in the first quarter. The second period was a runaway for the McKinleys, who tallied 10 points and held their foes to the original four. But in the final half Neville came back and outscored McKinley, tying the count in the final minute of play. Reese, Ashbaugh and Carter starred for the McKinleys, while Mackel, Baker and Hall were the chief performers for the losers.

Sixth street had it comparatively easy with the inexperienced Garfield combine, putting the game away in the first half when the count stood 15 to 3. And the second half went the same way. Dorsey, Anthony and Menge played well for the victors, Fullerton, Knight and Heath led the Garfielders. Lineups:

McKinley		Neville
Ashbaugh	F.	Mackel
Reese	F.	Baker
Kittridge	C.	Hall
Superina	G.	Wotring
Carter	G.	Lange

Field goals — Reese, 3, Ashbaugh, Mackel 2, Baker 2, Hall 2.

Mountaineers Meet Wesleyan Combine Tomorrow Evening

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 3.—It is no secret that the West Virginia University quint intends to fight its hardest tomorrow evening when it meets West Virginia Wesleyan college on the home court of the Methodists at Buckhannon, W. Va.

In recent engagements the Mountaineers have been playing much better than they did earlier in the season and they have high hopes of wiping out the 25-23 defeat sustained at the hands of Wesleyan some weeks ago. Followers of the West Virginia team believe it is stronger than its record to date indicates and that Coach Stadsvold's machine is now capable of giving the district's best plenty of trouble.

When Hubbard located a large den of rattlers on his ranch he planted four sticks of dynamite in the cave where they had taken refuge, and touched off the charge.

Reptiles were blown a hundred feet into the air.

If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

BUCLEADER EXPECTS TO FINISH IN MONEY

By J. R. Connor, Jr.

PITTSBURGH, March 3.—The vagaries of a major league baseball season are too many and varied to justify any man in venturing an advance guess, William B. ("Bill") McKechnie, skipper of the Pirate crew, said in answer to a request for an expression of opinion on his team's chances to win the 1925 the National league pennant.

"You can count on the Pirates finishing in the money," the Pittsburgh manager declared. "We have a good team, with the veterans of several seasons to balance the pep of the fast youngsters, from Chicago and minor league teams.

"I know that we ought to finish at least third, but it may be that a month of bad luck from injuries or a slump will smash our hopes."

Is Enthusiastic.

The Buccaneer boss was enthusiastic over the results he expected from the trade Barney Dreyfuss made with the Cubs, fiving Maranville, Cooper and Grimm to Chicago in exchange for Aldrich, Niehous and Grantham.

"The trade is going to help us a lot this season, but it will be a potential pennant factor in two or three more seasons, for two of the three players from Chicago are on the upgrade now," McKechnie said. "The Pirates have already gotten more than ten seasons of good service from Cooper, and I don't think we could count on him to help us much longer than two or three more years."

McKechnie had only praise and high hopes for the young players he nursed along last year and for the new ones coming to the training camp this year. Eddie Moore, the second baseman from Atlanta who showed so well in 1924, is almost assured the regular secondbase berth this year, McKechnie believes.

Praises Rookies.

"Al Niehaus will also help us in the pennant fight," the manager said. "He was sought after by many teams as one of the ablest players in the minors last year. Louis Kounahi, the pitcher we get from Omaha, and Don Songer, the Oaklahoma City southpaw, are both natural players who will win many games for the Pirates. All of our regulars have reported, either by mail or telegraph, that they are rounding into excellent form. Carson Bigbee, who plans a comeback, may be played at first base: Pie Trainor feels good for another big season, and Glenn Wright, who broke all records for accepting chances last year, will more than adequately cover us at shortstop."

Even Babe Adams, hero of the Pittsburgh-Detroit world's series of 1909, is limbering up for what McKechnie hopes will be Pittsburgh's greatest season in a decade.

"After beating Chicago 2 to 1 in extra innings in the last game we played in 1924, Charles writes me that his arm feels better than it has felt for years, so the Babe can be expected to give much assistance," McKechnie added.

Syracuse Baseball Team Faces Hardest Schedule in Years

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 3.—Faced with a schedule of twenty-one hard games—the most difficult program attempted in recent years by a Syracuse 'varsity baseball team—Coach Lew Carter will leave Syracuse for the South on April 8, with a squad of fifteen men, it was announced today. He will carry five infielders, five outfielders, three pitchers and two catchers. The party will go direct to Blacksburgh, Va., where it will open its season's campaign on April 10 against Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The same team will be met on April 11, and then the Hill squad will go to Charlotteville, where the University of Virginia baseball nine will be met April 13 and 14. On the following day the Orange will return to Blacksburg for a return game with Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Mountaineers Meet Wesleyan Combine Tomorrow Evening

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 3.—It is no secret that the West Virginia University quint intends to fight its hardest tomorrow evening when it meets West Virginia Wesleyan college on the home court of the Methodists at Buckhannon, W. Va.

In recent engagements the Mountaineers have been playing much better than they did earlier in the season and they have high hopes of wiping out the 25-23 defeat sustained at the hands of Wesleyan some weeks ago. Followers of the West Virginia team believe it is stronger than its record to date indicates and that Coach Stadsvold's machine is now capable of giving the district's best plenty of trouble.

Francis S. Appleby Is King of Amateur Balkline Cue Stars

NEW YORK, March 3.—Francis S. Appleby, of New York, today holds the 18.2 national amateur balkline championship as a result of his victory over John A. Clinton, Jr., of Pittsburgh, in the play-off of the tie for first place that ended the annual tournament held last week. The score was 300 to 289. Appleby succeeds his brother, Edgar, who has held the title since 1922.

Clinton got off to a big lead in the early innings of the contest but Appleby's high run of 65 in the fifth inning put him out in front. Clinton's high run was 62, clicked off in the first frame.

Rattlesnakes Fall Easy Victims to Big Blast of Dynamite

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, March—Friends of E. G. Hubbard thought he had been drinking when he told them he had killed 27 rattlesnakes at one shot. But he hadn't—he had.

When Hubbard located a large den of rattlers on his ranch he planted four sticks of dynamite in the cave where they had taken refuge, and touched off the charge.

Reptiles were blown a hundred feet into the air.

Lorenzo A. Coffin, the first man responsible for a safety first enactment by congress, and called the father of the air brake and automatic coupler, will, in all probability be immortalized by the steam railroad section of the National Safety Council, which has plans to erect a monument to Mr. Coffin. About 100 steam railroads will be invited to share the cost. The monument will be placed in Washington, D. C., in all liklihood.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

BUCLEADER EXPECTS TO FINISH IN MONEY

By J. R. Connor, Jr.

PITTSBURGH, March 3.—The vagaries of a major league baseball season are too many and varied to justify any man in venturing an advance guess, William B. ("Bill") McKechnie, skipper of the Pirate crew, said in answer to a request for an expression of opinion on his team's chances to win the 1925 the National league pennant.

"You can count on the Pirates finishing in the money," the Pittsburgh manager declared. "We have a good team, with the veterans of several seasons to balance the pep of the fast youngsters, from Chicago and minor league teams.

"I know that we ought to finish at least third, but it may be that a month of bad luck from injuries or a slump will smash our hopes."

Is Enthusiastic.

The Buccaneer boss was enthusiastic over the results he expected from the trade Barney Dreyfuss made with the Cubs, fiving Maranville, Cooper and Grimm to Chicago in exchange for Aldrich, Niehous and Grantham.

"The trade is going to help us a lot this season, but it will be a potential pennant factor in two or three more seasons, for two of the three players from Chicago are on the upgrade now," McKechnie said. "The Pirates have already gotten more than ten seasons of good service from Cooper, and I don't think we could count on him to help us much longer than two or three more years."

McKechnie had only praise and high hopes for the young players he nursed along last year and for the new ones coming to the training camp this year. Eddie Moore, the second baseman from Atlanta who showed so well in 1924, is almost assured the regular secondbase berth this year, McKechnie believes.

Praises Rookies.

"Al Niehaus will also help us in the pennant fight," the manager said. "He was sought after by many teams as one of the ablest players in the minors last year. Louis Kounahl, the pitcher we get from Omaha, and Don Songer, the Oaklahoma City southpaw, are both natural players who will win many games for the Pirates. All of our regulars have reported, either by mail or telegraph, that they are rounding into excellent form. Carson Bigbee, who plans a comeback, may be played at first base: Pie Trainor feels good for another big season, and Glenn Wright, who broke all records for accepting chances last year, will more than adequately cover us at shortstop."

Even Babe Adams, hero of the Pittsburgh-Detroit world's series of 1909, is limbering up for what McKechnie hopes will be Pittsburgh's greatest season in a decade.

"After beating Chicago 2 to 1 in extra innings in the last game we played in 1924, Charles writes me that his arm feels better than it has felt for years, so the Babe can be expected to give much assistance," McKechnie added.

Syracuse Baseball Team Faces Hardest Schedule in Years

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 3.—Faced with a schedule of twenty-one hard games—the most difficult program attempted in recent years by a Syracuse 'varsity baseball team—Coach Lew Carter will leave Syracuse for the South on April 8, with a squad of fifteen men, it was announced today. He will carry five infielders, five outfielders, three pitchers and two catchers. The party will go direct to Blacksburgh, Va., where it will open its season's campaign on April 10 against Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The same team will be met on April 11, and then the Hill squad will go to Charlotteville, where the University of Virginia baseball nine will be met April 13 and 14. On the following day the Orange will return to Blacksburg for a return game with Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CHURCH MEET

Plans have been completed for a get-together meeting tomorrow evening in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. The affair will be for members and their families and will be in the form of a reception for new members who were received into the church during the recent revival campaign conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. L. Culp. There will be no prayer meeting services.

Woman Faces Trial.

Mary Hubbard of Midland will be tried at the term of court which opened Monday at Beaver for the alleged slaying of her husband, who died as a result of gunshot wounds in the East Liverpool City hospital February 13. The two, it is said, quarreled in a restaurant and during the struggle for the possession of a revolver the man was mortally wounded.

FOUR SHOP MEETS HELD HERE TODAY

Evangelist I. M. Ellis, who is conducting meetings in the Nazarene church, spoke at the noon shop meeting today in the Laughlin plant. Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the church, was the leader. Rev. A. L. Duncan, Rev. J. L. Culp and Evangelist W. H. Schwinfurth were the speakers in the Louthan, Trenle and Harker plants. Revs. W. C. Stokes, J. O. Archer and A. H. O'Brien were the respective leaders.

Board Meeting Tonight.

Official board of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening in the church parlors. Routine business will be transacted.

Official Board.

Number of business matters were discussed last evening at a meeting of the official board of the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ.

Fish Beneath Sahara Desert.

SERGEANT MAJOR JIGGS AND HIS MASTER, CARTOONIST GEO. McMANUS

The pride of the United States Marine corps is "Sergeant Major Jiggs." He is known wherever the "Devil Dogs" foregather on any of the seven seas, for "Jiggs" is the mascot of the corps. Recently he was one of the outstanding attractions at the annual dog show of the Westminster Kennel club at Madison Square Garden, New York. It was on this occasion that "Sergeant Jiggs" received the thrill that comes once in a lifetime: he was introduced to George McManus, the famous artist who is the creator of the inimitable "Jiggs" of the most popular comic strip in the world, "Bringing Up Father." At the solicitation of the multitude of "Jiggs" and "Maggie" enthusiasts who were following Mr. McManus about the Garden, the artist consented to have his picture taken with "Sregeant Major Jiggs" for preservation in the records of the Marine Corps. So here we have the bulldog pride of the "leathernecks" looking his handsomest because he knows that his picture is being taken with the artist who draws the most popular comic strip in the world.

On Her Feet All Day But Keeps Away Corns

Hear Her Method

Mrs. E. M. Roe writes us from 1061 Hollywood Ave., Chicago, as follows:

"My household duties keep me on my feet most of the day. I suppose I must walk a mile or so in the apartment. I consider 'Blue-jay' my greatest aid. Whenever I have found it hard to go about my work because a corn hurt, I have gone to the nearest druggist and bought 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters. They have never failed to relieve me."

"Blue-jay" Plasters give instant relief, for the soft felt ring encircles the corn and removes the shoe pressure, thus stopping the pain at once. Within this ring is the wonder-working "Blue-jay" preparation discovered by a famous chemist. Not too much—not too little—just the prescribed amount to remove the corn gently. An adhesive strip keeps the preparation on the corn and nowhere else. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. Some stubborn corns require a second plaster.

We make a liquid "Blue-jay" too, but we recommend the Plasters. A liquid cannot remove shoe pressure, or be confined to the corn alone. Hence it's hard to regulate the dose. Don't risk blood poisoning by paring corns yourself. Get six safe sure "Blue-jay" Plasters, 25c. So much in demand all druggists sell them. Then please write us your experience. Bebe Daniels Wins Praise in Picture, "Dangerous Money"

Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring picture, "Dangerous Money," which opened last night at the Ceramic theatre and will be shown again Wednesday matinee and night, once again proves the truth of the old saying that "money is the root of all evil" As long as Adele Clark was a miserable little drudge in her aunt's dingy boarding house, she was contented to bask in the sunshine of Tim Sullivan's love. The minute Fortune favored her, Adele's troubles began and her romance with Tim received a rude shock.

"Dangerous Money," which Julie Herne adapted from Robert Herrick's gripping novel, "Clark's Field," is a study in vivid contrasts and picturesque backgrounds, ranging from the Brooklyn water-front to a villain Italy. All those subtle touches of humor and pathos that were ingrained in the story have been cleverly brought out in the photoplay, and the result is a picture, full of heart interest, that is bound to appeal to the overwhelming majority of film fans.

Miss Daniels gives a performance little short of marvelous. Her sincerity, vivacity and personality are invaluable assets and stamp her as one of the most talented, if newst, of our screen luminaries.

When it comes to playing the part of a young and handsome Irish contractor, three is none who fits the bill more admirably than Tom Moore, and Tom proves it by giving a characteristically fine performance. William Powell, as the suave villain, and Dolores Cassinelli, round out an excellent supporting cast.

To Frank Tuttle, who directed, goes a generous slice of credit. This picture marks his directorial debut, and if it's a sample of what he can do, we hasten to add, "Bring on the rest."

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Carburetor Catches Mouse.

R. A. Poteat of Danville, Va., found that his automobile engine failed to respond to the usual coaxing recently, and when he lifted the hood to ascertain the trouble, discovered a mouse caught in the carburetor. The animal had apparently entered by way of the exhaust pipe and crawled through the intake manifold into the carburetor.

Many cases of scarlet fever are so mild that they are overlooked. Look with suspicion upon the slight sore throat that is followed by a slight fever and a generalized rash.

"Blue-jay" Plasters give instant relief, for the soft felt ring encircles the corn and removes the shoe pressure, thus stopping the pain at once. Within this ring is the wonder-working "Blue-jay" preparation discovered by a famous chemist. Not too much—not too little—just the prescribed amount to remove the corn gently. An adhesive strip keeps the preparation on the corn and nowhere else. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. Some stubborn corns require a second plaster.
We make a liquid "Blue-jay" too, but we recommend the Plasters. A liquid cannot remove shoe pressure, or be confined to the corn alone. Hence it's hard to regulate the dose. Don't risk blood poisoning by paring corns yourself. Get six safe sure "Blue-jay" Plasters, 25c. So much in demand all druggists sell them. Then please write us your experience. SERGEANT MAJOR JIGGS AND HIS MASTER, CARTOONIST GEO. McMANUS

The pride of the United States Marine corps is "Sergeant Major Jiggs." He is known wherever the "Devil Dogs" foregather on any of the seven seas, for "Jiggs" is the mascot of the corps. Recently he was one of the outstanding attractions at the annual dog show of the Westminster Kennel club at Madison Square Garden, New York. It was on this occasion that "Sergeant Jiggs" received the thrill that comes once in a lifetime: he was introduced to George McManus, the famous artist who is the creator of the inimitable "Jiggs" of the most popular comic strip in the world, "Bringing Up Father." At the solicitation of the multitude of "Jiggs" and "Maggie" enthusiasts who were following Mr. McManus about the Garden, the artist consented to have his picture taken with "Sregeant Major Jiggs" for preservation in the records of the Marine Corps. So here we have the bulldog pride of the "leathernecks" looking his handsomest because he knows that his picture is being taken with the artist who draws the most popular comic strip in the world.

Bebe Daniels Wins Praise in Picture, "Dangerous Money"

Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring picture, "Dangerous Money," which opened last night at the Ceramic theatre and will be shown again Wednesday matinee and night, once again proves the truth of the old saying that "money is the root of all evil." As long as Adele Clark was a miserable little drudge in her aunt's dingy boarding house, she was contented to bask in the sunshine of Tim Sullivan's love. The minute Fortune favored her, Adele's troubles began and her romance with Tim received a rude shock.

"Dangerous Money," which Julie Herne adapted from Robert Herrick's gripping novel, "Clark's Field," is a study in vivid contrasts and picturesque backgrounds, ranging from the Brooklyn water-front to a villain Italy. All those subtle touches of humor and pathos that were ingrained in the story have been cleverly brought out in the photoplay, and the result is a picture, full of heart interest, that is bound to appeal to the overwhelming majority of film fans.

Miss Daniels gives a performance little short of marvelous. Her sincerity, vivacity and personality are invaluable assets and stamp her as one of the most talented, if newst, of our screen luminaries.

When it comes to playing the part of a young and handsome Irish contractor, three is none who fits the bill more admirably than Tom Moore, and Tom proves it by giving a characteristically fine performance. William Powell, as the suave villain, and Dolores Cassinelli, round out an excellent supporting cast.

To Frank Tuttle, who directed, goes a generous slice of credit. This picture marks his directorial debut, and if it's a sample of what he can do, we hasten to add, "Bring on the rest."

Child-birth
Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!
When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Many cases of scarlet fever are so mild that they are overlooked. Look with suspicion upon the slight sore throat that is followed by a slight fever and a generalized rash.

Carburetor Catches Mouse.

R. A. Poteat of Danville, Va., found that his automobile engine failed to respond to the usual coaxing recently, and when he lifted the hood to ascertain the trouble, discovered a mouse caught in the carburetor. The animal had apparently entered by way of the exhaust pipe and crawled through the intake manifold into the carburetor.

A Mistake

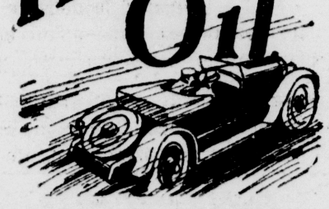

THE man who showed us how to carry erasers on the end of our pencils would not have made a fortune at it if no one made mistakes.

We all make mistakes, of course, but once a mistake is made—and recognized—it should be corrected as soon as possible.

Drifting along without saving any money is a mistake—a serious one. Correct it now before it gets you into difficulties.
